SMOKE EATERS — Novato firemen "fought" the fire in the crash, simulated by smoke pots, and put it out by the time Hamilton units arrived to check on radiation.

A-Plane Hits Novato In Simulated Test

Story and Photos
By ELLEN BRY

A B-47 bomber "crashed" in downtown Novato this morning, carrying a nuclear load. Civilians and military rushed to the site of the simulated crash to fight fire and radiation.

The crash consisted of three Air Force smoke pots in the center of a block-wide field at Seventh and Grant streets, only a block from the city's downtown business area.

It was aimed at testing "reaction time" of sheriff's deputies, California Highway patrolmen, local fire departments and Hamilton Air Force Base ordnance, fire-fighting and decontamination units.

The base's 40 to 50 jet fighters, F-101 Voodoos, carry atomic-armed air-to-air missiles.

The smoke pots billowed gray puffs high into the air, as Novato fire sirens sounded in the distance.

Firemen "fought" the fire upwind, pretening that there might be radiation in the smoke and wind. Water, a chemical pumper and back-pack chemical units were aimed at the smoke pots.

Highway patrolmen routed traffic away from the area. Sheriff's deputies kept back the very few spectators who stood curiously about.

A convoy of Hamilton trucks, 12 units including a headquarters truck, fire-fighting units, decontamination and radiation checking units, arrived last.

The convoy was slowed by traffic on Highway 101. In an actual emergency, it would have raced through with sirens blaring and red lights blinking, Col. Harvey E. Henderson, commander of the base, explained.

Forty-five airmen ringed the "danger" zone, which in an actual crash of a nuclear-loaded plane, would be 2,000 feet.

Marin's Official Population Now Set At 146,820

All Cities Increase Over June Totals, Final Figures Show

Marin County has an official 1960 population of 146,820.

This is 1,275 more than the preliminary figure of 145,545, announced by the U.S. Bureau of the Census in June.

Final figures on the 1960 census for Marin, announced today by the Bureau of Census, show an increase over the June preliminary totals for every one of the county's 10 cities.

BIG GAINERS

Biggest gainers over the preliminary totals were San Rafael, which went up 167, and Novato, which went up 195. The final figures exceed the preliminary totals by 20 in Belvedere, 17 in Corte Madera, 41 in Fairfax, 68 in Larkspur, 69 in Mill Valley, 14 in Ross, 72 in San Anselmo and 45 in Sausalito.

The final county total is 61,201 more than the 1950 Marin population of 85,619, an increase of slightly over 70 per cent.

Here are the official populations of the cities, with this year's final figures compared to those of the 1950 census:

	1960	1950
Belvedere	2,148	800
Corte Madera	5,962	1,983
Fairfax	5,813	4,078
Larkspur	5,710	2,905
Mill Valley	10,411	7,331
Novato	17,881	(none)
Ross	2,551	2,179
San Anselmo	11,584	9,188
San Rafael	20,460	13,848
Sausalito	5,331	4.828

SLIGHTLY BELOW

Novato's new population figure was still slightly below the 17,942 it was given in a special census last March.

The figures released today also show population by areas in the county. They are given as follows:

Lucas-Gallinas Valley, 14,278; Mill Valley area, 17,535; Northeast (Novato and surrounding area), 21,708; Ross Valley, 46,484; San Geronimo Valley, 2,089; San Rafael area, 22,094; Sausalito area, 9,489; Tiburon Peninsula, 9,158; West Marin, 2,203.

Kennedy Offers Adlai U.N. Post

Two Others Receive Invitations To Jobs

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON—President-elect John F. Kennedy today asked Adlai E. Stevenson to serve in his administration as U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The long-awaited announcement by Kennedy was made by the president-elect on the front steps of his Georgetown home with the 1952 and 1956 Democratic standard bearer standing by his side.

Stevenson put off a decision pending further consideration of what he described as matters affecting the general strengthening of the American delegation to the U.N.

Earlier, Kennedy had offered posts in his administration to Byron Leslie White of Denver and John J. Hooker of Nashville, Tenn., both lawyers.

White, 43, is a close friend of Kennedy. He was known as "Whizzer" White while an All America football star at the University of Colorado.

White has been mentioned for both attorney general and solicitor general in the Justice Department, but he told newsmen that no specific post was discussed. However, when reporters asked if he had enough information about the offer to make up his mind, White grinned and replied, "Yes."

He said he would give Kennedy his reply in a few days.

Another visitor was Dean Rusk, whose name figures prominently in speculation about a possible secretary of state. Rusk declined to say whether there was talk about a job for him.

Before the meeting with White, Kennedy discussed with Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), possible choices for attorney general and assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division.

Immediately after their breakfast conference at Kennedy's home, the two entered a car for a quick trip to Georgetown University Hospital and a brief visit with Mrs. Kennedy and John F. Kennedy Jr. The baby was to be baptized in the hospital chapel this afternoon.

There was a stream of visitors to the Kennedy home today, including two Nebraskans—Hans O. Jensen, Aurora, and State Sen. John P. Munnelly, Omaha.

Weather Man Says Mercury To Rise Some

Marin County warmed up a couple of degrees last night but most of the county was covered with a white blanket of frost this morning.

The Weather Man said the temperature would continue to climb slightly in northern and central counties.

Today's low was in Woodacre where the thermometer hit 26, two degrees warmer than yesterday's 24. Kentfield registered 28 and Larkspur's Chevy Chase area shivered at 32. Mill Valley reported a warm low of 34 last night, climbing to 44 by 8 a.m.

Sausalito and Muir Woods registered 40 degrees with Belvedere 41 and Tamalpais Valley 42.

The Weather Man predicted fair weather for most of northern and central California through Friday. There is a possibility of rain in the southern portion of the state, he said.

Rain and snow spread westward to Yuma in Arizona and to Las Vegas in Nevada during the night, and the storm ap-

Kennedy Will Seek Urban Affairs Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy said today he intends to propose to Congress establishment of a Department of Urban Affairs.

Kennedy told newsmen after a conference with Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania that proposed legislation now is being prepared "and I hope to put it up to Congress by this winter."

Creation of a cabinet department especially devoted to the problems of city dwellers has long been discussed. Proponents say it would be a logical complement to the work of departments such as those of agriculture and labor.

FAMILIAR TO JURORS

Weissich In New Role —As Defense Attorney

Former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich, who has been prosecuting drunken drivers for years, made his debut today as defender of a suspected tipsy driver before a jury in Marin Municipal Court.

From the outset, Weissich ran into trouble, as jury-picking began before Judge Leonard A. Thomas. A majority of those called as prospective jurors turned out to be persons who had served on drunken driving juries before. Some of them had heard Weissich as district attorney pound away at blood alcohol content and the dangers of driving while intoxicated.

Weissich, now in the role of defense attorney, excused those jurors who had heard him as prosecutor with this comment: "I'll have to excuse you. You've been brainwashed the wrong way."

Prosecutor is the new district attorney, Roger P. Garety, Weissich's former assistant.

Time and again, Weissich found himself saying, "The People will excuse" Mr. John Doe or Mrs. Mary Doe, then realizing he was now on the other side of the fence.

Weissich is defending Hans Joachim Kiepe, 50, San Francisco bottling company employee, accused of drunken driving last Aug. 18 on the Sausalito lateral. That is the same general vicinity in which a motor scooter rider toppled off the road last year after gulping down some stingers and was tried three times by Weissich before being convicted.

Just before noon, the panel of prospective jurors was almost exhausted. The actual trial was expected to start this afternoon.

The Barney, one of the newest class of guided missile destroyers, is ready for launching Saturday at Camden, N.J. The vessel will be christened by Mrs. Harry D. Wortman, great-great-great-granddaughter of Commodore Joshua Barney, naval hero of the War of 1812, for whom the vessel is named. It is the third of six destroyers being built at Camden. It is 431 feet long and will carry guided missiles and the latest anti-submarine weapons. (AP Wirephoto)

Hoffa Maintains Frosty Silence Over Indictment

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters Union strongman James R. Hoffa maintained an icy silence today about charges he and two other men misused more than a half million dollars in union funds to foist a Florida land scheme on union members.

The bantam president of the nation's largest union, who could be jailed for five years and fined up to $12,000 if convicted, stood by hi statement yesterday that "we'll try the case in court."

Indicted along with Hoffa yesterday by a federal grand jury at Orlando, Fla., were Henry Lower, 57, former president of a Detroit Teamsters local, and Robert E. McCarohy Jr., 40, former branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth, Detroit.

The indictment named Lower as president of Sun Valley Inc., a 1954 Florida corporation which acquired lots for $18 apiece and offered to sell them to union members for $150 to $1,000.

The 12-count indictment said Hoffa and Lower controlled Sun Valley Inc., financed it with funds belonging to three Detroit Teamster locals and the Detroit Teamsters Joint Council, and attempted to defraud individual members by selling Florida lots said to be "all on high, dry and rolling land."

Actually, the indictment said, the lots "offered and sold were so low and permeated with water as to make them unsuitable for construction of homes and dwellings."

Sun Valley Inc. has no connection with the Sun Valley, Ida., resort center.

Hoffa, free on $10,000 bond, was scheduled for arraignment Friday.

New Orleans Attendance, Hecklers Skid

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—White hecklers, their blockades crushed by police, abandoned attempts to keep white children out of an integrated school today but attendance skidded to 15 children.

For the first time since integration began on Nov. 14, not one jeer went up when children entered William Frantz Elementary School, because there were no crowds to jeer.

The only onlookers were a dozen women and one man sitting on a front porch. Police have warned persons inside their barricades that they will be thrown out if they start yelling.

POLICE STILL HERE

Scores of policemen continued to man barriers set up a block away from the school in all directions.

There was no immediate explanation for the second straight drop in white attendance, after a steady climb took attendance at Frantz from two to 23. Newsmen counted only 14 white students today, plus the lone Negro girl in the school.

A white boycott was still totally effective at McDonogh 19 school, where three Negro girls are in the first grade.

Rev. Andrew Foreman, who complained to the Federal Bureau of Investigation yesterday when a man allegedly threatened "to get" him, brought his daughter to school in a private car but left in a police car.

When Rev. Foreman picked up his daughter at the school yesterday, a glowering man thrust his hand into the car window, poked the minister on the shoulder and snarled "We're going to get you, preacher."

W. W. Bromwell, FBI agent in charge of the New Orleans office, said his office was checking into the alleged threat.

Veiled threats and epithets such as "nigger lover" and "low white trash" finally forced a meter reader to abandon his new home here. James Gabrielle, whose daughter Yolanda, also has been attending the school, announced he was preparing to leave town for Providence, R.I., where he lived before coming to the south.

Gabrielle said a "freeze" by his fellow workers and a new work schedule singling him out for various shifts at odd hours harassed him into quitting his $230-a-month job.

"I'd never make out here now the way things are," he said.

PACIFIC CATCH DUE

Sky Spy Satellite Circling Earth

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A Discoverer satellite containing secret sky spy gear of a type which someday may make sneak attack impossible circled the earth today.

Discoverer XVIII roared on a souped-up booster into polar orbit yesterday—19th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

A 200-pound capsule will be ejected over the Arctic, possibly today or tomorrow. If all goes well, it will be snagged by Air Force planes over the Pacific near Hawaii.

In the capsule are bits of human tissue and human bone marrow. Scientists sent them aloft to learn how radiation affects them — a life-and-death matter for future men in space.

Also aboard the capsule were algae, blood cells, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

The sky spy gadgets presumably included powerful long-range cameras to scan the earth and infrared devices to detect rocket firings.

A "hot rod" Rocketdyne engine with 160,000 pounds of thrust — 15,000 pounds more than standard Thor power used in past launchings — boosted the 2,100-pound satellite into orbit after a spectacular firing louder and brighter than any of the 12 earlier Discoverers which achieved orbit. Circling the globe every 94 minutes, the satellite travels as near the earth as 150 miles, as far away as 450 miles.

The Air Force said changes in the rocket permitted an increase of 7,000 pounds in the initial weight. They also enabled the second stage Agena B, all of which orbits, to weigh 200 pounds more. Carrying more fuel, it will be able to start and stop its engine in flight and maneuver in space.

Book On Stock Market Gain Labeled Fraud In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz today charged the author of the best seller "How I Made Two Million Dollars in the Stock Market" with offering fraudulent investment advice.

Lefkowitz said that as far as his office could determine, the author, acrobatic dancer Nicolas Darvas, actually made about $216,000 in "ascertainable profits . . . during the period covered by the book, January, 1953 to July, 1959."

One of the principal themes of Darvas' book is how he built up approximately $37,000 to 2.25 million dollars by July, 1959, exclusively by using his own funds and margin accounts.

"This principal theme . . . is unqualifiedly false," Lefkowitz declared in charging Darvas and his publisher with offering fraudulent investment advice.

Lefkowitz said that in reality Darvas got at least $1,074,053 in at least 30 separate collateral loans from money lenders and a bank to finance his stock manipulations.

Muir Woods Park Party Planned

The Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. will hold its Christmas party at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the clubhouse at the end of Ridge Avenue, off Panoramic Highway in Mill Valley, according to Jean Claghorn.

Mardi Gras Boycott

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Board of the American Veterans Committee has urged its members to boycott New Orleans' Mardi Gras next February because of "the conduct of the rabbie element" in the city.

"An effective economic boycott of that city during the coming Mardi Gras week," is the best way for members to show their abhorrence" of segregationist demonstrators in New Orleans, the committee said.

Tribes Adopt Mrs. FDR

BEVERLY HILLS (AP)—Eleanor Roosevelt has been adopted by the Seminole, Navajo, Crow, Creek, Apache and Mohawk Indian tribes.

Wearing a feathered headdress, the widow of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was presented with a buckskin scroll and beaded friendship necklace by Creek Chief Wah-Nee-Ota of Muskogee, Okla., yesterday

Afterward she went to Palm Springs to speak on behalf of the Jewish Community Center there.

$510,000 For Painting

LONDON (AP) — A picture painted by Frans Hals, a Dutch artist who died a poor man in 1666, was sold at Sotheby's auction rooms yesterday for 182,000 pounds ($510,000) to Leonard F. Koetser, London art dealer.

Ship Fired Upon

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—A West German freighter was fired upon by French warships off the Algerian coast today, its owners reported.

The 5,200-ton Weissensee was then forced into a harbor at Mers el Kebir, the Bugsier Shipping Co. here said.

Sees No Spending Spree

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) said today he does not expect any substantial increases in government spending under the John F. Kennedy administration.

Hayden heads the Senate Appropriations Committee which has a powerful voice in determining how much money will be made available for government program. To get some advance line on what these programs will entail after Kennedy is inaugurated in January, Hayden said he expects to confer soon with David E. Bell, the president-elect's choice for budget director.

Bank Rate Reduced

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today cut its bank rate to 5 per cent in a move to ease pressure on the dollar.

The one-half point reduction brings the key discount rate in this country more in line with rates in other world capitals. It is designed to put brakes on the flow of money into Britain in search of short term high interest rates.

The last cut in the bank rate came only seven weeks ago—on Oct. 27—and today's reduction marked the first time in 30 years Britain has changed its key interest rate in December.

Durante To Marry

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jimmy Durante will marry Marjorie Little in New York City next Wednesday, the comedian says.

They have been engaged four years.

The wedding will be very quiet, Durante said last night.

It will be the first marriage for Miss Little, 39, an ex-actress. Durante, 67, became a widower many years ago.

Big Show For Demos

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Lawford, co-promoter of a get-the-Democrats-out-of-debt show says that advance ticket sales make it look like the big show will do the job.

The show is an all-star event Lawford and Frank Sinatra have planned for Washington, D. C., Jan. 19—the night before the presidential inauguration.

They hope the show will pay off the Democratic party's deficit from the 1960 campaign, which totals two million dollars. Boxes are going for $10,000 each and bottom-dollar seats will be $100. Lawford is President-elect John F. Kennedy's brother-in-law.

The mercury slid to 19 degrees below zero in Grand Forks, N. D.

Colder weather was indicated for much of the eastern half of the country. From the icy air in the northeast Plains, temperatures ranged from just above zero in the extreme north to the 30s and 40s in the south.

Lutheran Gains

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—The United Lutheran Church in America bought 78 lots, built 119 churches and 96 parsonages at a record cost of 21 million dollars during 1960, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Donald L. Houser of New York, executive secretary of the church's Board of American Missions, said 1961 construction will be less because of lack of funds.

It is 431 feet long and will carry guided missiles and the latest anti-submarine weapons. (AP Wirephoto)

Hoffa Maintains Frosty Silence Over Indictment

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teamsters Union strongman James R. Hoffa maintained an icy silence today about charges he and two other men misused more than a half million dollars in union funds to foist a Florida land scheme on union members.

The bantam president of the nation's largest union, who could be jailed for five years and fined up to $12,000 if convicted, stood by hi statement yesterday that "we'll try the case in court."

Indicted along with Hoffa yesterday by a federal grand jury at Orlando, Fla., were Henry Lower, 57, former president of a Detroit Teamsters local, and Robert E. McCarohy Jr., 40, former branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth, Detroit.

The indictment named Lower as president of Sun Valley Inc., a 1954 Florida corporation which acquired lots for $18 apiece and offered to sell them to union members for $150 to $1,000.

The 12-count indictment said Hoffa and Lower controlled Sun Valley Inc., financed it with funds belonging to three Detroit Teamster locals and the Detroit Teamsters Joint Council, and attempted to defraud individual members by selling Florida lots said to be "all on high, dry and rolling land."

Actually, the indictment said, the lots "offered and sold were so low and permeated with water as to make them unsuitable for construction of homes and dwellings."

Sun Valley Inc. has no connection with the Sun Valley, Ida., resort center.

Hoffa, free on $10,000 bond, was scheduled for arraignment Friday.

New Orleans Attendance, Hecklers Skid

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—White hecklers, their blockades crushed by police, abandoned attempts to keep white children out of an integrated school today but attendance skidded to 15 children.

For the first time since integration began on Nov. 14, not one jeer went up when children entered William Frantz Elementary School, because there were no crowds to jeer.

The only onlookers were a dozen women and one man sitting on a front porch. Police have warned persons inside their barricades that they will be thrown out if they start yelling.

POLICE STILL HERE

Scores of policemen continued to man barriers set up a block away from the school in all directions.

There was no immediate explanation for the second straight drop in white attendance, after a steady climb took attendance at Frantz from two to 23. Newsmen counted only 14 white students today, plus the lone Negro girl in the school.

A white boycott was still totally effective at McDonogh 19 school, where three Negro girls are in the first grade.

Rev. Andrew Foreman, who complained to the Federal Bureau of Investigation yesterday when a man allegedly threatened "to get" him, brought his daughter to school in a private car but left in a police car.

When Rev. Foreman picked up his daughter at the school yesterday, a glowering man thrust his hand into the car window, poked the minister on the shoulder and snarled "We're going to get you, preacher."

W. W. Bromwell, FBI agent in charge of the New Orleans office, said his office was checking into the alleged threat.

Veiled threats and epithets such as "nigger lover" and "low white trash" finally forced a meter reader to abandon his new home here. James Gabrielle, whose daughter Yolanda, also has been attending the school, announced he was preparing to leave town for Providence, R.I., where he lived before coming to the south.

Gabrielle said a "freeze" by his fellow workers and a new work schedule singling him out for various shifts at odd hours harassed him into quitting his $230-a-month job.

"I'd never make out here now the way things are," he said.

PACIFIC CATCH DUE

Sky Spy Satellite Circling Earth

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A Discoverer satellite containing secret sky spy gear of a type which someday may make sneak attack impossible circled the earth today.

Discoverer XVIII roared on a souped-up booster into polar orbit yesterday—19th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

A 200-pound capsule will be ejected over the Arctic, possibly today or tomorrow. If all goes well, it will be snagged by Air Force planes over the Pacific near Hawaii.

In the capsule are bits of human tissue and human bone marrow. Scientists sent them aloft to learn how radiation affects them — a life-and-death matter for future men in space.

Also aboard the capsule were algae, blood cells, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

The sky spy gadgets presumably included powerful long-range cameras to scan the earth and infrared devices to detect rocket firings.

A "hot rod" Rocketdyne engine with 160,000 pounds of thrust — 15,000 pounds more than standard Thor power used in past launchings — boosted the 2,100-pound satellite into orbit after a spectacular firing louder and brighter than any of the 12 earlier Discoverers which achieved orbit. Circling the globe every 94 minutes, the satellite travels as near the earth as 150 miles, as far away as 450 miles.

The Air Force said changes in the rocket permitted an increase of 7,000 pounds in the initial weight. They also enabled the second stage Agena B, all of which orbits, to weigh 200 pounds more. Carrying more fuel, it will be able to start and stop its engine in flight and maneuver in space.

Book On Stock Market Gain Labeled Fraud In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz today charged the author of the best seller "How I Made Two Million Dollars in the Stock Market" with offering fraudulent investment advice.

Lefkowitz said that as far as his office could determine, the author, acrobatic dancer Nicolas Darvas, actually made about $216,000 in "ascertainable profits . . . during the period covered by the book, January, 1953 to July, 1959."

One of the principal themes of Darvas' book is how he built up approximately $37,000 to 2.25 million dollars by July, 1959, exclusively by using his own funds and margin accounts.

"This principal theme . . . is unqualifiedly false," Lefkowitz declared in charging Darvas and his publisher with offering fraudulent investment advice.

Lefkowitz said that in reality Darvas got at least $1,074,053 in at least 30 separate collateral loans from money lenders and a bank to finance his stock manipulations.

PEARL HARBOR TRAGEDY

Three Lived 16 Days, Died In Sunken Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The date was Dec. 8, 1941. The place, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The setting was deep inside the sunken battleship West Virginia.

Three men were trapped in a compartment, untouched by the bombs and fire that ravaged the vessel and sent it to the floor of the harbor in the Japanese attack the previous day.

The sailors were spending the second of what was to be 16 days of a fruitless struggle to live. They breathed from an air bubble in the sealed storeroom. They fed on emergency rations. They tapped a freshwater tank for drink.

What they thought, what they hoped, was buried with them in the familiar surroundings where they had lived and worked until the surprise attack. The only chronicle of their final days before suffocation was a calendar—a checkmark on each date from Dec. 7 to Dec. 23.

The Navy yesterday removed the secrecy stamp from two pages of a nine-page document dated June 15, 1942, which described the recovery of 70 bodies from the ill-fated West Virginia during salvage operations.

"Three bodies were found on the lower shelf of storeroom A-111 clad in blues and jerseys," the document said. "The emergency rations at this station had been consumed . . ." The men had removed a manhole cover leading to freshwater tanks below the storeroom.

"Several" bodies were found stretched on top of steampipes in an area that was "probably within the air bubble existing in that flooded space," the report continued. Some of the men had lived for considerable periods but finally died from lack of oxygen, it said.

Veteran Navy officers could not recall any other verified instance in which men lived as long as 16 days in a sunken ship.

Two officers and 103 enlisted men died aboard the West Virginia. The Navy, however, declined to identify the three sailors who lived in the air bubble.

Fire burned through the ship for 30 hours, buckling deck plates over about three-fourths of the ship's length. Japanese planes hit her with two bombs and six aerial torpedoes, sending her to the bottom, but leaving part of her main deck awash.

The vessel was floated five months later and returned under its own steam to California where it was repaired. It got back in action in time to engage in the battle of Leyte Gulf in October of 1944.

Man Hospitalized After Beating

Roland C. Hunter, 42, of Novato, beaten by his stepson and a friend Monday night, remained in Marin General Hospital yesterday with head injuries. He was reported in "satisfactory condition."

A neighbor called sheriff's deputies to the Hunter home at 1222 Kaehler Street about 10:30 p.m. Monday to report a disturbance.

Deputy R. J. DiGrazia got this account from Hunter, a hospital orderly, and his wife Hazel A. Hunter:

Mrs. Hunter's son, 23, of Cotati and a 21-year-old friend from San Rafael attacked Hunter.

DiGrazia said the Hunters do not want to press charges Therefore, he did not get a full name and description of the attackers.

Castro Forces Claim Rebel Band Destroyed

HAVANA (AP) — The government claimed today it had destroyed a band of insurgents in a battle at Cabanas only 32 miles west of Havana.

An army communique said the entire band was cleaned up with the capture of 11 men, including its leader, Capt. Clodomiro Miranda Mendiela, who was badly wounded.

An officer in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's army was killed and four men wounded.

Although the army claimed the entire band was wiped out, earlier reports said Miranda Mendiela had 20 heavily armed men with him when he deserted Castro's forces and took to the hills only a few days ago.

The reports said Miranda Mendiela, commanded of the garrison at Seboruco, took his outfit on maneuvers in the mountains of Pinar Del Rio Province and when he reached a selected spot informed them he was deserting and gave them a choice of returning to their post or joining him. Two hundred men reportedly stayed with him.

Provincial Commander Dermidio Escalona personally directed a force of militiamen, reported to number 2,000, that was sent after the deserters:

Other bands, reliable reports indicated, were still operating in the western province. One report said an entire truckload of arms disappeared from San Julian air base, a heavily guarded depot for new weapons arriving from the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and other Iron Curtain countries.

Big Cemetery To War Dead Is Dedicated

MANILA (AP) — The largest U.S. military cemetery abroad, stretching out over 152 acres, was dedicated here today. A total of 17,182 American dead of the Pacific war are buried there, and another 36,279 listed on "The Walls of the Missing."

To the roll of drums and the music of hymns, soldiers laid wreaths at a memorial chapel on a grassy knoll overlooking Manila. Ceremonies were held on the 19th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Among the speakers was Gen. Walter Krueger, whose 6th Army drove the Japanese from the Philippines.

Krueger was among a distinguished group of World War II commanders here to dedicate the cemetery

Dag Sees Danger If U.N. Pulls Out

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold has warned that "everything would crumble" in the strife-torn Congo if U.N. forces are suddenly withdrawn.

The U.N. secretary-general defended himself against bitter Communist criticism last night at a meeting of the Security Council on the Congo.

Earlier in the day Yugoslavia announced it is pulling its 21 men out of the U.N. Congo force. Ceylon and the United Arab Republic were also reported ready to withdraw their small contingents from the 20,000-man force.

Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin, who has been trying here to undercut the U.N. Congo operation in every possible way, tried to take the floor to reply to Hammarskjold but the Security Council voted to adjourn despite his protests.

Hammarskjold spoke as the council opened debate on the rival East and West resolutions on the arrest of left-leaning Patrice Lumumba, deposed Congo premier.

Hammarskjold lashed back at Soviet charges that he had been a tool of Western interests in the Congo crisis.

Denying he had compromised the principles of the United Nations for political advantage, Hammarskjold said: "It has not been done and it will not be done with my knowledge or acquiescense. I can only repeat what I said to the General Assembly that I would rather like to see the office of the secretary-general break on this principle than drift on compromise."

The secretary-general warned that it is dangerous to spread the claim that the U.N. Congo operation has failed or faces failure.

"What is now laid at the doorstep of the United Nations as a failure is the failure of the political leaders of the Congo and of its people to take advantage of the unparalleled international assistance for the creation of normal political life within the country," he asserted.

Hammarskjold deplored the arrest and treatment of Lumumba by Congolese authorities. But he declared that the facts should be placed in the "total perspective of the tragic and confused history of the Congo after its independence."

Congo Trying To Block U.N. Movements

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The United Nations announced today Congolese authorities have ordered a blockade of all U.N. military surface transportation in the Congo.

Brig. Indarjit Rikhye of India, chief U.N. military adviser, said it was the most serious challenge to face the United Nations since the beginning of its Congo operation.

"It could paralyze our activities," Rikhye told a news conference.

The first test will come Tuesday when a U.N. military supply shipment is scheduled to sail up the Congo River, the chief traffic artery in this nation of a few highways and railroads.

Victor Nendaka, head of the National Security Police, ruled that the Congolese surface transport monopoly, Otraco, should carry U.N. military supplies only with his special permission.

Food and medical supplies were excluded from the order.

"We consider this a definite attempt on the part of the Congolese authorities to paralyze all U.N. operations in the Congo and a violation of the agreement between the United Nations and the Congolese government," Rikhye said.

Paris Debate On Algeria Ends; No Vote

PARIS (UPI)—A bleary eyed national assembly early today ended a marathon debate over President Charles de Gaulle's plans to loosen Algerian ties to France but got no chance to vote.

Three times the rightwing deputies who demanded that Algeria be kept a part of France threw the assembly hall into an uproar with shouting and desk banging .

But they were merely blowing off steam because Premier Michel Debre already had announced the government would by-pass the legislators and take the "Algerian project" directly to the people.

A national referendum will be held in January on whether France should go through with plans to set up a local Algerian administration—under French control—and then let the Algerians vote on their own future.

The debate, which started at 10 a.m. yesterday and dragged on until 7:39 a.m. today brought out the opposing fears —on the one hand that the costly six-year-old war against the Moslem rebels will drag on and on the other that France might lose its rich North African soil completely.

De Gaulle came in for some of the worst personal abuse he has suffered since his return to power two and a half years ago.

Independent rightist deputy Henri Tremolet Devilliers lashed out at the 70-year-old chief of state with these words:

"France is no decadent. Only it's chief can be old, weary and sad."

In its annual journey around the sun, the earth travels a distance of 590 million miles.

Maria Callas Draws Hisses And Cheers

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Maria Callas drew some hisses and had a brief skirmish with photographers last night but sang to a triumphant "comeback" before a glittering, cheering audience at La Scala opera house.

The critics said she was good--although few were willing to admit it was her greatest performance.

Miss Callas herself was elated.

"The La Scala public is still mine," she said, before running off to dinner with millionaire ship owner Aristotle Onassis.

The clash with the photographers almost marred the American singer's first performance in Milan in 30 months, but Miss Callas simmered down—much to the surprise of many of her admirers.

The tempertuous diva had promised that her role as Paolina in Gaetano Donizetti's opera "Poliuto" would be the "comeback of my life."

When the second act finished and the stars were receiving applause and taking bows, five photographers suddenly rushed out to shoot Prince Rainier Princess Grace of Monaco, and Onassis, who were all in a stage-side box.

Callas, her eyes flashing in anger, stalked toward the photographers. The retreated into the wings in haste.

There were no further outbursts by the temperamental singer despite a few hisses during the first act from the audience. She chose to ignore them.

After an argument with La Scala theater superintendent Antonio Ghiringhelli, Miss Callas refused to sing at the Milan opera house for two and one-half years. But she relented and made up with Ghiringhelli after La Scala fans demanded that she be brought back.

Laos Capital Taken Over By Government

State Aide Wants Voting Machine Law

SACRAMENTO (AP)—It's time to stop complaining about slow vote counting in California and do something about it, says Secretary of State Frank Jordan.

His solution: A state law to require all counties with 10 or more precincts to buy voting machines or vote tabulating machines with state-loaned money.

Jordan made the proposal yesterday in letters to members of the Assembly Interim Committee on Elections and Reapportionment, asking them to present it to the legislature when it convenes Jan. 2.

He said the state has some $800 million dollars in a special fund for the loans, to be granted at a 5 per cent interest rate—a higher rate than the state earns on any of its other loans.

Use of the machines, Jordan said, would cut election costs about 30 per cent and counties would be able to repay the state in three or four years.

He proposed that the law not go into full effect until 1964, to give manufacturers time to produce the machines.

"The experience of delayed returns at both the primary and general elections of 1960 demonstrates clearly that the voting procedures of the counties should be mechanized," Jordan said.

In California, only the City and County of San Francisco has voting machines, while most of the larger cities and states in the rest of the nation use them.

Lawmaker Charges State Paying Insurance 'Subsidy'

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assemblyman Phillip Burton (D-San Francisco) charges that by 1962 the state will have paid out a 98.7-million-dollar "subsidy" to California insurance companies.

Citing State Employment Department data, Burton said yesterday that companies carrying policies for the state's disability insurance fund have saved the money through benefits voted them by the legislature.

He listed five instances:

1. A ruling that companies do not have to share in administrative costs of the program, saving them 5.9 million dollars.

2. A ceiling on what companies have to pay on policies of workers paid enough money to be covered by the disability program, but who now work on jobs the program doesn't cover — a 32.4-million-dollar saving.

3. Use of interest credits by the state to offset the money companies should have paid on the uncovered workers accounts, a saving of 18.6 million dollars a year for the companies.

4. Suspension of the "adverse risk" section of the program, which covers workers more likely than most to need benefits, a 25.8-million-dollar savings.

5. Failure of the state to realize the extra 16 million dollars in compound interest that would have gone into the fund if the companies had not been given the savings.

Public Meetings Scheduled On Terra Linda Bond Plan

Two public meetings will be held sometime next month to discuss a $233,000 recreation bond issue proposed by the Terra Linda Recreational District.

This was the decision of the recreational district board of directors during a three-hour meeting last night at Bernard Hoffman School.

Dates of the public meetings were not determined. The bond election is to be held Jan. 17.

Director James B. Schryver was appointed chairman of a committee to present bond issue information at the meetings.

Anthony Marcelli of 285 Orange Blossom Lane was appointed controller for the recreational district.

Marcelli, who has served as controller for the Terra Linda Community Services District in the past, will handle the district's accounting and finances, according to chairman Walter J. Fairweather.

Fairweather said the board hoped to set the dates for the public meetings at its next regular meeting, Dec. 21.

Worker Injured In 20-Foot Fall

Albert M. Prowse, 62-year-old construction worker of 25 Ancha Vista Avenue, San Anselmo, was reported in fair condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after he plunged 20 feet from a roof.

Hospital officials said Prowse suffered back injuries when he stepped on some plywood sheeting extending off the roof of the new addition to the Glass and Sash Co. building at 260 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, about 1 p.m. yesterday, and toppled to the ground.

Prowse is employed by Custom Builders, who are constructing the addition.

Burglars Break In, But Take Nothing

Burglars twisted a window off its hinges at the Professional Medical Center in Terra Linda last night, but left empty-handed.

"There is no money or narcotics kept there," said Dr. William S. Neal, owner of the building at 11 Professional Center Parkway.

Police Officer Richard Douglas said the burglars pried off a screen and then forced a rear window off its hinges. They searched the office but took nothing.

The burglary was discovered at 7 a.m. today when nurse Mabel L. Neeley of Vallejo reported for work.

Dog Without House

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP) — Jim Bertola's premises were ransacked one night. Among items stolen was Bertola's dog-house. The burglars failed to take along one item—the dog in the doghouse.

Mill Valley To Modify Golf Pro Shop Plans

Mill Valley's City Council last night told the Park and Recreation Commission to modify plans for proposed additions to the golf course pro shop in an effort to meet a resident's objections.

The council felt changes could be made in rest rooms and that a deck could be screened from view of the home of John Broman at 272 Buena Vista Avenue.

Broman, who engaged in fisticuffs with parks and recreation commissioner Charles P. Guichard Nov. 21 over the subject of the pro shop, said last night he would like to se the rest rooms put on the course under a big oak tree. He said he does not object to the sale of beer provided the proposed deck isn't turned into "an open beer garden."

Broman's house is 40 feet from the proposed deck.

The additions proposed for the pro shop are two toilets which would face the Broman residence and a deck to be used as a lounging and snack area.

Pro and con arguments were heard from the audience. A strong proponent of the remodeling was Charles E. McCrum, former building inspector of Mill Valley, who now lives in Novato.

McCrum said: "We have a beautiful golf course but we also have the poorest facilities of any golf course I have ever seen or played or heard of . . . It's a crying shame, the facilities we have." He offered to take any one or two members of the council to golf courses in the bay area or in California, as his guest, to prove this.

McCrum spoke on behalf of the Mill Valley Men's golf club. Mrs. Edna Fellows, representing the women's golf club, also spoke in favor of remodeling.

James A. Bollier of 250 Ferndale Avenue said, "I understand the improvement is a beer garden . . . " he said he vigorously objects to this, feeling "the beer place will attract an undesirable element."

McCrum responded that he didn't believe "anyone would go out there just to get a beer."

Bruno P. Maraccini of 260 Buena Vista Avenue, said: "I'm a golfer. I live right near the course. I don't believe anyone should climb that hill to go to the restrooms." He also objected to the deck, saying it would attract too many people drinking beer and "laying out on the deck."

Councilman George Blackwell asked for more time to study the plan. "This one is not the best plan being produced," he said.

Lentz Heads Chamber In Mill Valley

Jack R. Lentz, general manager of the Mill Valley Record, was elected president of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce yesterday, to succeed Donald W. Chapman Jr.

Also elected for a two-year term of office were Lawrence A. Mayer, vice president and chairman of the civic affairs committee.

Directors for 1961, in addition to Lentz, Mayer and Walker, are Chapman, incumbent; Reginald De Maeyer, Leonard Blakely, Stephen P. Dimitroff, who was recently elected, and holdover directors Charles Hunter, John Kobil and William Woods.

Newly elected directors and officers will take office at the chamber's next meeting, Jan. 4.

Bomb In Automobile Fatal To New Yorker

NEW YORK (UPI)—A trucking company employee was slain by a bomb triggered by the starter in his car today as he set off from his luxury apartment near Forest Hills Tennis Club.

The blast, second of its kind within 24 hours in the metropolitan area, killed Kenneth Feinbegr, 26, hurled shrapnel-like fragments for hundreds of feet and shattered dozens of windows in the sedate residential neighborhood.

Feinberg was a checker for the Fox Trucking Co. in Manhattan and was the son of a wealthy downtown furrier, Hyman Feinberg.

"We know that Kenneth had friends who were not exactly upright, law-abiding citizens," chief of detectives James B. Leggett said. He refused further comment.

Yesterday morning, a time bomb blasted the car of William P. Hillbrant, government witness in a tax evasion case against a Teamster's union official, at Elizabeth, N. J. Hillbrant had missed the explosion by minutes by a delay in leaving his house.

Feinberg apparently triggered today's explosion when he stepped on the starter of his father's convertible. The car was demolished.

Feinberg lived for a few minutes after the blast but was not able to speak to neighbors who tried to aid him.

Vandals Reported Damaging Mail

Vandals have been tearing up letters from several mailboxes in Homestead Valley, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

H. Clark Lamb, 48, real estate appraiser of 14 La Verne Avenue, told Deputy Edmond Mauberret that he found letters torn in half in his mailbox Tuesday night.

Also in his mailbox were letters addressed to A. L. Bjorklund Jr., 80 La Verne, and Winona Verner, 12 La Verne.

The sheriff notified postal inspectors to investigate.

ONE WAY TO GET OUT OF ARMY

Sgt. 1/c Rodger Hale (right) chose this unusual way to get discharged from the 101st Airborne Division at Ft. Campbell, Ky. Handing him the discharge paper, at 9,000 feet over the base, is Specialist Lee Meyers of Phoeniz, Ariz. After he reached the ground last Saturday, Hale, of Pearl River, N. Y., signed up for three more years. He and Meyers have been selected as members of the Army skydiving team. (AP Wirephoto)

Mill Valley To Modify Golf Pro Shop Plans

Mill Valley's City Council last night told the Park and Recreation Commission to modify plans for proposed additions to the golf course pro shop in an effort to meet a resident's objections.

The council felt changes could be made in rest rooms and that a deck could be screened from view of the home of John Broman at 272 Buena Vista Avenue.

Broman, who engaged in fisticuffs with parks and recreation commissioner Charles P. Guichard Nov. 21 over the subject of the pro shop, said last night he would like to se the rest rooms put on the course under a big oak tree. He said he does not object to the sale of beer provided the proposed deck isn't turned into "an open beer garden."

Broman's house is 40 feet from the proposed deck.

The additions proposed for the pro shop are two toilets which would face the Broman residence and a deck to be used as a lounging and snack area.

Pro and con arguments were heard from the audience. A strong proponent of the remodeling was Charles E. McCrum, former building inspector of Mill Valley, who now lives in Novato.

McCrum said: "We have a beautiful golf course but we also have the poorest facilities of any golf course I have ever seen or played or heard of . . . It's a crying shame, the facilities we have." He offered to take any one or two members of the council to golf courses in the bay area or in California, as his guest, to prove this.

McCrum spoke on behalf of the Mill Valley Men's golf club. Mrs. Edna Fellows, representing the women's golf club, also spoke in favor of remodeling.

James A. Bollier of 250 Ferndale Avenue said, "I understand the improvement is a beer garden . . . " he said he vigorously objects to this, feeling "the beer place will attract an undesirable element."

McCrum responded that he didn't believe "anyone would go out there just to get a beer."

Bruno P. Maraccini of 260 Buena Vista Avenue, said: "I'm a golfer. I live right near the course. I don't believe anyone should climb that hill to go to the restrooms." He also objected to the deck, saying it would attract too many people drinking beer and "laying out on the deck."

Councilman George Blackwell asked for more time to study the plan. "This one is not the best plan being produced," he said.

Lentz Heads Chamber In Mill Valley

Jack R. Lentz, general manager of the Mill Valley Record, was elected president of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce yesterday, to succeed Donald W. Chapman Jr.

Also elected for a two-year term of office were Lawrence A. Mayer, vice president and chairman of the civic affairs committee.

Directors for 1961, in addition to Lentz, Mayer and Walker, are Chapman, incumbent; Reginald De Maeyer, Leonard Blakely, Stephen P. Dimitroff, who was recently elected, and holdover directors Charles Hunter, John Kobil and William Woods.

Newly elected directors and officers will take office at the chamber's next meeting, Jan. 4.

Marketing researchers at the University of Minnesota say American food shoppers spend an average of 23 minutes in the grocery each time they go marketing.

Public Meetings Scheduled On Terra Linda Bond Plan

Two public meetings will be held sometime next month to discuss a $233,000 recreation bond issue proposed by the Terra Linda Recreational District.

This was the decision of the recreational district board of directors during a three-hour meeting last night at Bernard Hoffman School.

Dates of the public meetings were not determined. The bond election is to be held Jan. 17.

Director James B. Schryver was appointed chairman of a committee to present bond issue information at the meetings.

Anthony Marcelli of 285 Orange Blossom Lane was appointed controller for the recreational district.

Marcelli, who has served as controller for the Terra Linda Community Services District in the past, will handle the district's accounting and finances, according to chairman Walter J. Fairweather.

Fairweather said the board hoped to set the dates for the public meetings at its next regular meeting, Dec. 21.

Worker Injured In 20-Foot Fall

Albert M. Prowse, 62-year-old construction worker of 25 Ancha Vista Avenue, San Anselmo, was reported in fair condition at San Rafael General Hospital today after he plunged 20 feet from a roof.

Hospital officials said Prowse suffered back injuries when he stepped on some plywood sheeting extending off the roof of the new addition to the Glass and Sash Co. building at 260 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, about 1 p.m. yesterday, and toppled to the ground.

Prowse is employed by Custom Builders, who are constructing the addition.

Burglars Break In, But Take Nothing

Burglars twisted a window off its hinges at the Professional Medical Center in Terra Linda last night, but left empty-handed.

"There is no money or narcotics kept there," said Dr. William S. Neal, owner of the building at 11 Professional Center Parkway.

Police Officer Richard Douglas said the burglars pried off a screen and then forced a rear window off its hinges. They searched the office but took nothing.

The burglary was discovered at 7 a.m. today when nurse Mabel L. Neeley of Vallejo reported for work.

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP) — Jim Bertola's premises were ransacked one night. Among items stolen was Bertola's dog-house. The burglars failed to take along one item—the dog in the doghouse.

Bomb In Automobile Fatal To New Yorker

NEW YORK (UPI)—A trucking company employee was slain by a bomb triggered by the starter in his car today as he set off from his luxury apartment near Forest Hills Tennis Club.

The blast, second of its kind within 24 hours in the metropolitan area, killed Kenneth Feinbegr, 26, hurled shrapnel-like fragments for hundreds of feet and shattered dozens of windows in the sedate residential neighborhood.

Feinberg was a checker for the Fox Trucking Co. in Manhattan and was the son of a wealthy downtown furrier, Hyman Feinberg.

"We know that Kenneth had friends who were not exactly upright, law-abiding citizens," chief of detectives James B. Leggett said. He refused further comment.

Yesterday morning, a time bomb blasted the car of William P. Hillbrant, government witness in a tax evasion case against a Teamster's union official, at Elizabeth, N. J. Hillbrant had missed the explosion by minutes by a delay in leaving his house.

Feinberg apparently triggered today's explosion when he stepped on the starter of his father's convertible. The car was demolished.

Feinberg lived for a few minutes after the blast but was not able to speak to neighbors who tried to aid him.

Vandals Reported Damaging Mail

Vandals have been tearing up letters from several mailboxes in Homestead Valley, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Also in his mailbox were letters addressed to A. L. Bjorklund Jr., 80 La Verne, and Winona Verner, 12 La Verne.

The sheriff notified postal inspectors to investigate.

Farm Labor, General Welfare Plans Sure To Bring Legislative Battles

(Third in a series on what's ahead for California's legislature.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A fight over farm labor and general welfare programs, most especially Aid to Needy Children, is just about as certain as anything in sight for the 1961 legislative session.

Picket lines thrown around farms in the Central Valley in recent months dramatized the gathering battle over labor's attempts to put the workers under contract.

And senate committee hearings into the needy children program—under perennial attack — have brought insistent demands for reforms to eliminate fraud and cut ever-increasing costs.

Union leaders have made it clear they intend to intensify the drive to organize farm workers when crops begin to ripen in the fields and orchads next year.

Secretary-treasurer Thomas L. Pitts says the California Labor Federation will "press, and press hard" to enact collective bargaining laws, along with minimum wage and social insurance now available to others.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposal for a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour, scaled down by the assembly to 90 cents for farm workers, touched off one of the hottest battles of the 1959 session. The bill was killed by a senate committee.

Assemblyman-elect W. A. Hicks (D-Sacramento), a former union official, says he'll sponsor 1961 efforts to provide a $1.25 minimum for everyone.

On the other side, the California Farm Bureau Federation calls for new laws to stop jurisdictional labor disputes, secondary boycotts and "hot cargo" contracts.

Dr. James T. Ralph, who becomes state director of agriculture Jan. 10, suggests the AFL-CIO may concentrate next year on the hot cargo approach — picketing processing plants — instead of striking individual farmers.

Ralph, who is now the deputy director, cited the prospect of crop spoilage as creating a public consumer interest which, he said, ultimately will demand regulation.

"The only question," he said in a recent speech, "is whether this will result from union leadership or through legislation, and the farmer must work quickly, actively and intelligently or he will get the former."

Brown has gone on record as favoring legislation to protect crops from harvest time strikes, a key demand of the growers.

Exactly what will be done about Aid to Needy Children is far from clear. Opposing factions—social workers and prosecutors—differ sharply.

J. M. Wedemeyer, state director of social welfare, agrees welfare laws need a major overhauling but he contends proposals by county officials "are only devices and not solutions."

There are about 250,000 children on the ANC rolls. Of these 61,000 are illegitimate. Critics have complained that ANC has encouraged unmarried mothers to have babies that will assure them a monthly relief check.

District attorneys want more power to prosecute fraud. They have urged strict curtailment of the state department's functions in overseeing ANC.

William R. MacDaugall, general counsel and manager of the County Supervisors Assn., says:

"If the taxpayer had a true picture of how his hard-earned dollars are literally being stolen from him, he would rise up in arms. And that's only the half of it.

"By taking advantage of loopholes in the current law and through outright fraud the ANC chiseler is preventing public aid to those who need it most—innocent and deserving children."

Wedemeyer, while resisting some county proposals, advocates stringent new penalties for parents who chisel on ANC and for those who fail to provide for their youngsters.

But, he says, the state won't solve the problem by simply frightening aid recipients or shifting them to another category.

"The problems we are dealing with are basically those of the most seriously deprived members of our society."

ANC expenditures totaled 77 million dollars in 1950, rose to 107 million in 1957-58 and exceeds 150 million this year. Prosecutors in recent years have recovered an increasing amount from runaway fathers, responsible for 71 per cent of the ANC caseload. But it's just a drop in the bucket.

James J. Byrne, an official of the U.S. Forest Service, predicts helicopters and dirigibles will be used to get logs out of inaccessible areas and to reduce soil damage in logging mountainsides.

Wet Weather Causes Construction Slowdown

Wet weather in Marin County has caused many slowdowns in the construction trades, the Marin County Labor Council was told last night.

Considerable unemployment was also reported in the Machinists Union, with a large number of production men reported by Omar McNally as cut of work to an extent believed the largest in years.

Roy Curry of the Plastic Workers also reported nearly 30 members recently laid off.

After hearing of the proposed Samuel R. Neider Strawberry Point development now pending on a zoning application before the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the council voted to write a letter urging approval.

Soldier Cited For Performance

Army Sp/4c Bruce W. Mitchell, 21, has been presented the Army Commendation Medal for "meritorious service" while assigned to Headquarters 6th Region, Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker.

The soldier was cited for his "dependability, performance of duty and sense of responsibility" as a personnel specialist in the headquarters from July, 1959, to Dec. 6, 1960. Mitchell is leaving the service.

He and his wife, Carol, reside in San Leandro.

'MESS' IN CANYON

Group In Larkspur Protests Excavation

Residents of Baltimore Park and Canyon, in a letter to Larkspur City Council last night, protested excavation work going on above Shady Lane and charged a "mess" had been created in the canyon.

George Leftwich, president of the Baltimore Park and Canyon Improvement Club, who signed the letter, told councilmen that contractor Russ Lauterwasser "used poor judgment and no planning at all." Lauterwasser is doing the excavating and owns the property.

Leftwich, present at the meeting, said the cutting was a "scar to the hillside . . . and also a dangerous one."

In the letter from the improvement club, Leftwich said the city should give more supervision to the work. He asked if a tract plan had been filed and if plans had been made to clean up the fallen trees and the mud.

The letter claimed there was possibility of "considerable damage to the neighborhood and beauty of the area."

City Manager Ronald E. Piper said no subdivision plan had been filed for the operation. The primary objection, Piper said, was that Lauterwasser was "cutting the hill up . . . chewing up the side of a beautiful hill."

The city manager said he did not know whether this was true or not. "It's his property, and if he doesn't damage anyone else, he has the right to do it (the excavating)," Piper added.

The fallen trees were placed there to catch some of the settlement and would be removed when Lauterwasser was through, Piper said.

Douglas Duncan of 4 Shady Lane expressed concern about what would happen in the area if heavy rain fell. Piper said all precautions had been taken that the city felt could be done.

Mayor Arthur E. Storhaug asked Councilmen Daniel Allen and Neil R. Brixon to look at the area and report at the next meeting on whether an ordinance change might be needed.

City Engineer John C. Oglesby commented that no plan had been made for future development of that area. The mayor noted that nothing in the city's ordinances requires it.

'Bad Terrain' Blamed For Railroad Expense

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chairman of a legislative study committee said today that "adverse terrain" caused the state to build 47.6 million dollars worth of railroad to replace one worth only 16.3 million.

"Since the money has been spent," said Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, "little can be done now."

But Porter, a Compton Democrat who heads the Assembly Water Committee, charged that the state received "no bargain" in relocating Western Pacific Railroad tracks that will be covered by the proposed Oroville Dam in Northern California.

The dam is part of the California water program and included in the 1.75-billion-dollar water bond issue approved by the voters in the November general election.

"It seems, however, that there is a real need for the department (of water resources) to consider cost to the state as well as equivalent usefulness to the utility when making these relocations," Porter said.

International Engineering Co. Inc., a San Francisco engineering firm hired by the committee, reported yesterday that despite the large gap in the value of the relocated road and the old road, the actual "betterment" amounted to only $888,000.

State law requires that the state must provide Western Pacific with "new replacement facilities of like character and at least equal in usefulness."

The engineering firm said the difference was almost entirely covered by costs of new tunnels and bridges in the reservoir area. As an example, the firm cited the fact that the new line will have five tunnels with a total length of 21,200 feet while the existing line has five tunnels with a length of only 2,750 feet.

Wet Weather Causes Construction Slowdown

Wet weather in Marin County has caused many slowdowns in the construction trades, the Marin County Labor Council was told last night.

Considerable unemployment was also reported in the Machinists Union, with a large number of production men reported by Omar McNally as cut of work to an extent believed the largest in years.

Roy Curry of the Plastic Workers also reported nearly 30 members recently laid off.

After hearing of the proposed Samuel R. Neider Strawberry Point development now pending on a zoning application before the Marin County Board of Supervisors, the council voted to write a letter urging approval.

Soldier Cited For Performance

Army Sp/4c Bruce W. Mitchell, 21, has been presented the Army Commendation Medal for "meritorious service" while assigned to Headquarters 6th Region, Army Air Defense Command at Fort Baker.

The soldier was cited for his "dependability, performance of duty and sense of responsibility" as a personnel specialist in the headquarters from July, 1959, to Dec. 6, 1960. Mitchell is leaving the service.

He and his wife, Carol, reside in San Leandro.

'MESS' IN CANYON

Group In Larkspur Protests Excavation

Residents of Baltimore Park and Canyon, in a letter to Larkspur City Council last night, protested excavation work going on above Shady Lane and charged a "mess" had been created in the canyon.

George Leftwich, president of the Baltimore Park and Canyon Improvement Club, who signed the letter, told councilmen that contractor Russ Lauterwasser "used poor judgment and no planning at all." Lauterwasser is doing the excavating and owns the property.

Leftwich, present at the meeting, said the cutting was a "scar to the hillside . . . and also a dangerous one."

In the letter from the improvement club, Leftwich said the city should give more supervision to the work. He asked if a tract plan had been filed and if plans had been made to clean up the fallen trees and the mud.

The letter claimed there was possibility of "considerable damage to the neighborhood and beauty of the area."

City Manager Ronald E. Piper said no subdivision plan had been filed for the operation. The primary objection, Piper said, was that Lauterwasser was "cutting the hill up . . . chewing up the side of a beautiful hill."

The city manager said he did not know whether this was true or not. "It's his property, and if he doesn't damage anyone else, he has the right to do it (the excavating)," Piper added.

Only 4 Days Left To Pay County Taxes

You have only four more days in which to pay the first installment of your taxes for 1960-61.

M. F. Donohue, county tax collector, today reminded property owners that they must pay first installments by 5 p.m. Monday or face a penalty assessment of 6 per cent.

If taxes are paid in person they must be paid either by 5 p.m. tomorrow or 5 p.m. Monday because the tax collector's office is closed Saturday and Sunday. However, payments may be made by mail over the weekend.

Normally, the deadline is Dec. 10, but since the date falls on Saturday this year, the deadline has been extended to Monday.

Donohue said he expects a last-minute rush of payments this year as usual, with about four and one-half million dollars to pour into the county coffers today, tomorrow and Monday.

Total tax bill for the year is $18,455,544.96. Of this amount, $6,145,758 had been collected as of last night. About 55 to 60 per cent of the total bill usually comes in during the first installment payments. The second installment deadline is next April 10.

NEW BORN BORN TO BORNS AT MARIN HOSPITAL

A new Born was born to the Borns yesterday in Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Richard W. Born, 1771 Grant Avenue, Novato, gave birth to her second child, a seven-pound, one-half ounce girl, at 7:25 a.m.

Mrs. Born, 23, has been married for three and one-half years. She and her husband, who is a salesman for California Packing Corp., have been residing in Marin County for nine months.

The Borns also have a 22-month-old son.

Clerk Goes Home For Lunch, Finds Wife Hanged By Door

Grocery clerk George Heussner of San Rafael went home for lunch yesterday and discovered his wife's body hanging from the bedroom door.

Josephine Heussner, 50, was pronounced dead by the family doctor who arrived at the apartment at 1220 Irwin Street in answer to Heussner's telephone call at 12:28 p.m.

Police Officer Thomas Cheetham said Mrs. Heussner apparently looped a double strand of rope over the door knob, ran it over the top of the door and slipped a makeshift noose around her neck. A small ladder was standing next to the body.

Heussner said his wife had a nervous breakdown eight months ago and had been under a doctor's care since then.

The body was taken to Keaton's Mortuary where an autopsy was to be performed today.

REMEMBERS CIVIL WAR

Oldest Marin Citizen Has 103rd Birthday

Marin County's oldest citizen turned 103 today.

The day was passed much like any other by Mrs. Augusta Fair in her room at Ross General Hospital, where she has lived for the past two years.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Dec. 8, 1857, Mrs. Fair came to San Rafael seven years ago to live with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Marrin, at 40 Fairway Drive.

The years in between were spent in Buck Creek, Ala., where her family moved soon after she was born, and Cleveland, Ohio, where she, her two sisters and two brothers grew up.

It was when she was 20, on a visit to Oil City, Pa., that she met Henry H. Fair, a veteran of the Civil War and a widower with a 5-year-old son.

The couple were married after a prayer meeting and set up housekeeping in the third house built in the town. Her husband had built the house on a prior visit to Oil City during an oil boom.

The couple operated a grocery store, her husband also owning a grist mill.

In addition to her stepchild, whom she reared as her own, Mrs. Fair had two sons and two daughters.

Although she has not spoken much of her past life in recent years, Mrs. Fair's memories go back as far as the Civil War, when she recalls her father's steel mill in Alabama being burned by the retreating Confederate soldiers.

After her husband's death in 1916, Mrs. Fair moved to California, settling for a time in Piedmont before coming to San Rafael.

Until two years ago, her birthday was a big event. This year, however, the usual party, featuring cake, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, was ommitted.

"She just doesn't feel up to too much excitement," said Mrs. Marrin.

New Zealand, a South Pacific member of the British Commonwealth, lies at a point on the globe exactly opposite the British Isles.

Ex-Mill Valleyan Hurt In Accident

A former Mill Valley School Board member was seriously injured in an automobile accident in the East Bay last week.

Wesley Sizoo of Danville, who formerly lived in both Mill Valley and Terra Linda, was injured when his small car was struck head-on by another vehicle on Sizoo's side of the highway on the MacArthur Boulevard approach to the Bay Bridge Thursday morning during a rainstorm .

He is recovering in Peralta Hospital, Oakland, from arm, shoulder, rib and other injuries.

REMEMBERS CIVIL WAR

Oldest Marin Citizen Has 103rd Birthday

Marin County's oldest citizen turned 103 today.

The day was passed much like any other by Mrs. Augusta Fair in her room at Ross General Hospital, where she has lived for the past two years.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., on Dec. 8, 1857, Mrs. Fair came to San Rafael seven years ago to live with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Marrin, at 40 Fairway Drive.

The years in between were spent in Buck Creek, Ala., where her family moved soon after she was born, and Cleveland, Ohio, where she, her two sisters and two brothers grew up.

It was when she was 20, on a visit to Oil City, Pa., that she met Henry H. Fair, a veteran of the Civil War and a widower with a 5-year-old son.

The couple were married after a prayer meeting and set up housekeeping in the third house built in the town. Her husband had built the house on a prior visit to Oil City during an oil boom.

The couple operated a grocery store, her husband also owning a grist mill.

In addition to her stepchild, whom she reared as her own, Mrs. Fair had two sons and two daughters.

Although she has not spoken much of her past life in recent years, Mrs. Fair's memories go back as far as the Civil War, when she recalls her father's steel mill in Alabama being burned by the retreating Confederate soldiers.

After her husband's death in 1916, Mrs. Fair moved to California, settling for a time in Piedmont before coming to San Rafael.

Until two years ago, her birthday was a big event. This year, however, the usual party, featuring cake, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, was committed.

"She just doesn't feel up to too much excitement," said Mrs. Marrin.

New Zealand, a South Pacific member of the British Commonwealth, lies at a point on the globe exactly opposite the British Isles.

Ex-Mill Valleyan Hurt In Accident

A former Mill Valley School Board member was seriously injured in an automobile accident in the East Bay last week.

Wesley Sizoo of Danville, who formerly lived in both Mill Valley and Terra Linda, was injured when his small car was struck head-on by another vehicle on Sizoo's side of the highway on the MacArthur Boulevard approach to the Bay Bridge Thursday morning during a rainstorm .

He is recovering in Peralta Hospital, Oakland, from arm, shoulder, rib and other injuries.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Junior Achievement Corporations Are Pint-Sized But Worthwhile

A business organization capitalized at about $125 and employing a work force of perhaps 20 persons may seem like a gimcrack operation compared to present day sky-high finance—but don't sell it short. The profit it shows at the end of the year is beyond any measure in dollars and cents.

There are nearly 4,000 such pint-sized companies throughout the United States. We must admit, however, that none of them exist in Marin County—and that is the very reason for this article.

The difference between these and other corporate structures is that they are managed by youngsters from 15 to 19 years old. They are, in fact, varying forms of what is known as the Junior Achievement Co.—run like big business and dependent upon senior businessmen for advice.

Object: "Learning by Doing."

Through the co-operation of school authorities, business firms and executives who are willing to give a portion of their time and training, JA companies are organized in the fall of each year with as much seriousness of purpose as if their modest capital were followed by three ciphers. Students elect their own officers, decide on a product to manufacture or a service to sell, establish a working force and sales staff.

THE TYPE of enterprise selected may be anything from manufacturing jewelry or house number signs to advertising and banking.

The business is capitalized by selling stock at 50 cents a share to parents, friends, neighbors, teachers and the general public. This working capital, as in any other business, buys raw materials, leases equipment and pays other initial expenses.

Wages are on a scale in keeping with the miniature-size operation. Each company sets up an operating budget, maintains complete records including a balance sheet and profit and loss statement.

It holds directors meetings and pays applicable taxes—sales, excise, local and state. Each company record system includes a special income tax form on which surtax payments are figured upon net income over $25 instead of the first $25,000 used for federal income tax calculations. The "tax" so computed is fed into a fund which is used for scholarships and other activities.

IN MAY, the companies liquidate their assets, pay all bills and close out the business, retiring the capital stock and paying a liquidating dividend if operations have been profitable. Between 75 and 80 per cent of them are.

This year, Junior Achievement is being promoted in San Francisco and on the Peninsula. Next fall it could come to Marin County, but there is a big IF.

The IF involves senior interest and help.

Both might come, for example, through service clubs and their ability to promote JA among business members. I understand that the Junior Achievement office at 1212 Market Street, San Francisco is willing to provide speakers on the subject to give complete information.

GENERALLY the work of counseling a JA company is divided among three advisers—one for record keeping, management and finance; another for planning, manufacture and service. The third helps solve problems of sales and marketing.

Throughout the country, more than 14,000 business firms actively support Junior Achievement programs, enabling youngsters through test and experience to learn the real meaning of free enterprise. They help them build up self-confidence and develop leadership — and gain an insight into their responsibilities for the future.

Why not in Marin?

At birth, a grizzly bear is scarcely bigger than a skinned squirrel.

Ventilating Firm Files Articles For Incorporation

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced Servodyne Corp., a San Francisco company dealing in ventilating, air conditioning equipment, has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized at $75,000 in $100 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Charles E. Harden, Campbell and Kenneth W. DeBaun, 343 Calle de la Mesa, and Philip W. Hoffmire, 403 Calle de la Mesa, Novato.

Jordan announced also the incorporation of Foto Crafts, Inc., a Marin County thermographic production company, to be capitalized at $200,000 in $1 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Jack S. Milner and Winnie Milner, Sebastopol, and Richard A. Levy, San Francisco.

The fastest upland game bird is also the largest—the wild turkey.

Burglars Steal Two Yule Gifts

Burglars entered the home of John H. Arndt at 11 El Cerrito Avenue, San Rafael, Tuesday night and escaped with two wrapped Christmas presents.

In the packages were a pair of black fire tongs and a wood and glass cheese dish.

Police said the burglars apparently opened an unlocked kitchen window and pushed in the screen. Arndt discovered the burglary when he returned from San Francisco about 9:30 p.m.

'COMPLAINT LOG'

Larkspur Will Try Public Interest Idea

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to try out some of councilman James T. Lienkaemper's proposals for encouraging more public participation in city government.

The idea of a "complaint log" will be given a month's trial. City Manager Ronald E. Piper will keep a tabulation of the number and type of complaints from citizens.

Piper agreed to do this, but was skeptical about the idea. He pointed out it would take considerable time and work. "I can't see it serves any real advantage," he said.

Lienkaemper urged that the council should plan an agenda for its next meeting, before it adjourns, for the benefit of the Independent-Journal and other media in writing advance stories. Councilmen agreed.

Lienkaemper's proposal to send post card notices to a portion of registered voters, inviting them to attend council meetings, was not received with enthusiasm. Councilman Neil Brixon said it would add expense for the city. Brixon said the council should rely on stories in the Independent-Journal to get people to meetings.

Lienkaemper also suggested that a portion of meetings, perhaps once in two months, be devoted to presentations on selected municipal topics. Piper objected and said department heads should not be asked to do any more than they are now doing.

Some councilmen said such presentations might better be left to special meetings, rather than regular ones where the agenda was usually full.

Lienkaemper said councilmen could take turns planning such discussions for meetings. He agreed to come up with a suggestion for the first one.

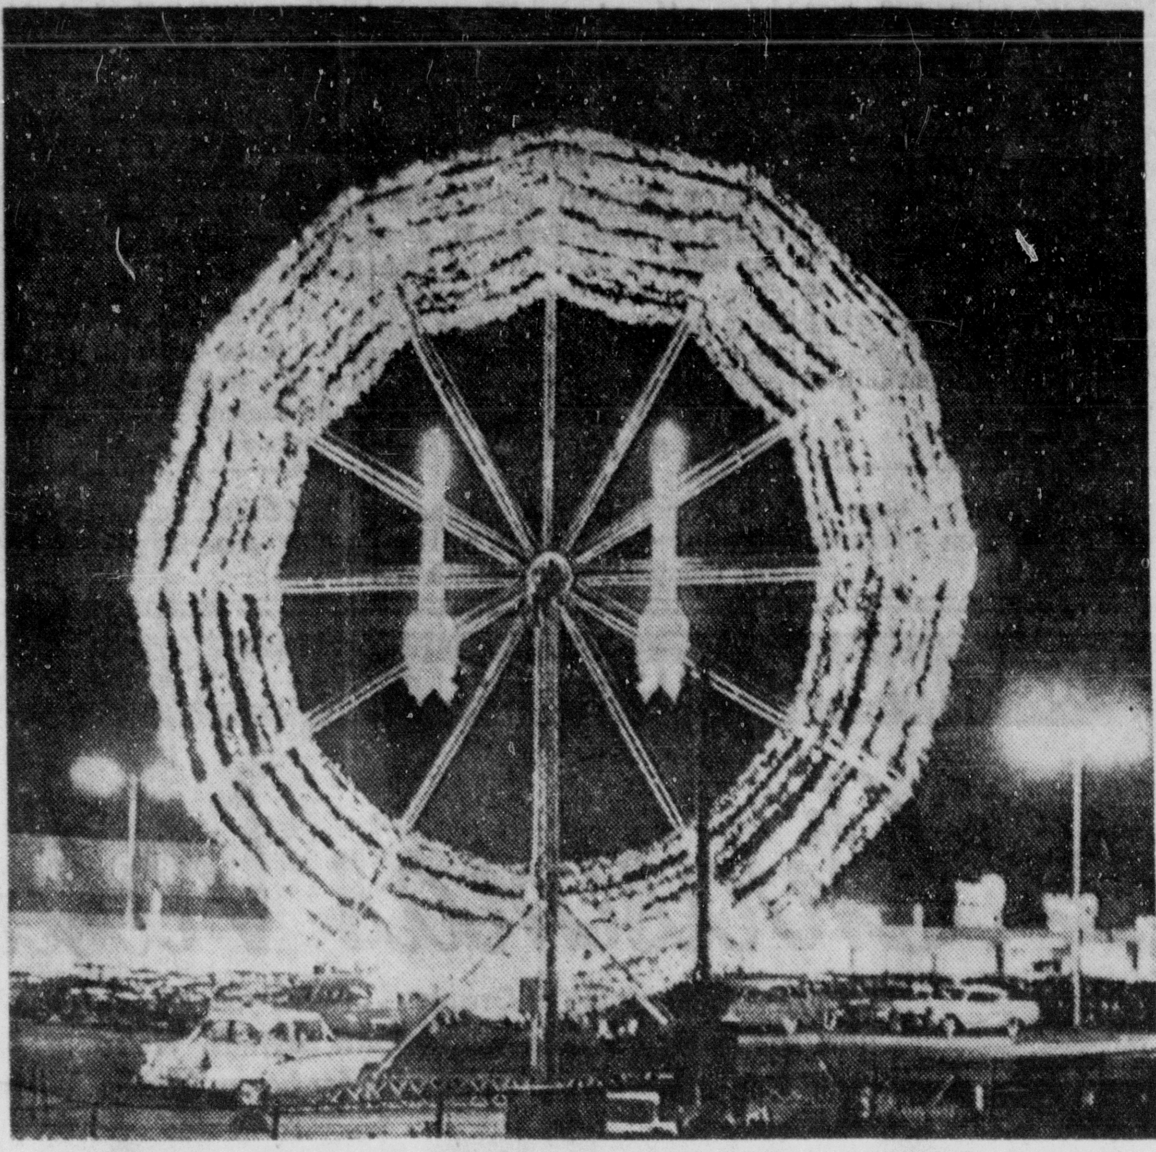
Councilman Daniel Allen commented that it was the right of the people to come to meetings, but it wasn't the council's job "to push people into coming here. If they have confidence enough to put us in here to do a good job, and don't complain, I think we should be very happy with the situation.

"If you want to set up a program to educate people, fine, but not at formal meetings," Allen said.

Councilmen had an offer of assistance from a Larkspur citizen last night—one of the things Lienkaemper was striving for in his proposals. Architect Michael Kaplan of 38 Millard Road wrote that he would like to contribute to Larkspur's growth and future development, and offered his services to the community in any way he could be of value.

He said he would be willing to serve on the planning commission or as an adviser to that commission. He suggested the city consider forming an architectural advisory committee such as Mill Valley has.

His letter was referred to the planning commission. Lienkaemper said it was "the kind of letter we need to get once in a while."



FERRIS WHEEL PROVIDES A WREATH

Cold weather stopped recreational facilities at an Asheville, N.C., shopping center. The naked frame of a 60-foot ferris wheel, left behind for the winter, bothered some merchants. So they decked it out as a Christmas wreath with 1,000 lights and four huge candles. (AP Wirephoto)

Special Meeting Set On Sewer Expansion

Final acceptance of plans and specifications for enlargement of the Ross Valley Sanitary District plant is expected at a special meeting of the district board at 8 p.m. Dec. 21 at 11 Library Place, San Anselmo.

Manager Ralph C. Noah said today that discussion at a regular meeting last night progressed to such a point that the special meeting was decided on in an effort to bring the matter to conclusion.

Mill Valley Can't Act To Tone Down Carillon

Mill Valley Mayor Robert D. Huber last night told petitioners for cessation of the carillon on the Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. that the city has no ordinance under which it could act upon the matter.

"If you want to, "he suggested," climb on the roof and pull the carillon down at your own risk. The law entitles you to do this."

He also said petitioners might consult the district attorney's office or file civil action in court.

Mrs. Dorothy Blonder, who initiated the petitions, told the council: "two years ago a man moved to Muir Woods to be in a quiet place. Then a man put a loudspeaker on his roof nearby. The first man took a shotgun and shot it off."

That's the abatement if you want to take the risk," said Huber.

Mrs. Blonder said "anyone could put anything like this on their roof and no one could do anything about it." She asked if the council were considering or would consider an ordinance to abate noise-making a public nuisances.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said any such ordinance would not be retroactive. He said it would have to also forbid church bells, school bells or any other medium that produces sound.

Councilman George Blackwell said Clay Underhill at the Mill Valley office of the loan company had promised the loudspeaker would be discontinued if there appeared to be a sufficient protest.

The Statue of Liberty was first proposed by Edouard de Laboulaye, who ran a United States office of war information in Paris during the Civil War.

'COMPLAINT LOG'

Larkspur Will Try Public Interest Idea

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to try out some of councilman James T. Lienkaemper's proposals for encouraging more public participation in city government.

The idea of a "complaint log" will be given a month's trial. City Manager Ronald E. Piper will keep a tabulation of the number and type of complaints from citizens.

Piper agreed to do this, but was skeptical about the idea. He pointed out it would take considerable time and work. "I can't see it serves any real advantage," he said.

Lienkaemper urged that the council should plan an agenda for its next meeting, before it adjourns, for the benefit of the Independent-Journal and other media in writing advance stories. Councilmen agreed.

Lienkaemper's proposal to send post card notices to a portion of registered voters, inviting them to attend council meetings, was not received with enthusiasm. Councilman Neil Brixon said it would add expense for the city. Brixon said the council should rely on stories in the Independent-Journal to get people to meetings.

Lienkaemper also suggested that a portion of meetings, perhaps once in two months, be devoted to presentations on selected municipal topics. Piper objected and said department heads should not be asked to do any more than they are now doing.

Some councilmen said such presentations might better be left to special meetings, rather than regular ones where the agenda was usually full.

Lienkaemper said councilmen could take turns planning such discussions for meetings. He agreed to come up with a suggestion for the first one.

Councilman Daniel Allen commented that it was the right of the people to come to meetings, but it wasn't the council's job "to push people into coming here. If they have confidence enough to put us in here to do a good job, and don't complain, I think we should be very happy with the situation.

"If you want to set up a program to educate people, fine, but not at formal meetings," Allen said.

Councilmen had an offer of assistance from a Larkspur citizen last night—one of the things Lienkaemper was striving for in his proposals. Architect Michael Kaplan of 38 Millard Road wrote that he would like to contribute to Larkspur's growth and future development, and offered his services to the community in any way he could be of value.

He said he would be willing to serve on the planning commission or as an adviser to that commission. He suggested the city consider forming an architectural advisory committee such as Mill Valley has.

His letter was referred to the planning commission. Lienkaemper said it was "the kind of letter we need to get once in a while."

FERRIS WHEEL PROVIDES A WREATH

Cold weather stopped recreational facilities at an Asheville, N.C., shopping center. The naked frame of a 60-foot ferris wheel, left behind for the winter, bothered some merchants. So they decked it out as a Christmas wreath with 1,000 lights and four huge candles. (AP Wirephoto)

Special Meeting Set On Sewer Expansion

Final acceptance of plans and specifications for enlargement of the Ross Valley Sanitary District plant is expected at a special meeting of the district board at 8 p.m. Dec. 21 at 11 Library Place, San Anselmo.

Manager Ralph C. Noah said today that discussion at a regular meeting last night progressed to such a point that the special meeting was decided on in an effort to bring the matter to conclusion.

Mill Valley Can't Act To Tone Down Carillon

Mill Valley Mayor Robert D. Huber last night told petitioners for cessation of the carillon on the Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. that the city has no ordinance under which it could act upon the matter.

"If you want to, "he suggested," climb on the roof and pull the carillon down at your own risk. The law entitles you to do this."

He also said petitioners might consult the district attorney's office or file civil action in court.

Mrs. Dorothy Blonder, who initiated the petitions, told the council: "two years ago a man moved to Muir Woods to be in a quiet place. Then a man put a loudspeaker on his roof nearby. The first man took a shotgun and shot it off."

That's the abatement if you want to take the risk," said Huber.

Mrs. Blonder said "anyone could put anything like this on their roof and no one could do anything about it." She asked if the council were considering or would consider an ordinance to abate noise-making a public nuisances.

City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said any such ordinance would not be retroactive. He said it would have to also forbid church bells, school bells or any other medium that produces sound.

FIRE DESTROYS STORAGE SHED

San Rafael firemen are shown battling a blaze last night which destroyed a storage shed in rear of 1436 Lincoln Avenue. The occupant of the house, Mrs. Sue Schall, said she had been in the shed yesterday afternoon to get some Christmas decorations and locked the door when she left. The shed went up in flames at 7:22 p.m. Damage was estimated at $700. The house is owned by William Sandin of Daly City. (Bert Howell photo)

Larkspur Votes Annexation Of Bon Air Road Addition

Larkspur City Council last night approved annexation of the Bon Air Road addition—The uninhabited area extending north along Corte Madera Creek from the Larkspur City limits on the southwest side of Bon Air Hill to about the Marin General Hospital property.

Action was taken after a public hearing on the proposal. No objection was made.

Greenbrae developer Niels Schultz Jr. told the council the property would be most suited for medical offices. Hospital officials have mentioned that many doctors would like to locate in the area, he said.

The property "lends itself to development of the highest character," he said.

The council also:

1. Postponed rezoning of the Garden Spot Nursery to March 1.
2. Confirmed the appointment of John Pagliaro as fireman. He has served a six-month probationary period.
3. Reappointed John Barry to the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District board for a two-year term.
4. Postponed acceptance of a portion of Olive Avenue into the city-maintained system of streets until councilmen take a look at improvements made.
5. Approved a resolution of appreciation to former Mayor H. H. ("Steve") Wheeler for his services as councilman and mayor from April 18, 1950, to Sept. 7, 1960, and expressed wishes for his future success. Wheeler left Larkspur for a new position in the Los Angeles area.
6. Tabled for future discussion a letter concerning organization of a committee to study overall county water supply problems.
7. Referred to the city attorney and city manager a letter from George X. Kohler of 33 West Baltimore Avenue, protesting the encroachment of a city sewer line on his property. City Managar Ronald E. Piper said he thought the line was put in in 1914, and is there by prescriptive right after this length of time.
8. Approved payment of bills totaling $21,324.96.

MILL VALLEY'S MEMORY LANE

City Hall 'Mortgage' Burned In Ceremony

Adolph Eberhard burned a photostatic copy of the 39th and last paid bond in the mortgage of Mill Valley's city hall last night in a ceremony which lasted 30 minutes before the city council and an unusually well-filled auditorium.

Eberhard, who is 94, and lives at 183 Molino Avenue, was a city councilman in 1935, when the mortgage was approved. He was the first man to hold the title of mayor in Mill Valley. Previously the town's chief executive was president of the board of trustees.

He said, prior to lighting the bond from a candle and dropping it into a waste basket:

"I'm glad to be able to be here. . . . we thought the old building would fall down before we got the new one ready."

City Treasurer William G. Rutherford, conducting the ceremony, said a photostatic copy of the bond was used since City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said the real mortgage must stay in the city archives.

Rutherford introduced distinguished Mill Valley senior citizens T. Fred Bagshaw, 1935 councilman and now assistant director of public works for California; Ralph Tieman, 1936 councilman and a former mayor and Col. William A. Hamilton, 1936 councilman. He also introduced Vincent Maggiora of Sausalito, builder of the city hall. Each man spoke briefly and was applauded loudly.

Mayor Robert D. Huber told the guests, "It is a pleasure to have all you gentlemen back" and introduced the visitors to the council.

There wre 30 $1,000 bonds, Rutherford said, paid off over 25 years with an interest of 2¾ per cent. Matching funds were given by the Federal Public Works Administration. Cost of the building was $53,748.

Employees who were with the city at the time the city hall was approved, Rutherford said, included Henry Fostine, superintendent of streets; Capt. Joe Canet of the police department, and Fire Chief Leslie Armager, all of whom still work for the city.

Man Arrested For Bogus Checks

San Rafael police yesterday arrested Harold Lee Burr of 139 Ross Street, San Rafael, on a charge of passing eight worthless checks totaling $139 during the last two months.

The 28-year-old maintenance man was arrested at his home by Police Officer Thomas Cheetham and booked in the county jail where he was held today in lieu of $1,050 bail. He was to enter a plea in Marin County Muncipal Court at 1:30 p.m. today.

Police accused Burr of passing bad checks in San Rafael at the Tamalpais Market, C & T Meats and United Markets. He is also charged with passing a worthless $30 check at Thrifty Drugs in Corte Madera.

Average State Teacher Gets $37 Per Day

SACRAMENTO (CNS) —The average school teacher in California is receiving about $37 per day in salary.

This was deduced from a report of the California Teachers Assn., in the latest publication of its journal, which showed the average salary for teachers in California was $6,513 during the 1960-61 year.

"Although the approximate average of $6,513 represents one of the highest average teacher salaries in the United States, the increased amount that California teachers receive is only slightly more than the rise in the cost of living," the CTA said.

The CTA report showed salary gains of $394 a year for junior college instructors, for an average of $7,792; a gain of $232 for high school teachers, for an average of $6,940; and $178 for elementary teachers, for an average of $6,185.

Minimum requirements of the department of education, in apportioning state funds for support of school districts, are for 175 days of school a year.

Thus, the average junior college instructor would receive about $45 per day or $5.70 per hour. The average pay for high school teachers would be $39 a day or $4.95 an hour.

Elementary teachers, lowest paid of the group, would receive about $35 a day or $4.40 an hour.

Belvedere Land Deal Gets Another Airing

Two members of the Belvedere City Council and the planning commission chairman met with the Belvedere Land Co. last night to discuss the council's proposals to acquire the firm's waterfront property by condemnation.

Outcome was that the land company will hold up construction of two-story apartments for 30-days, pending an appraisal of the property.

After lengthy discussion, developer David Allen reported "this land is not for sale" and said he was not interested in a $1,000 per front foot figure. No other price was mentioned.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins reported the committee decided to appoint an appraiser "to give an impartial appraisal before any further action." The city council has already instructed City Atty. William H. MacKay to proceed with condemnation proceedings "as a measure toward getting a figure on the cost of the waterfront," Watkins said.

The committee, composed of Watkins, Councilman John H. Flint and planning commission chairman George Goddard, set up the meeting to see if a firm price could be set, Watkins said.

The property in question is the 500 feet on the cove side of Beach Road. The developers plan to leave 330 feet open.

"Purchase of the 500 feet is an unjustified burden on Belvedere taxpayers to secure the extra 180 feet," Allen said. The property has been owned by the Belvedere Land Co. since the 1880s.

Developers Howard, David Allen and Harry B. Allen and E. Russell Rice attended the meeting.

He said, prior to lighting the bond from a candle and dropping it into a waste basket:

"I'm glad to be able to be here. . . . we thought the old building would fall down before we got the new one ready."

City Treasurer William G. Rutherford, conducting the ceremony, said a photostatic copy of the bond was used since City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson said the real mortgage must stay in the city archives.

Rutherford introduced distinguished Mill Valley senior citizens T. Fred Bagshaw, 1935 councilman and now assistant director of public works for California; Ralph Tieman, 1936 councilman and a former mayor and Col. William A. Hamilton, 1936 councilman. He also introduced Vincent Maggiora of Sausalito, builder of the city hall. Each man spoke briefly and was applauded loudly.

Mayor Robert D. Huber told the guests, "It is a pleasure to have all you gentlemen back" and introduced the visitors to the council.

There wre 30 $1,000 bonds, Rutherford said, paid off over 25 years with an interest of 2¾ per cent. Matching funds were given by the Federal Public Works Administration. Cost of the building was $53,748.

Employees who were with the city at the time the city hall was approved, Rutherford said, included Henry Fostine, superintendent of streets; Capt. Joe Canet of the police department, and Fire Chief Leslie Armager, all of whom still work for the city.

Man Arrested For Bogus Checks

San Rafael police yesterday arrested Harold Lee Burr of 139 Ross Street, San Rafael, on a charge of passing eight worthless checks totaling $139 during the last two months.

The 28-year-old maintenance man was arrested at his home by Police Officer Thomas Cheetham and booked in the county jail where he was held today in lieu of $1,050 bail. He was to enter a plea in Marin County Muncipal Court at 1:30 p.m. today.

Police accused Burr of passing bad checks in San Rafael at the Tamalpais Market, C & T Meats and United Markets. He is also charged with passing a worthless $30 check at Thrifty Drugs in Corte Madera.

Average State Teacher Gets $37 Per Day

SACRAMENTO (CNS) —The average school teacher in California is receiving about $37 per day in salary.

This was deduced from a report of the California Teachers Assn., in the latest publication of its journal, which showed the average salary for teachers in California was $6,513 during the 1960-61 year.

"Although the approximate average of $6,513 represents one of the highest average teacher salaries in the United States, the increased amount that California teachers receive is only slightly more than the rise in the cost of living," the CTA said.

The CTA report showed salary gains of $394 a year for junior college instructors, for an average of $7,792; a gain of $232 for high school teachers, for an average of $6,940; and $178 for elementary teachers, for an average of $6,185.

Minimum requirements of the department of education, in apportioning state funds for support of school districts, are for 175 days of school a year.

Thus, the average junior college instructor would receive about $45 per day or $5.70 per hour. The average pay for high school teachers would be $39 a day or $4.95 an hour.

Elementary teachers, lowest paid of the group, would receive about $35 a day or $4.40 an hour.

Belvedere Land Deal Gets Another Airing

Two members of the Belvedere City Council and the planning commission chairman met with the Belvedere Land Co. last night to discuss the council's proposals to acquire the firm's waterfront property by condemnation.

Outcome was that the land company will hold up construction of two-story apartments for 30-days, pending an appraisal of the property.

After lengthy discussion, developer David Allen reported "this land is not for sale" and said he was not interested in a $1,000 per front foot figure. No other price was mentioned.

Mayor Robert P. Watkins reported the committee decided to appoint an appraiser "to give an impartial appraisal before any further action." The city council has already instructed City Atty. William H. MacKay to proceed with condemnation proceedings "as a measure toward getting a figure on the cost of the waterfront," Watkins said.

The committee, composed of Watkins, Councilman John H. Flint and planning commission chairman George Goddard, set up the meeting to see if a firm price could be set, Watkins said.

The property in question is the 500 feet on the cove side of Beach Road. The developers plan to leave 330 feet open.

"Purchase of the 500 feet is an unjustified burden on Belvedere taxpayers to secure the extra 180 feet," Allen said. The property has been owned by the Belvedere Land Co. since the 1880s.

Developers Howard, David Allen and Harry B. Allen and E. Russell Rice attended the meeting.

Larkspur Rejects Bids For Road As Too High

Larkspur City Council last night rejected the five bids it received for the extension of Doherty Drive to Redwood High School because they were above estimates for the project.

The lowest bid, $51,697.95 by Le Raucci of Pittsburg, was about $4,000 higher than estimates of City Engineer John C. Oglesby, and $5,000 more than budgeted funds. The other four bids ranged as high as $59,713.

Oglesby will analyze the bids received and make a report to the council. He said if the city readvertised to open bids in February it might get a better price.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper noted the city would have to have approval from the State Division of Highways before it could award a contract on a bid above the engineer's estimate. He recommended rejection of all bids.

The city and Tamalpais Union High School district have agreed to share in cost of the extension of the road to the school.

Increasing cloudiness was predicted for California's extreme north tomorrow as a strong storm system was charted 1,100 miles west of Seattle, moving toward the northeast.

Mill Valley Planning Commissioner Robert W. Graver resigned last night, effective Dec. 31, pleading "press of business" as the reason.

Graver has served on the commission since 1951.

The resignation was presented to the city council last night, but the council took no action because the planning commission has not received it.

Mayor Robert D. Huber reappointed A. A. Hemmerling, planning commission chairman and commissioner William Secor to the commission. Hemmerling has served on the commission since June, 1958, and Secor since August, 1958.

SUIT

Rafael, and William and Dorothy Kuperus of San Rafael.

According to the suit, the city and its agents ignited weeds and debris along Fair Drive last Aug. 4. in "controlled burning." The suit charges that the city and its agents carelessly allowed the fire to spread onto tree covered property. The land was worth $100,000, but with trees and vegetation burned off, it is worth only one-half, the suit alleges.

Kuperus charges that the same fire consumed his shed, fence and trees and shrubs to the tune of $15,000 damages. He said his home and lot, worth $45,000, depreciated to $30,000 after the fire.

Hearing On Cost Of Drugs Opened

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The Assembly Interim Committee on Social Welfare opened a two-day hearing today on the costs of drugs in connection with the state welfare program.

Assemblyman Phillip A. Burton (D-San Francisco) said a survey recently taken "clearly shows there is not a pattern of drug price fixing" in California. He did not say who conducted the survey. A federal grand jury, which just concluded its own report said there has been price fixing by pharmacists in San Francisco and other sections of Northern California.

Mother Says Son, 17, Tried To Kill Her

A 17-year-old Santa Venetia youth, accused by his mother of trying to kill her with a gun, was jailed last night on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, battery, and resisting sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Toll of 13 Mabry Way called frantically for help about 9:30 p.m. Deputy Sheriff Arthur Wiggins found her standing at the door. She pointed to the youth and said he had tried to kill her with a gun. The house was in disarray.

Wiggins asked for the gun, and Mrs. Toll pointed to the bedroom. Wiggins said he started toward the bedroom, and the youth struck out at him. He and fellow deputies, Robert Bertrand and Ted Hughes, handcuffed the youth and took him to jail. The boy was later transferred to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Mrs. Toll told investigators her son had argued with her over one of his girl friends.

know—how long does it take for local and military units to react to a phone call telling them a plane is down.

It also was aimed at getting the word to civilians that there is very little chance of a nuclear explosion, even through a nuclear-loaded bomber or fighter crashes, Air Force spokesmen say.

The exercise was aimed at being semi-secret. Top officials in military and civilian agencies and newspaper reporters had been told of the exact time and place of the test. Fire fighters, law enforcement men and Hamilton personnel were told only that it would be this week in the county.

But word had leaked out. The time and place was conversation at the county court house in San Rafael. The Novato Advance, twice-weekly paper in Novato, yesterday published the fact that the alert would be today in downtown Novato, saying that the fact had been "bandied about."

An Air Force truck arrived at the field at 10:01 a.m. to set up the alert. At 10:15 a sheriff's car drove by, and again at 10:20 a.m. A highway patrol car drove by at 10:23 a.m.

At 10:30 a.m., T/Sgt. Robert Kraft, from the Hamilton bomb disposal section, made a phone call to the base. He did not give his name, but only told the operator that a plane had crashed in a simulated alert.

She switched him to men who asked where and what type. At 10:33 a.m., the smoke flares were lighted. At 10:37 a.m., sheriff's deputy Harold Goerndt arrived. Highway patrolmen arrived later.

At 10:46 a.m., sirens at the local fire station went off and firemen raced to the scene minutes later. The Hamilton convoy arrived at 11:03 a.m.

Larkspur Rejects Bids For Road As Too High

Larkspur City Council last night rejected the five bids it received for the extension of Doherty Drive to Redwood High School because they were above estimates for the project.

The lowest bid, $51,697.95 by Le Raucci of Pittsburg, was about $4,000 higher than estimates of City Engineer John C. Oglesby, and $5,000 more than budgeted funds. The other four bids ranged as high as $59,713.

Oglesby will analyze the bids received and make a report to the council. He said if the city readvertised to open bids in February it might get a better price.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper noted the city would have to have approval from the State Division of Highways before it could award a contract on a bid above the engineer's estimate. He recommended rejection of all bids.

The city and Tamalpais Union High School district have agreed to share in cost of the extension of the road to the school.

Increasing cloudiness was predicted for California's extreme north tomorrow as a strong storm system was charted 1,100 miles west of Seattle, moving toward the northeast.

The lowest temperatures of the season hit the citrus belt in the southern San Joaquin Valley today but first reports indicated little damage.

The official temperature in Fresno was 28 degrees and most of the valley was within two or three degrees of that figure. Frost was general in the Bay Area.

Mayor Robert D. Huber reappointed A. A. Hemmerling, planning commission chairman and commissioner William Secor to the commission. Hemmerling has served on the commission since June, 1958, and Secor since August, 1958.

Rafael, and William and Dorothy Kuperus of San Rafael.

According to the suit, the city and its agents ignited weeds and debris along Fair Drive last Aug. 4. in "controlled burning." The suit charges that the city and its agents carelessly allowed the fire to spread onto tree covered property. The land was worth $100,000, but with trees and vegetation burned off, it is worth only one-half, the suit alleges.

Kuperus charges that the same fire consumed his shed, fence and trees and shrubs to the tune of $15,000 damages. He said his home and lot, worth $45,000, depreciated to $30,000 after the fire.

Hearing On Cost Of Drugs Opened

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —The Assembly Interim Committee on Social Welfare opened a two-day hearing today on the costs of drugs in connection with the state welfare program.

Assemblyman Phillip A. Burton (D-San Francisco) said a survey recently taken "clearly shows there is not a pattern of drug price fixing" in California. He did not say who conducted the survey. A federal grand jury, which just concluded its own report said there has been price fixing by pharmacists in San Francisco and other sections of Northern California.

Mother Says Son, 17, Tried To Kill Her

A 17-year-old Santa Venetia youth, accused by his mother of trying to kill her with a gun, was jailed last night on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon, battery, and resisting sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Toll of 13 Mabry Way called frantically for help about 9:30 p.m. Deputy Sheriff Arthur Wiggins found her standing at the door. She pointed to the youth and said he had tried to kill her with a gun. The house was in disarray.

Wiggins asked for the gun, and Mrs. Toll pointed to the bedroom. Wiggins said he started toward the bedroom, and the youth struck out at him. He and fellow deputies, Robert Bertrand and Ted Hughes, handcuffed the youth and took him to jail. The boy was later transferred to Marin Juvenile Hall.

Mrs. Toll told investigators her son had argued with her over one of his girl friends.

know—how long does it take for local and military units to react to a phone call telling them a plane is down.

It also was aimed at getting the word to civilians that there is very little chance of a nuclear explosion, even through a nuclear-loaded bomber or fighter crashes, Air Force spokesmen say.

The exercise was aimed at being semi-secret. Top officials in military and civilian agencies and newspaper reporters had been told of the exact time and place of the test. Fire fighters, law enforcement men and Hamilton personnel were told only that it would be this week in the county.

But word had leaked out. The time and place was conversation at the county court house in San Rafael. The Novato Advance, twice-weekly paper in Novato, yesterday published the fact that the alert would be today in downtown Novato, saying that the fact had been "bandied about."

An Air Force truck arrived at the field at 10:01 a.m. to set up the alert. At 10:15 a sheriff's car drove by, and again at 10:20 a.m. A highway patrol car drove by at 10:23 a.m.

At 10:30 a.m., T/Sgt. Robert Kraft, from the Hamilton bomb disposal section, made a phone call to the base. He did not give his name, but only told the operator that a plane had crashed in a simulated alert.

She switched him to men who asked where and what type. At 10:33 a.m., the smoke flares were lighted. At 10:37 a.m., sheriff's deputy Harold Goerndt arrived. Highway patrolmen arrived later.

At 10:46 a.m., sirens at the local fire station went off and firemen raced to the scene minutes later. The Hamilton convoy arrived at 11:03 a.m.

READY FOR THE PARADE—Marin newspaperboys will see Mickey and Minnie Mouse, king-size, haul an animated float of giant toy cavalrymen, when they visit Disneyland late this month. The float will be part of the "Parade of Toys" being featured at Disneyland from Christmas to New Year's Day.

Newspaperboys To See New Disneyland Parade

About 40 Independent-Journal newspaperboys will view an added attraction between Christmas and New Year's when they visit Disneyland as a bonus they have earned on their I-J routes.

This year Disney artisans have created 118 huge animated toys — performing wooden soldiers, clowns, trains, dolls, jack-in-the-boxes — ranging in height from six to 12 feet. They will be featured daily in the "Parade of Toys" through Disneyland streets every day from Christmas to New Year's Day.

The boys and several advisors will fly to the Southland on Dec. 29 on United Airlines, returning that same night on a jet flight. They earned the flight by piling up sufficient points in circulation and service competitions.

The toy parade gets its preview on Sunday, Dec. 18 in the "Parade of All Nations" in which 3,000 costumed performers, dressed in the holiday manner of 31 nations will enact yuletide customs from nations around the world.

The toys will include the unique animated "mouse trap band," giant knights on horseback, toy cavalry troops, Disney characters such as Mickey and Minnie Mouse, the Mad Hatter, Chip and Dale, and of course, a Disney-style Santa Claus sleigh and eight comic reindeer.

Laundry Machine Thief Caught In San Francisco

Nicholas Demira, 39, an expert laundry machine thief from San Jose, just can't stay away from his "trade" long enough to keep his court records straight.

He and Jack Pavlich, 43, broke into automatic laundry esablishments in Novato and in San Anselmo last February and drilled small holes into the machines to trip the coin levers. Sheriff's deputies and San Anselmo police said the men would then fill the tiny holes with putty so that the holes were almost invisible. They were caught and are scheduled to appear in Marin Superior Court on Monday for sentencing for burglary.

But Demira could not wait. He was caught again this week for drilling the same type of hole in a laundry machine in San Francisco, using the same type of fine drill, according to Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio of San Anselmo police. Demira was free on $5,250 bail when caught in San Francisco over the weekend.

Work Starts On $200,000, 21-Unit Apartment Building

Piles are being driven at 600 Canal Street in San Rafael as start on construction of a $200,000 21-unit apartment building.

The apartment is being built by a syndicate. Jim Hamm of 30 Beach Road, Belvedere, has put up one of eight equal $8,700 shares as well as arranging lot purchase, financing and plans. D. Hugh Gregory Coleman of San Rafael is designer, and D. M. Christensen of San Rafael, contractor.

The apartments will be of 750 to 1,000 square feet each with upstairs bedrooms, living rooms two stories high, with full glass panels viewing the canal and Mount Tamalpais.

A large pool is provided and each resident will have both parking and docking facilities. Rents will start at $125 monthly.

Operation of the syndicate is on a pattern developed in the eastern United States. After contruction the building is rented through a local real estate firm for six months to a year, after which it is sold, the shareholders dividing rent income and treating sales profit for tax purposes as long-term capital gain.

New Fishing, Boating Spots To Be Sought

Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission will meet with state officials to see what new boating and fishing spots can be opened in Marin County.

The commission decided at yesterday's meeting that a representative of the State Wildlife Conservation Board would be invited to the next meeting, scheduled for Jan. 4. The Marin County commission meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 2 p.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Mrs. Wayne Tharp, secretary of the commission, reported the February meeting will be devoted to discussing possibilities of encouraging private recreation areas. Officials from various chambers of commerce in the county will be invited to give their ideas on how private capital can be encouraged to set up recreational facilities.

The former Tiburon Naval Net Depot area on Paradise Drive, purchased by the county, is being cleaned up for opening to the public as soon as possible, Mrs. Tharp said. The area would be ideal for picnicking and fishing.

WEISSICH HIT WITH TICKET AND HE PAYS

Former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich walked out of Marin Municipal Court yesterday after being assessed $40 for refusal to pay two parking tickets issued to "Mr. and Mrs." and found another identical ticket on the windshield of his car.

Weissich walked right back into the courthouse and paid the $1 for overparking.

"After all," he said, "I have my test case going now, and I don't want to experiment further at $20 a throw."

Judge Leonard A. Thomas ruled against Weissich's contention that it is illegal to tag "Mr. and/or Mrs." for overparking where a car is registered jointly to husband and wife.

He assessed $20 fine on each of two parking violations on which Weissich had refused to pay up.

Weissich promptly served notice of appeal.

New Unity Plan Proposed To Protestants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A different approach to church unity than actual merger—with any new church responsible over a mile radius for all Protestants no matter what their church — was projected today before the National Council of Churches.

Rev. Lemuel Petersen, in a speech prepared for delivery to a panel of the 40-million-member council's general assembly, said that such an experiment is being proposed for the greater Seattle, Wash., Council of Churches, of which he is executive secretary.

Sharing interest with the unity discussions were two important items of council business—adoption of a policy message to be sent to the council's 144,000 churches and choice of a new president.

It was expected that J. Irwin Miller, a multi-millionaire Columbus, Ind., industrialist, will be elected president of the council today. He would be the first layman to head the interdenominational body.

Rev. Petersen told an education group: "It is being proposed in our area that henceforth when new churches are established that they take parish responsibility for all the residents within a mile radius whether they belong to that church or not—or will ever belong."

The next cycle of sunspots is expected in 1968.

Sanitary District Cost To Be Given

Costs to residents of Hawthorne Terrace for joining the Richardson Bay Sanitary District are being worked out by district engineer J. Warren Nute and will be presented at the district board's Jan. 16 meeting, secretary Samuel A. Fletcher said today.

At an adjourned meeting Monday night, the board approved an $8,340 contract with the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District for processing of raw sewage for Richardson Bay District.

A contract was signed, Fletcher said, with developers of the Southridge subdivision for sewer construction.

'FIRST, LET'S TAKE HIS KEYS'— Beline (Dona Fry) goes through Argan's (Don Staiton's) pockets while Toinette (Lynn Farmer) looks on. This is a scene from Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid," which opens a three-night run tonight at College of Marin. (Pete Tarzian photo)

'The Imaginary Invalid' Opens Here Tonight

"The Imaginary Invalid," Jean Moliere's three-act comedy-ballet, will open tonight at 8 o'clock in Room 61 of the College of Marin Art Building.

The play, presented by the college drama department, will be repeated at the same hour tomorrow and Saturday.

In the title role of Argan, an egotistical hypochondriac who imagines himself to have all sorts of illnesses, will be Don Staiton, who has been active in the theater for 12 years and appeared in several productions of the San Diego Starlight Opera.

Sharing the spotlight with the players will be four members of the Mill Valley Recorder Society, headed by Leo E. Christiansen, playing the original music composed to accompany the "The Imaginary Invalid" by M. A. Charpentier.

Playing the recorders — instruments that were in wide use whne Moliere wrote his comedy in 1673—will be Christiansen, Sophie Hood, Margaret Duncan Green and Rita Goodman.

The play will be presented "in the round," to capture the atmosphere of the theater of Moliere's time.

Members of the cast, besides Staiton, include Dona Fry, past president of the Redwood High School Drama Club, as Argan's wife Beline; Lynn Farmer as Tointee, Teddy Prickett as Angelique, John Gibson as Fleurant, John Hartnett as Donnefoi, Ralph McGlothlen as Cleante, Sonny Nestlehut as Diaforus, Hampton Hoge as Thomas Diaforus, Vivian Olds as Louison and Bonnie Lee as Beralde.

Irene Clark is director. Betty Smith is in charge of costumes; Linda Sutherland and John Gibson, properties; Judi Tipaldo, makeup, and Dave Satter, Dan White and Gary Miles, stagecraft and lighting.

Teener's Testimony Links Pair To Death Of Ex-U.C. Athlete

UKIAH (AP) — Sheriff Reno Bartolomie issued a murder warrant for an 18-year-old brunette last night and added another elements to what authorities believe is a string of murders from here to Florida.

The girl, Mary Catherine Hampton, of Sandy Hook, Ky., was in Gooding, Ida. testifying at the trial of Rodger Hall, 22, of Crescent City. Hall and Emmett Spencer, 29, of Sandy Hook, are charged in Gooding with the slaying of Dr. John Hunt Jr., 37, a pathologist from Portland, Ore.

But Spencer was at Raiford, Fla., sentenced to die for the murder of John T. Keen, 56, a Key West, Fla., shipyard worker, last April 14.

Bartolomie got into the picture because Spencer and Miss Hampton are suspected of murdering Perry Ten Eyck, 51, of Whittier, near Ukiah in August, 1959.

Bartolomie flew to Raiford to talk to Spencer and, on his return here, said Spencer told him of involvements in some 23 killings around the country.

"I've never heard of anything like this guy," Bartholomie said last night.

"Spencer has no feeling or emotion for anything except a 12year-old boy of his back in Kentucky.

"He readily admitted the Ten Eyck murder," Bartolomie said, "and then he told me, 'Bastards like me don't deserve to live.

" 'I hope they don't abolish the death penalty.

" 'I'd just as soon die in the electric chair in Florida as the gas chamber in California.' "

Bartolomie said Spencer told him that he and Miss Hampton were hitchhiking north to nearby Crescent City Aug. 15, 1959, when Ten Eyck, a former University of California basketball star, gave them a ride near Pasadena. Ten Eyck was on his way from Whittier to Alameda to visit his former wife.

Bartolomie said Spencer and Miss Hampton decided to rob Ten Eyck and take his car. The big former athlete was pistol-whipped to death on a lonely mountain road near Ukiah.

Spencer told Bartolomie that they got Ten Eyck to continue north past Alameda when Miss Hampton made sexual advances to him.

Bartolomie said Miss Hampton met Rodger Hall a short time after that and, according to Spencer, the trio of the girl, Spencer and Hall killed Dr. Hunt on the desert near Gooding on Aug. 24, 1959.

The trio broke up and the girl and Spencer went south, Bartolomie said. Spencer and Miss Hampton were arrested in Florida. Hall was arrested in Southern California.

Spencer's confession in Florida led police to Hall. Spencer was convicted of the Key West murder and Miss Hampton was taken to Gooding, charged with Hunt's murder. The charges against her there were dropped, however, when she agreed to testify against Hall.

Sales Tax Deduction Tables To Be Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal taxpayers who claim deductions for state sales tax payments may get special help next year from Uncle Sam.

If the Internal Revenue Service adopts a plan now being considered, it will issue tables telling how much may reasonably be deducted for sales taxes in each state which has them.

Sales taxes currently are levied in 34 states and the District of Columbia.

Most taxpayers do not keep records of sales tax payments and IRS agents often are asked how large a deduction will be allowed. While the agency long has had rules of thumb to determine whether a sales tax deduction seems out of line, it never has had a national policy of giving out guidelines.

Last year, each district IRS office was allowed to decide whether to issue local guidelines or tables. These were issued in about 20 states.

It was understood the tables now being considered probably would be issued in all affected states or in none.

Reasonable deductions would be listed in these tables according to various income levels and family sizes. The tables would not take local sales taxes into account.

Yule Party Planned

The Tamalpais Valley Volunteer Firemen's Assn. will hold its Christmas party from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 18 at the firehouse for volunteers and their families.

Worthless Check Suspect Jailed

John Alfred Irons of 14 Sentinel Court, San Rafael, was booked in the Marin County Jail yesterday on a charge of passing worthless checks in Napa County.

He was arrested at his home about 12:45 a.m. by Police Officer Richard Douglas on a warrant from the Napa County sheriff's office. The 40-year-old Irons was accused of passing several ficticious checks for small amounts in the Napa area during October.

He was being held in lieu of $1,575 bail to be arraigned in Napa County Justice Court.

Brave Birds

BARNWELL, S. C. (AP)—The scarecrow hold no terror for a breed of crows that have been harassing farmers in this area. They have been ravaging crops daily. Farmers have had to turn to a battery of acetylene guns, rigged to shoot automatically at intervals. The din disrupts the quiet countryside and frightens the birds away.

Air Base Plans 'Operation Cheer' For Hospital

Men, women and children of Hamilton Air Force Base are going all out this year in "Operation Christmas Cheer" for patients at the Sonoma State Hospital at Eldridge.

Each unit will supply and decorate a Christmas tree for the ward it is sponsoring. Boy Scout Troop 27 is donating 20 Christmas trees and will decorate the hospital auditorium.

"Twenty-two cases of cruelty were successfully handled in court," Morse's report said, "We must express our appreciation to the district attorney and his staff for their cooperation."

"Our supervision of dog licensing has made it possible for more dogs to be licensed than ever before," the report stated. "A new control process, worked out jointly with the county auditor, tax collector, data processing bureau and the Humane Society, is soon to be copied by other counties."

President of the society is Frederic D. Kerr. Charles T. Lund and Mrs. Maurice A. Gale serve as vice presidents; Mrs. H. E. LeBas is treasurer.

The society's shelter is at 402 Third Street, San Rafael.

Novato Readies Bicycle Law

Novato city councilmen have approved introduction of an ordinance setting a 50-cent bicycle license requirement.

The license would stay with the bicycle, permanently attached. Bicycle dealers would be required to report transactions to city officials within 24 hours, in a move aimed at stopping thievery. Ownership transfer by others would have to be reported within 10 days.

The ordinance would outlaw more than one passenger on a single passenger bicycle, prohibit bikes being pulled by vehicles, require white headlights and red reflectors at night.

Penalties for violation run up to 30 days in jail and up to a $100 fine plus a maximum of 30-day suspension of bicycle riding privileges.

Air Base Plans 'Operation Cheer' For Hospital

Men, women and children of Hamilton Air Force Base are going all out this year in "Operation Christmas Cheer" for patients at the Sonoma State Hospital at Eldridge.

Twenty-four wards in the hospital are being sponsored by one or more groups of Hamiltonians, including Air Force units, wives' organizations and Boy Scout troop. Each sponsoring unit will give a ward party with individual gifts and an overall gift for the ward. Gifts range from hanging plants to radios, televisions, hi-fi sets, etc.

Each unit will supply and decorate a Christmas tree for the ward it is sponsoring. Boy Scout Troop 27 is donating 20 Christmas trees and will decorate the hospital auditorium.

The parties for "Operation Christmas Cheer" will be held Dec. 16, 17 and 18.

Brave Birds

BARNWELL, S. C. (AP)—The scarecrow hold no terror for a breed of crows that have been harassing farmers in this area. They have been ravaging crops daily. Farmers have had to turn to a battery of acetylene guns, rigged to shoot automatically at intervals. The din disrupts the quiet countryside and frightens the birds away.

Signal Lights Voted At School Crossing

The Mill Valley City Council last night unanimously authorized placing traffic signal lights at the intersection of East Blithedale and Elm Avenues for Park School.

City Manager A. E. Almcrants said two four-way lights will be installed, at a cost of approximately $4,000.

Chairman Robert H. Andresen of the Mill Valley School District board said that, under state law, the board could pay half of the installation cost. He said he recommended this at the board's Jan. 26 meeting.

The council also voted unanimously to authorize three stop signs on Elm and Alta Vista Avenues.

Park School Principal Glenn Skelton, reporting on the traffic officer hired three weeks ago to help safeguard pupils, said the officer is "working better than the youngsters' traffic control but the human element is still there." He urged the stop light.

The council also:

1. Decided to meet with Police Chief James P. McGowan early next year to get acquainted with some of the police department's problems and specifically to discuss the possibility of recruiting a second force of young reserve police officers and get information on radar traffic control. No date was set.

2. Called for bids to be opened Jan. 4 on remodeling of the bus depot restrooms. Cost of the work is estimated at $3,737. Almcrants suggested the city give someone a shoe shine concession at the depot in return for keeping restrooms clean.

3. Agreed to review the $36 a year business license fee for music teachers at a meeting Dec. 21. Several music teachers protested the fee as being out of line with other Marin cities, also claiming they are educators and not business men.

4. Accepted a bid of $4,389 from DeBeaubian Pontiac Co. for a dump truck for the street department.

5. Outlawed parking on the north side of Lower Alcatraz Lane.

6. By a 3-2 vote, amended the city manager ordinance to read that the city manager will employ, appoint and discharge all persons except the city attorney, city treasurer, city engineer, city auditor, city architect and city planning technician; exceptions to be employed by the city council. The existing ordinance reads that city manager employs all except attorney, treasurer and engineer. Mayor Robert D. Huber and Councilman George Blackwell voted against the change.

7. Introduced an amendment to the zoning ordinance to create a commercial-recreation-resort district.

8. Passed a resolution declaring as major city streets the section of Camino Alto between East Blithedale Avenue and the top of the Corte Madera Ridge, and Sycamore Avenue from Camino Alto to Highway 101.

9. Passed an ordinance creating a finance officer to replace the fiscal director, a position held by John Hoopingarner.

10. Approved payment of warrants totaling $83,458.

TV Guarantee

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A man convicted of rape asked the Oklahoma Court of Criminal Appeals to reverse his conviction. He said television cameras were forbidden to cover his trial, thus violating his constitutional guarantee of a public hearing.

Suspect Arrested On New Charge At Arraignment

Leroy T. McNutt, 26, of San Rafael appeared in Napa County Justice Court for arraignment on charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest Tuesday and was promptly arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

McNutt, of 1535 Second Street, pleaded innocent to both misdemeanor counts and reserved the right to plea on the felony assault charge until his preliminary hearing, which was set for 9 a.m. Dec. 15.

Napa County sheriff's deputies arrested McNutt on Nov. 26 after a brawl in a Napa dance hall. He was booked on resisting arrest and disturbing the peace and released on bail to appear Tuesday.

The next day, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Diane E. Stafford of 1130 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, signed a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon complaint against him.

Marin County sheriff's deputies almost captured him Sunday, but he leaped out a back window of a house at 1586 South Novato Boulevard and escaped.

SPEECHES AND HUMOR

Jensen Gets Sendoff At Farewell Dinner

Nearly 100 county employees and friends of Donald A. Jensen honored the resigned county administrator at a dinner last night in the Meadow Club, Fairfax.

Leland H. Jordan, recently resigned county counsel, was master of ceremonies. In an often humorous, sometimes serious speech, Jordan, who himself was honoree at such a dinner a few weeks ago, praised the work of the county's first administrator. Also taking note of numerous resignations in county government lately, he quipped that Supervisor Chairman Walter Castro is "going to sell season tickets" to the retirement banquets.

The kidding of Jensen, who will become executive officer of the State Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board, continued with the introduction of Benjamin Linsky, control officer of Bay Area Air Pollution Control District. Linsky gave Jensen a package of clothes pins "for your nose, from one stinker to another."

William Berzman presented the honoree with a large golden trophy declaring him an "All American" from his fellow Friday afternoon volleyball players.

More serious tribute was paid Jensen by four members of the county board of supervisors, with whom he has worked for nearly five years: Mrs. Vera Schultz, William Gnoss, James Marshall and Chairman Castro.

Castro, on behalf of the employees and officials of the county, presented Jensen with a leather briefcase.

Jensen responded with praise for his fellow workers and the "team effort" which had been able to make "fantastic achievements" in the last five years. He said the county was noted "in all fields" statewide and in some cases nationally because "our team has been working toward common goals," one of which was "the tremendous desire to make Marin the best county in the United States." He said he would never forget the experience and that although his new job takes him to Los Angeles to live, he and his wife are retaining their home here and plan eventually to return.

Mrs. Jensen, in an amusing talk, gave advice to Mrs. Alan Bruce, wife of the new county administrator. She said to be good to her husband Monday morning and on Tuesday night "put the children to bed early but don't plan dinner until 9 p.m.; don't talk, just be ready to listen." Tuesday is the day the supervisors meet.

The Jensens will not go south until after the first of the year. Meanwhile, he is doing some preliminary work in Berkeley. The board of which he is executive officer is charged with selecting effective attachments to prevent automobiles from polluting the air with their exhaust fumes.

Merger Of 2 Big Railroad Unions Urged

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—board of directors of two of the oldest railroad unions have approved a merger which would put 140,000 men under one banner, it was announced today.

The merger would join the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen. The action was announced in a joint statement by W. P. Kennedy, BRT president, and James A. Paddock, president of the ORCB.

The proposal will now be submitted to the membership for approval.

The BRT, which has 110,000 members, is one of the oldest railroad unions in the country, having been founded Sept. 23, 1883. The ORCB, with 30,000 members, was founded July 6, 1868.

The proposal was expected to be submitted to the membership early next year.

Justice Dept. Blasts Louisiana Race Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department today branded Louisiana's new package anti-integration laws as "plainly unconstitutional" and asked the Supreme Court to speed a ruling on them.

The department requested fast action because of what it termed the "serious predicament" of the school board in New Orleans, where a few Negro girls have been admitted to two formerly white schools.

In a memoradum filed with the court, the department said delay "might result in denial of the constitutional rights of the Negro children simply because of the board's inability to carry out its obligations and to continue to operate the schools."

It said that, until the high court rules, a "cloud" will remain on the board's authority to act.

Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion asked the Supreme Court yesterday to stay a federal court decision enjoining state officials from enforcing the anti-integration laws pending an appeal to the high court from the lower court's ruling.

Suspect Arrested On New Charge At Arraignment

Leroy T. McNutt, 26, of San Rafael appeared in Napa County Justice Court for arraignment on charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest Tuesday and was promptly arrested on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

McNutt, of 1535 Second Street, pleaded innocent to both misdemeanor counts and reserved the right to plea on the felony assault charge until his preliminary hearing, which was set for 9 a.m. Dec. 15.

Napa County sheriff's deputies arrested McNutt on Nov. 26 after a brawl in a Napa dance hall. He was booked on resisting arrest and disturbing the peace and released on bail to appear Tuesday.

The next day, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Diane E. Stafford of 1130 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, signed a complaint charging assault with a deadly weapon complaint against him.

Marin County sheriff's deputies almost captured him Sunday, but he leaped out a back window of a house at 1586 South Novato Boulevard and escaped.

SPEECHES AND HUMOR

Jensen Gets Sendoff At Farewell Dinner

Nearly 100 county employees and friends of Donald A. Jensen honored the resigned county administrator at a dinner last night in the Meadow Club, Fairfax.

Leland H. Jordan, recently resigned county counsel, was master of ceremonies. In an often humorous, sometimes serious speech, Jordan, who himself was honoree at such a dinner a few weeks ago, praised the work of the county's first administrator. Also taking note of numerous resignations in county government lately, he quipped that Supervisor Chairman Walter Castro is "going to sell season tickets" to the retirement banquets.

The kidding of Jensen, who will become executive officer of the State Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board, continued with the introduction of Benjamin Linsky, control officer of Bay Area Air Pollution Control District. Linsky gave Jensen a package of clothes pins "for your nose, from one stinker to another."

William Berzman presented the honoree with a large golden trophy declaring him an "All American" from his fellow Friday afternoon volleyball players.

More serious tribute was paid Jensen by four members of the county board of supervisors, with whom he has worked for nearly five years: Mrs. Vera Schultz, William Gnoss, James Marshall and Chairman Castro.

Castro, on behalf of the employees and officials of the county, presented Jensen with a leather briefcase.

Jensen responded with praise for his fellow workers and the "team effort" which had been able to make "fantastic achievements" in the last five years. He said the county was noted "in all fields" statewide and in some cases nationally because "our team has been working toward common goals," one of which was "the tremendous desire to make Marin the best county in the United States." He said he would never forget the experience and that although his new job takes him to Los Angeles to live, he and his wife are retaining their home here and plan eventually to return.

Mrs. Jensen, in an amusing talk, gave advice to Mrs. Alan Bruce, wife of the new county administrator. She said to be good to her husband Monday morning and on Tuesday night "put the children to bed early but don't plan dinner until 9 p.m.; don't talk, just be ready to listen." Tuesday is the day the supervisors meet.

The Jensens will not go south until after the first of the year. Meanwhile, he is doing some preliminary work in Berkeley. The board of which he is executive officer is charged with selecting effective attachments to prevent automobiles from polluting the air with their exhaust fumes.

Merger Of 2 Big Railroad Unions Urged

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—board of directors of two of the oldest railroad unions have approved a merger which would put 140,000 men under one banner, it was announced today.

The merger would join the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen. The action was announced in a joint statement by W. P. Kennedy, BRT president, and James A. Paddock, president of the ORCB.

The proposal will now be submitted to the membership for approval.

The BRT, which has 110,000 members, is one of the oldest railroad unions in the country, having been founded Sept. 23, 1883. The ORCB, with 30,000 members, was founded July 6, 1868.

The proposal was expected to be submitted to the membership early next year.

Justice Dept. Blasts Louisiana Race Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department today branded Louisiana's new package anti-integration laws as "plainly unconstitutional" and asked the Supreme Court to speed a ruling on them.

The department requested fast action because of what it termed the "serious predicament" of the school board in New Orleans, where a few Negro girls have been admitted to two formerly white schools.

In a memoradum filed with the court, the department said delay "might result in denial of the constitutional rights of the Negro children simply because of the board's inability to carry out its obligations and to continue to operate the schools."

It said that, until the high court rules, a "cloud" will remain on the board's authority to act.

Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion asked the Supreme Court yesterday to stay a federal court decision enjoining state officials from enforcing the anti-integration laws pending an appeal to the high court from the lower court's ruling.

FRIENDLY WELCOME—Walter O'Malley (right), owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers of the National League, smiled a welcome to cowboy actor Gene Autry as the latter received approval to operate a rival American League team in Los Angeles next season. AMERICAN LEAGUE

Bay Area Mentioned In Expansion Plans

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The dove of peace hovered over the majors today following the American League's official move into Los Angeles with the blessing of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley and his fellow National Leaguers.

How long the bird will stay aloft no one knows. Only hours after the two warring leagues had buried the hatchet yesterday, some American Leaguers began eyeing the Giants-occupied Oakland-San Francisco territory as the next objective in its expansion program.

The American, which will operate with 10 teams next year, has a blueprint calling for 12 teams in the near future. So has the National, which will continue to function with eight clubs in 1961 and add New York and Houston in 1962.

Informed persons confided during the three-day meetings that the National has been quietly sounding out Buffalo and the Dallas-Fort Worth area for possible 11th and 12th teams in 1964. Toronto is a 12th-team possibility in the American.

At a press conference, Frick outlined the conditions that must be fulfilled in the future if any club seeks to invade territories occupied by another.

POPULATION RULE

A territory will be permitted to have two teams only if its population exceeds 2.4 million. The application must be made before Oct. 31 of the year previous to the intended operation. The new ownership must satisfy the commissioner of individual character and collective financial stability sufficient to guarantee at least five years' operation.

Further, the new club's park must be situated at least five miles from the existing team's stadium, unless both agree otherwise. The existing team be reimbursed $100,000, plus half of the amount it had cost in the form of indemnity to minor league teams. In the Dogers' case, O'Malley received $325,000. It had cost him $450,000 to pioneer West Coast territory.

Frick said future expansion by one club into another league would be permitted with only three-fourths approval, rather than the unanimous consent that was the major stumbling block until O'Malley relented and allowed the syndicate headed by cowboy singer Gene Autry and ex-Stanford football star Bob Reynolds to put American League baseball on the West Coast. (Story on page 22).

O'Malley, waiving the five-mile rule, compromised on a one-year stay at Wrigley Field by the new American League team, which will be called the Angels. He originally had insisted on two. He also gave the newcomers a four-year lease at his new Chavez Ravine stadium upon completion in 1962, at a $200,000 annual rental or 7½ per cent of the gate.

Packers, 49ers In Cloak-Dagger War

The cloak and dagger movements of the San Francisco 49ers and the Green Bay Packers took on the aspects of World War III today as the two grid powers prepared to play for the Western Division lead in the National League on Saturday in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

Both camps were shut down to visitors, spies were in every tree and photographers were about as popular as an alien with a camera in World War II.

In fact, the whole affair got so out of hand that Green Bay was hiring a guard to go around the Stanford practice field and spit tobacco juice in the knot holes.

Paul Gorman, United Press International photographer, found this out when he tried to get some pictures from long range. When he finally snapped one, it immediately was grabbed by one of the Packer guards.

"The worst part of it was that on the roll of film were several pictures of the 49ers in action with the 'shot-gun' offense," said Gorman.

Phil Bengtson, former 49er defensive coach and now handling the same job for the Packers, was elated at the news that the flim had been captured.

VALUABLE FILM

"We better get that film developed right away," said Bengtson, "so we can take a look at what they are going."

Bengston admitted that the Packers were practicing on defense against the new 49er shot-gun offense behind the locked doors.

"Our offense has been running from the shot-gun offense," said Phil. "And our defense has been working hard to stop them.

"Maybe by the time the game starts on Saturday we'll have that shot-gun offense down so pat that our offensive team will use it against San Francisco."

Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers wasn't in as good a frame of mind as Bengtson. Asked about the condition of his players, Lombardi snapped:

"They're all right."

Does this mean that every man was in condtion to play?

"It just means they are all right," he snapped again.

The 49er security guard was just as tough. Before a local newsman could be admitted, he was sworn into secrecy. "Foreign" newsmen — those from Milwaukee—were not admitted.

Remember the good old days? When there was freedom of the press?

Here's How 49er Shotgun Scatters Defenses, Frustrates Linebackers

HANLEY

Two of pro football's best middle linebackers, Daddy Lipscomb and Les Richter, put in frustrating afternoons the past couple of Sundays against the new shotgun offense of the 49ers. Repeatedly they were out of position for the plays John Brodie called.

Lipscomb did a much better job of trying to stop the shotgun in Baltimore than Richter did in Los Angeles. Richter normally gets a dozen or more calls during a game, but last Sunday the Coliseum announcer recognized him as the primary tackler on only a couple of occasions.

Why was Richter out of position so often? The shotgun could not be that baffling to such an experienced hand as the Ram captain. After all, it basically is the old double wing except that the ends, instead of being in tight in front of the wingbacks, are spread with a flanker back.

Such a formation poses no up-the-middle trap threat because Brodie stands alone in his tailback slot several yards behind the center with no fullback beside him in a true double wing setup. So Richter gave the 49ers the middle and overshifted with his left linebacker Jack Pardee to stop everything the 49ers tried on the right side where they beat the Colts with passes on flood patterns.

TO KEEP Brodie rolling to his right, the Rams moved right linebacker Bill Jobko up on the line beside right end Lamar Lundy. Both Jobko and Lundy put a big rush on Brodie but never once caught up with him because of the seven yard advantage Honest John enjoyed in his tailback position.

This Ram defense worked beautifully throughout the first quarter during which the 49ers were forced to punt twice after running off only 10 plays. And it clicked with the same precision until midway in the second quarter.

By that time Brodie, from his excellent vantage point at tailback, not only had the Ram defense well diagnosed but felt Richter & Co. were convinced C. R. Roberts and J. D. Smith posed no running threat except on pitchouts or sweeps.

SO BRODIE began reversing to Roberts and Smith, C. R. spinning to his left out of his right wing berth and J. D. going the other way. The Rams soon adjusted, knowing they no longer could give up the middle to Roberts' cutbacks. They quickly had to acknowledge that the shotgun also posed an inside running threat, something Brodie took full advantage of with audible signals.

Meanwhile, Clyde Conner at left end had been running a short down and out sideline pass pattern that kept Ram right defensive wing, Vernon Valdez, busy. Because Jobko had been moved up on the line, Valdez was alone in that defensive zone which was ripe for Roberts' reverses if he left Conner unprotected.

ONCE VALDEZ did come up, believing Conner again was decoying him, and Brodie hit Conner with an 11-yard sideline pass—the first forward thrown to Conner late in the second quarter. It was this toss that started the first 49er TD drive.

Thereafter, Conner continued to keep Valdez busy on the short down and out fakes but Brodie never threw to him again until the third quarter was closing. Conner then told Brodie "He's ready now for the long one." And Valdez was. Conner did his customary fake for a short one and suddenly took off past Valdez for a 65-yard pass. Valdez caught up with him on the five but could not bring Conner down.

Ball-Hawking Vallejo J.C. Hoopsters Beat Mariners

The same old weakness—lack of rebounding strength—continued to plague College of Marin Tars last night as they suffered a 72-67 loss to undefeated Vallejo College in a preseason basketball encounter in Kentfield.

"We outshot Vallejo," Coach Cal Riemcke noted, "but we couldn't rebound with them and that was the story of the game."

The game's chart showed Vallejo hauled down 35 offensive rebounds to Marin's 12 and 26 defensive rebounds to the Tars' 16—a total of 61 to 28. "You just can't win games under that kind of a handicap," Riemcke stated.

Marin's sharpshooters, led by Ronnie Blum, clicked on 38 per cent of their field goal attempts—27 for 72—compared to Vallejo's 34 per cent—30 for 89.

Even with the rebounding disadvantage, the smaller Tars led throughout most of the first half until Vallejo rallied to a 39-34 intermission edge and held it throughout the second half.

Vallejo's Willie Anderson, a jumping jack, led rebounders and still had time enough to pour 29 points through the mesh.

Blum, meanwhile, was clicking beautifully from all angles, hitting 11 field goals in 27 attempts for 41 per cent and added a free toss for a total of 23 points.

Other top Marin scorers were Lynn Livie with 18 and John Blomquist with 13.

Lipscomb did a much better job of trying to stop the shotgun in Baltimore than Richter did in Los Angeles. Richter normally gets a dozen or more calls during a game, but last Sunday the Coliseum announcer recognized him as the primary tackler on only a couple of occasions.

Why was Richter out of position so often? The shotgun could not be that baffling to such an experienced hand as the Ram captain. After all, it basically is the old double wing except that the ends, instead of being in tight in front of the wingbacks, are spread with a flanker back.

Such a formation poses no up-the-middle trap threat because Brodie stands alone in his tailback slot several yards behind the center with no fullback beside him in a true double wing setup. So Richter gave the 49ers the middle and overshifted with his left linebacker Jack Pardee to stop everything the 49ers tried on the right side where they beat the Colts with passes on flood patterns.

TO KEEP Brodie rolling to his right, the Rams moved right linebacker Bill Jobko up on the line beside right end Lamar Lundy. Both Jobko and Lundy put a big rush on Brodie but never once caught up with him because of the seven yard advantage Honest John enjoyed in his tailback position.

This Ram defense worked beautifully throughout the first quarter during which the 49ers were forced to punt twice after running off only 10 plays. And it clicked with the same precision until midway in the second quarter.

By that time Brodie, from his excellent vantage point at tailback, not only had the Ram defense well diagnosed but felt Richter & Co. were convinced C. R. Roberts and J. D. Smith posed no running threat except on pitchouts or sweeps.

SO BRODIE began reversing to Roberts and Smith, C. R. spinning to his left out of his right wing berth and J. D. going the other way. The Rams soon adjusted, knowing they no longer could give up the middle to Roberts' cutbacks. They quickly had to acknowledge that the shotgun also posed an inside running threat, something Brodie took full advantage of with audible signals.

Meanwhile, Clyde Conner at left end had been running a short down and out sideline pass pattern that kept Ram right defensive wing, Vernon Valdez, busy. Because Jobko had been moved up on the line, Valdez was alone in that defensive zone which was ripe for Roberts' reverses if he left Conner unprotected.

ONCE VALDEZ did come up, believing Conner again was decoying him, and Brodie hit Conner with an 11-yard sideline pass—the first forward thrown to Conner late in the second quarter. It was this toss that started the first 49er TD drive.

Thereafter, Conner continued to keep Valdez busy on the short down and out fakes but Brodie never threw to him again until the third quarter was closing. Conner then told Brodie "He's ready now for the long one." And Valdez was. Conner did his customary fake for a short one and suddenly took off past Valdez for a 65-yard pass. Valdez caught up with him on the five but could not bring Conner down.

Huskies Dominate All-Big Five Team

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three Washington Huskies and two UCLA Bruins are unanimous choices for the Big Five all-star football team selected by the conference coaches.

Named on every ballot yesterday were Washington's center Roy McKasson, guard Chuck Allen and halfback Don McKeta, and UCLA's tailback Bill Kilmer and end Marv Luster.

The coaches named 13 men to the first team. Rosebowl-bound Washington grabbed six of the spots and UCLA four. Stanford, California and Southern Cal each landed a man on the top team.

The other three Huskies were tackle Kurt Gegner, halfback George Fleming and fullback Ray Jackson. UCLA's other first stringers were tackle Marshall Shirk and guard Jack Metcalf.

Marlin McKeever of USC was named Luster's running mate at end and a three-way tie for the fullback job left the Huskies' Jackson sharing the post with George Pierovich of Cal and Skip Face of Stanford.

The second team:

Ends—Pat Claridge, Washington, Earl Smith, UCLA, and Dave Washington, Southern California. (Smith, Washington tie.)

Tackles—Steve Bauwens, UCLA, Jeff Snow, California, and Mike Bundra, Southern California. (Snow, Bundra tie.)

Guards—Bill Kinnune, Washington, and Roger Mietz, Southern California.

Center—Harry Baldwin, UCLA.

Quarterback—Randy Gold, California.

Halfbacks—Jim Johnson, UCLA, Charlie Mitchell, Washington, and Gene Gaines, UCLA (Mitchell, Gaines tie.)

Honorable mention:

Ends — Tom Bates, California, and Lee Folkins, Washington.

Tackles — Dean Hinshaw, Stanford, Barry Bullard and Ben Davidson, Washington, John Bebelaar, California.

Guards—Mike McKeever and Britt Williams, Southern California, Dave Dabov, UCLA.

USF Takes On Rugged Miami Quint Tonight

Pete Peletta makes his home debut as the University of San Francisco basketball coach tonight and his Dons are expecting a stormy evening. They face the Hurricanes from Miami of Florida.

Fresno State, led by Mike McFerson, overtook College of the Pacific and then clobbered the Tigers 62-49 in the only major game in California last night. Hawaii trounced San Fernando Valley State 85-68 at Honolulu.

COP, now 1-1, sprinted to an early lead at Stockton last night but was ice cold in the second half and finished with a shooting percentage of just 24 per cent for the night. McFerson drilled in six straight points to pull Fresno to within a point of COP at the half, and he finished with 20, high for the night. Vern Crissman added 17 and Ray McCarty bucketed 13 for the Bulldogs, now 1-1. Ken Stanley paced COP with 19.

USF (1-1) faces a potential buzz-saw in Miami (2-1). The Floridians, one of the nation's top clubs last year and expected to be formidable again this season, were knocked off 66-65 by Santa Clara Tuesday night. The Hurricanes will be trying to storm back into the national rankings.

There's a busy night on tap Friday with the major action at the Sports Arena in Los Angeles where a doubleheader has Kansas State facing UCLA and NYU meeting Southern Cal. In other Friday night games, Loyola is at Santa Barbara, Fresno State is at Portland, Santa Clara meets Nevada at Reno, San Francisco State is at San Jose State, Sacramento State meets Chapman at Los Angeles, Chico State collides with Southern Oregon at Ashland

Tamites Bow To Jefferson

Tamalpais Indians were colder than a well-digger's heels in the second quarter as they fell hopelessly behind and eventually lost a 54-42 decision to Jefferson High in a practice basketball game yesterday at Daly City.

Although they trailed by only a point, 15-14 at the end of the first period, the Indians scored only four points in the second quarter and Jefferson roared off to a 31-18 halftime advantage.

Connie Hoetger was high scorer for Tam with 16 points, followed by Norm Kreuter with 10. Pete Dornbach was Tam's best rebounder with an even dozen.

Raiders Work On Defenses

OAKLAND (AP)—Pass defense was the theme today as the Oakland Raiders prepared for their Sunday game with the New York Titans.

Sharpshooting Al Dorow, the Titans' quarterback, has completed half of his 320 tosses this year for 2,173 yards.

His principal receivers are Don Maynard and Art Powell, the former San Jose State athlete and kid brother of the Raiders' Charley Powell.

Powell has grabbed 64 passes for 906 yards. Maynard has gained 1,216 yards on 69 receptions.

Raider Coach Eddie Erdelatz also alerted his charges to the dangerous Leon Burton. The speedy halfback has returned 24 kickoffs 747 yards for an average return of 31.1 a crack—best in the American Football League.

Big For A Tackles

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Biggest football player in the Atlantic Coast Conference? The honor goes to Don Scott, University of North Carolina sophomore tackle. He weighs 285.

The Boston Bruins have four new hockey players—Billy Carter, Dallas Smith, Jimmy Bartlett and Orval Tessier.

Basilio Boss Denies Carbo Controlled Him

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A friend of underworld boxing czar Frankie Carbo told Senate boxing investigators today that federal control was needed to clean up the sport.

John de John, former co-manager of ex-middleweight and welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, said that if the sport "was cleaned up like it should have been, I wouldn't be here today."

De John who blamed "greediness for the evil influences in boxing," said he knew Carbo for more than 20 years, and often went to him for "advice."

Previously, the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee had charged that Carbo controlled Basilio.

But De John vigorously denied that today.

"You're making it appear Carbo had control over Basilio," De John said. "He never dictated to Carmen—gave me advice, yes—but he never dictated."

De John described three meetings with Carbo in 1959 when Carbo was a fugitive from justice.

Carbo was captured in New Jersey on May 31, 1959 and later sentenced to two years in prison for undercover activities in boxing. De John has been barred from boxing for life in New York State for not reporting payments to Carbo's friend Gabe Genovese.

De John testified today he paid Genovese some $30,000 between 1955 and 1958.

He also said he later learned Basilio's co-manager, Joe Netro, also was making payments to Genovese.

Investigators charged he was paying for "influence." De John hedged at using the word influence, but later agreed that Genovese "knew a lot of people" in the fight business.

De John said he sought advice from Carbo because of Carbo's close association with millionaire James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Club (IBC).

Syracuse's 1959 freshman football team scored 110 points to 15 for their rivals in four games.

Hazeltine Is Bay Area's Outstanding Pro Lineman

Matt Hazeltine, who went on from Tamalpais High School to University of California and finally professional football game with the San Francisco 49ers, today was named the Bay Area's outstanding professional lineman of 1960 by the San Francisco Touchdown Club.

Hazeltine, son of Dr. and Mrs. Matthew E. Hazeltine of Kentfield, will be honored tomorrow along with five other Bay Area football stars at the Touchdown Club's luncheon.

Fullback J. D. Smith, also of the 49ers, drew the other professional award as the outstanding back of the area.

At the college level Stanford's Skip Face was named outstanding back and California's Dick Carlsen best lineman.

High school awards will go back to Al Raines of Mission High and lineman Dennis Brucker of St. Ignatius, both in San Francisco.

Prior to joining the 49ers as their fourth draft choice in 1955 Hazeltine was an All-American center at California in 1953 and 54.

He graduated from Tamalpais in 1950 and became one of the few athletes in California history to receive four varsity letters in football.

Awarded National Rifle Assn. Honor

Miss Sherry Tuttle of 40 Robinhood Drive in San Rafael was awarded the Distinguished Rifleman Medal of the National Rifle Assn. of America, it was announced this week.

The new high ranking shooter is a student at San Rafael High School and the daughter of Loran W. Tuttle. She had to shoot "hundreds of targets over a period of several months, and climb through 14 lower qualification NRA junior ratings," said the association.

RECORD CROWD AT REDWOOD SCHOOL GAMES

Largest crowd ever to attend a basketball event in in Marin County history was reported last night by Redwood High School at the Redwood Elementary School District's annual Christmas Basketball Tournament.

Bob Troppmann, director of athletics at Redwood, said the official attendance was counted as 2,238 persons. The public address announcer told the audience they made up the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in Marin.

Six schools participated and treated the crowd to four games. The scores were Kent School 17, Reed 7; Larkspur-Corte Madera 23, Hall 9; Neil Cummins 8, Ross 4; and the South All-Stars 38, North 29.

L.A. Owners Face Staggering Work

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Hectic days are in store for the colorful new Los Angeles Angel owners—singing cowpoke Gene Autry and former Stanford football player Bob Reynolds.

The two American League franchise holders arrived home from St. Louis and the major league baseball meetings last night, badly in need of a little slumber and a lot of players.

The happy pair hold a press conference today at the Sheraton-West Hotel.

Things have happened fast and furiously, but here's what's known for sure:

The team will be called the "Angels," a fitting nickname. "Los Angeles" in Spanish means "the angels," and is short for "City of the Angels."

Autry and Reynolds will run the show, with the possibility that several others will be brought in, including TV executive Kenyon Brown. Autry will be chairman of the board and Reynolds will be president.

Former Milwaukee Braves Manager Fred Haney is in charge of player procurement. The American League will hold a draft session Dec. 13 in Boston. Haney's exact position hasn't been decided, according to Reynolds.

GENERAL COUNSEL

Washington, D. C., attorney Paul O'Bryan will serve as the Angels' secretary and general counsel.

The 1961 season will be spent in Wrigley Field, the old home of the Pacific Coast League's Los Angeles Angels, a highly-successful Chicago Cubs farm team for many years.

The Angels will move in with the Dodgers at Chavez Ravine for the 1962 season.

The problems confronting Autry, Reynolds, Haney and O'Bryan are staggering. Spring training starts in March, only two and a half months from now.

No site has been obtained. No manager has been hired. No players have been purchased. No tickets have been printed, much less sold.

It is possible the Angels will hire former New York Yankees Manager Casey Stengel.

They'll almost certainly broadcast their games over Radio Station KMPC (co-owned by Autry and Reynolds), which handled the Dodgers' game for two years. Bob Kelly and Bill Brundige, who team on the Los Angeles Ram pro football broadcasts, are likely choices to be the voices of the Angels.

Autry and Reynolds arrived home overjoyed with their new possession, awed by the work load ahead of them and exhausted from the sleepless five days during which they successfully brought Los Angeles its second major league club.

Autry, wearing a cowboy hat, kidded about the club's first moves:

"The first order of business is for Del Webb (Yankee owner) to give us Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

"Seriously, the first thing is to get our executives and team together."

"We have about 90 days before taking the ball club to spring training," Reynolds said. "From there we've got so many problems, we don't where to start."

Cowboy Autry, as happy as if he'd just corraled a rustler, added: "It seems almost like a dream."

Ex-Raider Owner Peddling Tickets

OAKLAND (AP)—Psst, looking for Oakland Raider tickets?

Oh.

Well, in case you were, Harvey Binns is trying to sell 500 $4.50 seats for Sunday's game against the New York Titans for $3.

And the Raider management is boiling mad about it. Binns was an owner and co-director of the Raiders, but sold his holdings and now is trying to dispose of tickets he had committed himself to.

Washington, D. C., attorney Paul O'Bryan will serve as the Angels' secretary and general counsel.

The 1961 season will be spent in Wrigley Field, the old home of the Pacific Coast League's Los Angeles Angels, a highly-successful Chicago Cubs farm team for many years.

The Angels will move in with the Dodgers at Chavez Ravine for the 1962 season.

The problems confronting Autry, Reynolds, Haney and O'Bryan are staggering. Spring training starts in March, only two and a half months from now.

No site has been obtained. No manager has been hired. No players have been purchased. No tickets have been printed, much less sold.

It is possible the Angels will hire former New York Yankees Manager Casey Stengel. They'll almost certainly broadcast their games over Radio Station KMPC (co-owned by Autry and Reynolds), which handled the Dodgers' game for two years. Bob Kelly and Bill Brundige, who team on the Los Angeles Ram pro football broadcasts, are likely choices to be the voices of the Angels.

Autry and Reynolds arrived home overjoyed with their new possession, awed by the work load ahead of them and exhausted from the sleepless five days during which they successfully brought Los Angeles its second major league club.

Autry, wearing a cowboy hat, kidded about the club's first moves:

"The first order of business is for Del Webb (Yankee owner) to give us Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

"Seriously, the first thing is to get our executives and team together."

"We have about 90 days before taking the ball club to spring training," Reynolds said. "From there we've got so many problems, we don't where to start."

Cowboy Autry, as happy as if he'd just corraled a rustler, added: "It seems almost like a dream."

Ex-Raider Owner Peddling Tickets

OAKLAND (AP)—Psst, looking for Oakland Raider tickets?

Oh.

Well, in case you were, Harvey Binns is trying to sell 500 $4.50 seats for Sunday's game against the New York Titans for $3.

And the Raider management is boiling mad about it. Binns was an owner and co-director of the Raiders, but sold his holdings and now is trying to dispose of tickets he had committed himself to.

Winds Haven't Hurt Great Bass Angling On Marin Side Of Bay

STEVENS

I am typing out this column at noon on Tuesday. The wind is rattling the storm windows of my office. The same wind that is churning up the waters of the San Pablo Bay and all upstream bodies of water. One can see miles of white-capped dirty water without a single boat in view.

The Quans at China Camp have refused for two days to allow a skiff to leave the harbor. Ditto for most of the other boat liveries all the way up to the Big Break and Frank's Tract. Not a picture conducive to an optimistic report on fishing. Yet, in spite of Dame Nature's effort at conservation of local fish, the lads and lassies who board a partyboat out of Sausalito, S.F. or from the Berkeley Harbor, are taking quick limits of beautiful bass in the Richardson Bay-Racoon Strait-California City region.

How come? That sector is more or less protected from the wind; the herring are still infesting those waters; the incoming tides push back the dirty water; and because the area is teeming with herring-eating stripers.

OLIVER MARSHALL of the Berkeley Harbor Bait Shop took five of his friends across to the area in his boat on Monday. Inside 20 minutes after the lures were lowered, limits lacking only three fish were in the box. A sudden slump followed and it took Oliver and his gang until 11 o'clock to get the remaining three fish, but Ollie told me most of the other boats had gone in with limits an hour earlier.

AS THE bass are to be found closer to the surface than usual (particularly if the birds are working) light sinkers are being used. Oliver and his group used only three ounces and favored the recently very popular Bet Spoon. I understand that the Bet Spoon is similar to the Pet Spoon, but has some features favored by many. The Bet Spoon is made locally by one Charlie Comiskey and is finished in fluorescent chartreuse with a plastic tail. I haven't seen the spoon, but am told it is a killer.

Speaking of herring; they are still swarming in vast numbers in and around Richardson Bay. A few commercial netters are using beach nets in certain open districts. Oliver saw thousands of pounds of herring taken in beach nets off Yellow Bluff and at Tiburon Point. He, himself, collected 400 pounds with a dip net.

WHILE THE bass are now running on the Marin side of the bay are of good size, on the Contra Costa side they are much smaller, but apparently rather plentiful. Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina called me to report the party boat Sunfish had made 23 trips with limits for all aboard up until Sunday; then the sequence was over. On Sunday he came back to the harbor with only 24 fish. To me that is a remarkable catch considering the adverse condition on Sunday. Most of the fish taken on that side of the bay have been in the just legal 16 inches to around 22 inches, with an occasional larger bass to as heavy as 15 pounds mixed in.

I ASKED Grace Quan about flounders out of her resort. "Not many, Steve," she admitted, and then added: "Trouble is most of them don't know how to fish for flounders. One of my regular customers always reads your columns and said he had done as suggested and used a small hook and small piece of sardine, but had no luck. When I questioned him I found this fellow had used a large hook for bass on the bottom and the small hook at the top."

Maybe I am at fault in not stressing the fact that a flounder is a bottom-feeding fish and the small hook with the small piece of bait should be—must be—resting on the bottom for flounders.

THE PRESENT wind should blow itself out within a day or so. Perhaps by the time this is printed, it will be calm. If so, you can about pick your spot to go fishing throughout the Bay and Delta Regions. Here's hoping it happens that way. So don the woolies and venture forth after your share of fish. Good luck and goodbye!

Lucky Golf Tourney Offers Christmas Gift Ticket Plan

Save money, contribute to charity and give a Christmas gift!

That is the package being offered to Bay Area golfers as a "Christmas Special" by the admissions committee of the $57,000 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament which will be played at Harding Park, San Francisco, Jan. 23-29, according to T. Weatherly Kemp, chairman.

"Season badges, which sell for $10, effect a saving of one half the cost of daily admission tickets which, during the tournament will amount to $20, says Kemp.

And in buying season tickets for the Lucky International, which will feature the nation's top golf stars, the purchaser is contributing to the Easter Seal Societies for Crippled Children of six Bay Area counties.

"We are prepared to send our season badges for the Lucky International anywhere, to reach the recipient before Christmas," explains Mr. Kemp. "The Badges will be in Christmas packages and will make a most welcome gift to golfer and spectator alike."

The Christmas phase of the ticket sale will end on Dec. 24 but season badges will continue to be available right up to tournament time.

Giants Tax Refund Request Is Denied

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—City Attorney Dion R. Holm yesterday advised the San Francisco Board of Supervisors to reject a claim by the San Francisco Giants for a refund of $17,487 in taxes paid under protest last August.

The Giants submitted the refund claim on Oct. 18 to the board which had then referred it to Holm for an opinion.

The taxes represented the interest of the Giants in the Candlestick Park Stadium. The Giants claimed the tax was illegally assessed and collected because the possessory interest on Candlestick Park is not held by the Giants, but by Stadium Inc., a non-profit corporation that built the stadium.

Palmer Tries To Improve Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer gets his final chance to better his own record for prize money for a year in official PGA tournaments in the 72-hole Coral Gables Open Golf event starting today over the Biltmore course.

The Ligonier, Pa., pro already has picked up $74,376.66. He passed the old mark, held by Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., two weeks ago when he won $2,000 first money in the Mobile, Ala., Open.

The current tournament is the final 72-hole event of the year's golf calendar.

Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., will be after his second straight victory. He won the West Palm Beach Open last Sunday.

Davis Cup Draw Favors Yankees Over Italians

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Captains of the U. S. and Italian Davis Cup teams were agreed on one thing today: the draw for the inter-zone finals favored the Americans.

America's Earl Buchholz drew Italy's Orlando Sirola in the opening match tomorrow. The second match sends Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, against Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli.

The doubles will be played Saturday with Sirola and Pietrangeli probably meeting Buchholz and Chuck McKinley, both of St. Louis. Sunday's final singles will send Pietrangeli against Buchholz in the first match and MacKay against Sirola in the second.

As a formality, David Freed, U. S. captain nominated a doubles team of McKinley and Dennis Ralston, 18-year-old from Bakersfield, Calif.

"That meant nothing," claimed Freed. "I still have not made up my mind on what team I will play."

San Rafael Club Is Gay For Its Christmas Party

San Rafael Improvement Club was in holiday attire for Tuesday's Christmas tea, an annual event of the club. Large white exhibition chrysanthemums and deep red carnations banked the front of the stage on which stood a large brilliantly decorated Christmas tree.

The same flowers were in silver standards on the tea tables and the president's table. The program, featuring Carole Larsen, beautiful, young and blonde soprano, was light and gay. She began with songs from current musicals and went on to a trio of Irish songs including, of course, the timeless "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." She sang arias from two operas, Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" and "Il Travatore." Miss Larsen concluded with Christmas songs, an old English hymn, "The Friendly Beast," "O, Come All Ye Faithful," "O, Holy Night" and "Silent Night." Miss Larsen took bows before an enthusiastic audience with her splendid piano accompanist Don Jones.

The program was begun with Mrs. John Pitcher reading a Christmas "thought" from the book "Peter Marshall," who was chaplain of the Senate at the time of his untimely death. Mrs. Clerin Zumwalt, first vice president and program chairman, presided at the meeting before the program because of the absence of Mrs. Donald Murray, president, who was ill. Mrs. Zumwalt introduced Mrs. Charles Howell, long time club member, whom the executive board had named an honorary president, and presented her with an orchid corsage.

The tea, which concluded the afternoon, was under the chairmanship of Mrs. Earl Burns who was assisted by Mrs. Peter Anderson, general tea chairman. On her committee were Mesdames Howard Smith, Clarence De Long and William Vaning. The latter's husband had presented the Christmas tree to the club, which has been his custom for many years. Mrs. Lewis A. Clapp was in charge of the president's table.

Mrs. James Goodale, philanthropic chairman, passed the basket into which members placed contributions. The money will go to needy old people at Christmas.

Pouring at the tea were Mesdames Louis L. Walsh, Leiton Elder, John McInnis and John MacPhail.

Second Printing 'Favorite Fare' Begun This Week By Auxiliary

The second printing of "Favorite Fare" by the Women's Auxiliary of San Rafael General Hospital was launched this week with a display of old cookbooks in the hospital waiting room.

Cook books for the exhibit "were generously loaned by Marin County residents who saw our appeal in the Independent-Journal," said Mrs. C. Bruce Greene, Auxiliary president. The display is open to the public and may be seen through December.

Copies of "Favorite Fare" also are now available at the hospital or by mail, Mrs. Greene said.

Oldest in the cookbook display is "Miss Leslie's New Cookery Book," published in Philadelphia in 1857 and loaned by Mrs. LaMonte Foster of Larkspur. It includes a recipe for Portable Soup, which Author Eliza Leslie considered "a most useful present for friends going the overland journey to the Pacific."

Copies of this unique recipe are available on request with orders for "Favorite Fare," Mrs. Greene said.

Other cook books are dated from 1883 to 1920. They include three Marin County cook books, the 1898 and 1906 editions of the San Rafael Cook Book, "compiled by the Ladies of San Rafael," loaned by Miss Edythe Foster, and the San Anselmo Cookbook published by the Ladies of Saint Anselm's Church in 1908, loaned by Mrs. C. Sumner Orr of Ross.

Other books include the three-inch-thick "Mrs. Beeton's Book of Household Management" (1901) loaned by Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr.

"We are grateful to all who loaned books for our display," said Mrs. Greene. In addition to Mrs. Foster, Miss Foster, Mrs. Orr and Dr. Dufficy, these include Mrs. Ed Kaenel, Mrs. E. Harvey Morrill, Mrs. June Perkins, Mrs. E. N. Hart, Mrs. Carl Nilsen, Mrs. I. J. Davies, Mrs. Jane S. Scatena, Dr. Katherine Leicester, and Mrs. John L. Robertson.

Salvage Shop Donates Funds

At the regular monthly meeting of the Sausalito Salvage Shop, several requests for funds were filled. These included $50 to Marin Tuberculosis Assn. and $100 each to the Hanna Center for Boys, Salvation Army and Muscular Dystrophy Assn.

Mrs. Sherwood Armstrong, chairman, announces that the shop will be closed during the holidays to enable the 40 volunteer workers to prepare for the season's obligations. Sales will continue from now until 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17 and the Shop will re-open Tuesday, Jan. 3. In the meantime there is available a good selection of Christmas cards and decorations, including a complete Creche.

Foot-Soaking

So tired you could drop, after a day of slaving over a hot Christmas shopping list? Instead, just drop the packages and shed your shoes and stockings while you run a tub of hot sudsy water for a good foot-soaking.

So much tiredness centers in your feet after traipsing from store to store, that you'll do your whole body—spirit, too, a favor by drawing the ache out of your lower extremities.

Golden Star Lodge Planning A Party

At the recent meeting of Golden Star Rebekah Lodge 112, members of the Rainbow Sewing Club were in charge. They conducted a bazaar, under the chairmanship of their president, Mrs. George Bowers, and a card game and served refreshments.

Mrs. James Williams, noble grand, conducted the business meeting. A visitor was Mrs. Foster Lawrence, vice grand of Tamal Rebekah Lodge 393.

Following the meeting of Golden Star on Thursday night, Dec. 15, the annual Christmas party will be held. A program will be presented and gifts exchanged. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Harry E. Wall is chairman.

Announcement was made that Marin Lodge 200 IOOF will hold a children's party on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 18, from 2 o'clock until 4 in the IOOF Temple, San Rafael. Invited are children of Rebekahs and Odd Fellows in the district.

Weekly Manicure

Pre-Christmas housecleaning and decorating splurges which involve pine needles, sharp ornaments, colored wrappings, and glue can be particularly hard on feminine hands.

Keep your hands in good condition by having a weekly manicure. To assure its success, start by soaking your hands in warm soapsuds to cleanse them thoroughly and to soften the cuticles. You will probably want to wear nail polish during the holidays.

The glamour resulting from a careful manicure will be well worth the small effort and short time involved.

Home For Holidays

Candace (Candy) Giusto, freshman at San Jose State College, will arrive home on Dec. 16 to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Benedict Giusto of San Anselmo. Candy is a recent pledge of Beta Rho Chapter of Sigma Kappa.

NORMA GRIGGS, of the Winifred Baker Chorale, who will be the featured soloist at the Christmas dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County on Tuesday night, Dec. 13, at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Second Printing 'Favorite Fare' Begun This Week By Auxiliary

The second printing of "Favorite Fare" by the Women's Auxiliary of San Rafael General Hospital was launched this week with a display of old cookbooks in the hospital waiting room.

Cook books for the exhibit "were generously loaned by Marin County residents who saw our appeal in the Independent-Journal," said Mrs. C. Bruce Greene, Auxiliary president. The display is open to the public and may be seen through December.

Copies of "Favorite Fare" also are now available at the hospital or by mail, Mrs. Greene said.

Oldest in the cookbook display is "Miss Leslie's New Cookery Book," published in Philadelphia in 1857 and loaned by Mrs. LaMonte Foster of Larkspur. It includes a recipe for Portable Soup, which Author Eliza Leslie considered "a most useful present for friends going the overland journey to the Pacific."

Copies of this unique recipe are available on request with orders for "Favorite Fare," Mrs. Greene said.

Other cook books are dated from 1883 to 1920. They include three Marin County cook books, the 1898 and 1906 editions of the San Rafael Cook Book, "compiled by the Ladies of San Rafael," loaned by Miss Edythe Foster, and the San Anselmo Cookbook published by the Ladies of Saint Anselm's Church in 1908, loaned by Mrs. C. Sumner Orr of Ross.

Other books include the three-inch-thick "Mrs. Beeton's Book of Household Management" (1901) loaned by Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr.

"We are grateful to all who loaned books for our display," said Mrs. Greene. In addition to Mrs. Foster, Miss Foster, Mrs. Orr and Dr. Dufficy, these include Mrs. Ed Kaenel, Mrs. E. Harvey Morrill, Mrs. June Perkins, Mrs. E. N. Hart, Mrs. Carl Nilsen, Mrs. I. J. Davies, Mrs. Jane S. Scatena, Dr. Katherine Leicester, and Mrs. John L. Robertson.

Salvage Shop Donates Funds

At the regular monthly meeting of the Sausalito Salvage Shop, several requests for funds were filled. These included $50 to Marin Tuberculosis Assn. and $100 each to the Hanna Center for Boys, Salvation Army and Muscular Dystrophy Assn.

Mrs. Sherwood Armstrong, chairman, announces that the shop will be closed during the holidays to enable the 40 volunteer workers to prepare for the season's obligations. Sales will continue from now until 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17 and the Shop will re-open Tuesday, Jan. 3. In the meantime there is available a good selection of Christmas cards and decorations, including a complete Creche.

Foot-Soaking

So tired you could drop, after a day of slaving over a hot Christmas shopping list? Instead, just drop the packages and shed your shoes and stockings while you run a tub of hot sudsy water for a good foot-soaking.

So much tiredness centers in your feet after traipsing from store to store, that you'll do your whole body—spirit, too, a favor by drawing the ache out of your lower extremities.

Golden Star Lodge Planning A Party

At the recent meeting of Golden Star Rebekah Lodge 112, members of the Rainbow Sewing Club were in charge. They conducted a bazaar, under the chairmanship of their president, Mrs. George Bowers, and a card game and served refreshments.

Mrs. James Williams, noble grand, conducted the business meeting. A visitor was Mrs. Foster Lawrence, vice grand of Tamal Rebekah Lodge 393.

Following the meeting of Golden Star on Thursday night, Dec. 15, the annual Christmas party will be held. A program will be presented and gifts exchanged. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Harry E. Wall is chairman.

Announcement was made that Marin Lodge 200 IOOF will hold a children's party on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 18, from 2 o'clock until 4 in the IOOF Temple, San Rafael. Invited are children of Rebekahs and Odd Fellows in the district.

Weekly Manicure

Pre-Christmas housecleaning and decorating splurges which involve pine needles, sharp ornaments, colored wrappings, and glue can be particularly hard on feminine hands.

Keep your hands in good condition by having a weekly manicure. To assure its success, start by soaking your hands in warm soapsuds to cleanse them thoroughly and to soften the cuticles. You will probably want to wear nail polish during the holidays.

The glamour resulting from a careful manicure will be well worth the small effort and short time involved.

Bargains Unlimited Opened This Week

Gay decorations and special gift selections for the holiday season marks the opening of Bargains Unlimited at 716 4th Street, San Rafael, by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Congregation Rodef Sholom.

"Our stock is a special selection of quality merchandise," say Mrs. Joseph Cohen and Mrs. Louis Bloom, co-chairwomen of the Auxiliary's thrift shop project. "According to supply, Bargains Unlimited will offer reasonably priced donated housewares, clothing, furs, jewelry, small appliances and furniture, new but imperfect goods, books, bric-a-brac, and objets d'art."

Regular business days are Tuesday through Saturday, 10 to 5:30 p.m. Monday is receiving and marking day, but donations may be made throughout the week.

Of special interest is the Children's Order-in-Advance Plan. "If a customer's needs for children's clothing and toys are not met immediately," explains Mrs. Eric Elf, store manager, "her request for clothing or toys will be filed, and Bargains Unlimited will notify her when the desired article is obtained.

Mrs. Mervyn Cohen, president of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Kurt Rosenthal, ways and means committee head, urge all members of the community to contribute useful articles and employ Bargains Unlimited's services; all net proceeds will be contributed to Congregation Rodef Sholom's Sanctuary and School Building Fund.

Christmas Cards Grow Up To Role Of Annual Report

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the most often asked questions about Christmas cards is, "Is it proper to add a personal note or message?"

The answer is, yes, indeed! There is no reason to leave empty space.

"The idea is to let your Christmas cards carry messages for you—news of you and your family, messages of good wishes," said Mrs. Jeannette Lee, art director for Hallmark Cards.

"Such notes on Christmas cards have become one of the nation's favorite methods of greeting friends near and far, old and new," she said.

"Christmas messages," said Charles Dickens, "are a great accumulation of friendly recollections." And Samuel Johnson, famed 18th century English philosopher noted, "A man should keep his friendships in constant repair."

Fashionable personalized Christmas cards, with your name and return address imprinted, are helping more and more people find time to add personal messages on cards, Mrs. Lee said. These convenient time-savers, plus self-seal envelopes, can cut in half the routine of preparing cards, leaving time for writing warm, personal messages.

The idea of Christmas cards originated with a man who wanted to send season greetings to friends. The year was 1843, the setting London, and the man Henry Cole.

Terrycloth Mitts

There'll be no coaxing and cajoling the children to wash their faces and hands before holiday meals—if you provide them with gay white terrycloth mitts emblazoned with Santa's face. These color-fast mitts double as hand puppets when their soap-and-water duty is done!

PETITS POIS SALAD

1 cup drained canned tiny green peas
1 cup bite-size pieces romaine (packed down)
½ cup finely diced celery
½ cup finely diced pared cucumber
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
Salt and pepper
Onion salt

Mix vegetables in a salad bowl. Toss with oil, vinegar, salt and pepper to taste and onion salt (½ to ¾ teaspoon). Makes 4 servings.

NOTE: A small can (about 8 ounces) of young peas may be drained and used.

To Prevent Rust

To protect metal tools against rust, all metal parts should be covered with a thin coating of petroleum jelly. The jelly keeps out the air and moisture which cause rust damage.

Drip-Dry Room

A group of split-level homes in suburban Philadelphia boasts this ultra-modern convenience: each home has a six by-eight foot drip-dry room adjacent to the laundry area.

Family wash-and-wear can drip there quietly and harmlessly, to the delight of homemakers who request this novel feature.

CASH SPROUTS ON BUSHES AND MAILBOX

Santa Claus came early for Mary M. Garcia of 360 Summit Avenue in the Golf Tract area of San Rafael.

She went to pick up the mail about 6 p.m. Tuesday and found five $1 bills in the mailbox. In the bushes near by were another dollar bill and a $2 bill.

She told Sheriff's Deputy Dennis Shine she does not know who could have left the money there.

Loma Verde Turn May Be Eliminated

The Loma Verde Home Owners Assn. was told Monday night the left turn off Highway 101 into the subdivision may be removed soon.

Explaining the reasons for the contemplated move was Capt. Theodore F. Parnow of the California Highway Patrol.

The entrance to the subdivision, located opposite Nave Lanes north of Hamilton Air Force Base, has been the scene of several recent accidents. In two of the accidents, Parnow said, two persons were killed and several injured.

Removal of the crossing would necessitate northbound traffic to pass the Loma Verde entrance and make a U-turn at Ignacio, entering the subdivision from a southbound lane only.

Raymond Backstedt, association vice president, said a representative of the state Division of Highways would be invited to their Jan. 9 meeting to explain further details of the highway change.

The association members are in favor of an interchange, Backstedt said.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Dec. 8, the 343rd day of the year with 23 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Mercury.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1765, Eli Whitney was born.

In 1776, George Washington crossed the Delaware River and landed on Pennsylvania soil.

In 1886, the American Federation of Labor was founded.

In 1920, the first regular nightly radio concert in America was broadcast from Pittsburgh. The program was heard by a few radio enthusiasts through headphones.

In 1940, almost 400 German bombers raided London. The House of Commons suffered its first serious damage in World War II.

Thought for today: The first United States president, George Washington, said: "There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate upon real favors from nation to nation."

More Contests Needed In School Trustee Elections

A total of 75 school trustee terms will expire next year. And the election to choose new trustees, or reelect the old ones, will be held next April 18. The election date is the same in all 28 of Marin's school districts.

If history repeats itself — and we fervently but rather forlornly hope it doesn't — there will not be anything very interesting about these elections. In many districts the incumbents will succeed themselves without opposition and with almost no public discussion of school problems.

In other districts, where an incumbent doesn't want to seek office for another term, it will be difficult to find anybody willing to succeed the retiring incumbent. But a person will be found; he'll run without opposition and with little or no public discussion of school problems.

In some districts there will be more than one candidate seeking a given seat, but it will NOT be a contest in the ordinary sense of the word as applied to election campaigns. That is, neither candidate will campaign actively; school problems and varying viewpoints will not be publicly debated.

What does all this add up to?

It adds up to a missed boat. The value of periodic elections in these United States is they place issues before the public for decision. In the discussion and debate of the issues, the public becomes better informed.

If the public isn't very well informed on school problems—and we have heard educators lament this as a fact — one reason is that we ordinarily do not have active campaigns for school trustee jobs.

As we say, we fervently hope that history doesn't repeat again this coming year. We hope that people with a serious concern for education problems become candidates. (All they have to do is fill out a declaration form now at the county school superintendent's office.)

We hope that they are active candidates who state their positions on education questions before us. We hope they face opposing candidates with opposite views who are equally vigorous in speaking out for what they believe.

The result cannot help but be a better informed public and better schools.

A candidate doesn't necessarily have to win an election to perform a valuable public service. Just debating the issues performs a service.

Our hope may prove forlorn, but it is nonetheless fervent.

Snow Doesn't Come To Us Here In Marin; We Must Go After It

MUCH AS WE LOVE California and the wonderful, mild climate of Marin, we sometimes get homesick for the sight of snow, and the brisk, cold air that goes with it.

Back home in New England, where we grew up, we waited all through autumn for that time of the first snowfall. There came a gray, cloudy day and a certain feeling in the air, and you could tell it would be the day.

Year after year, the excitement of that first day never palled, either. It was best when you were still small, though. You'd be out on your sled, even before the snow was thick enough, trying to coast down the hill. Bundled up in a snow suit and boots, you'd pull a mitten off and lick the flakes that fell on your fingers.

The crisp cold would chill your nose and redden your cheeks, but it was a good feeling, knowing that winter was here at last.

Before the soot and smoke and automobiles had time to dirty it, the snow made the whole world a beautiful place, shining and sparkling clean.

WHEN YOU'VE GROWN UP, waiting for the first snow every year, you can't stop looking, even when you live in a climate that never has snow.

And on a gray day that sometimes comes to Marin, you stop and look up at the sky, and the longing and homesickness is too much.

So you dig your boots and warm coat and pile in the car and head for the Sierras—an easy weekend drive from Marin.

You watch for the first snow along the highway as the car climbs higher and higher. When you see it, you're a little girl again, face pressed against a window, happily watching the first flakes float lazily down.

At the summit grumbling drivers have to stop their cars, and struggle wtih the chains for their tires. But you don't really mind. You're home again, in a New England winter — or one very much like it.

It's good to live in Marin, where you can go to the snow, instead of having it come to you.

HAVE YOU NOTICED the lush green lawn on the grounds of Wolfe Grade School? Kentfield School District trustees and Supt. Harold DePue didn't expect it to be financially possible to plant the area for several years.

But H. C. (Josh) Billings of Kentfield donated, and delivered, the topsoil which produced that handsome green—some 2,700 fertile yards of it.

A former big ltague pitcher, Billings is vitally interested in the Little Leagues. And thanks to him, the Wolfe Grade lawn will be in condititon to withstand a battering from leaguers' cleats by next spring.

Historic Drama In Progress In Latin America; Seen In Brazil

IN OUR SHORT visit to Brazil I often found myself having to explain why I had never been to South America before and why it was that I had come now. I had not come before, I said, because during the two World Wars the critical issues had their center in our relations with Europe and Russia, and a man cannot hope to know everything and to go everywhere. I had come now to South America because I was curious, and because we had realized in the United States that with Western Europe recovered, one of the great historic dramas of the future was being prepared in this hemisphere. The theme of the drama was how the Latin American nations would rise out of their colonial past into the modern age.

There is no better place to observe this drama than in Brazil, and having only a limited time to travel we spent it all in four Brazilian cities—in the new capital of Brasilia, and in the ancient Portuguese colonial capital of Bahia, in Rio de Janeiro, and in the great industrial center of Sao Paulo. What happens in Brazil, infinitely more than what happens in Cuba or Guatemala, is likely to be decisive for Latin America. For the territory of Brazil is as big as all the rest of Latin America, and there probably are at least as many, perhaps more, people who speak Portuguese as speak Spanish.

THE MAIN REASON why what happens in Brazil is likely to be decisive is that although Brazil is an "under developed country," it is far from being a primitive and backward country. Though it has great social problems of poverty, disease, illiteracy, it has also an impressive capacity to govern itself, a core of cultivated and confident leaders, and a capacity to learn the modern technologies. I had no feeling in Brazil, as I have had in certain countries in other parts of the world, that the problem was insoluble within the existing order of things. There could be failure and catastrophe in Brazil. But there is no reason why there should be. The essential human and natural resources, the social tradition and the social order are favorable to success.

The revolution of which Castro is a symptom exists under the surface in Brazil as it does everywhere in this hemisphere. But it is far under the surface. It is kept far under the surface because under both President Kubitchek and his successor, Janio Quadros, there exists a very strong sense of national and social purpose. Although Brazil is a very free country with free elections and a high level of human tolerance, the Brazilians are strongly led. They have brought their economic development to the point where, as a leading Brazilian economist put it to me, "we have started down the runway but we have not yet gotten up enough speed to achieve the takeoff."

ON THE QUESTION of our relations with Brazil I talked with many people, members of Congress, high administration officials, reporters, editors and publishers, businessmen, bankers and diplomats. At first I was much troubled. For it seemed to me that in their rejoicing, which was general, over Kennedy's election they were building up false hopes and expecting too much. The fear haunted me that they had not understood the consequences of the changed international position of the United States, and that they were hoping we could do in South America what we had done in Europe in the days of the Marshall Plan and the dollar gap.

But I came to see that this was a superficial first impression. Although I did not have a chance to talk with the President-elect, who was in London, I did see men close to him who had worked with him and knew him well. The truth, I venture to think, is that the Brazilian government is quite well aware of the situation of the dollar, and of the political consequences in the relative power and position of Europe and North America. I believe that they are adjusting themselves to this new international situation, and that the problem of Brazilian-American relations is wrapped up within this adaptation. That is to say, what they will expect of us is help in achieving the take-off but the help they will expect will not involve deeply the international monetary exchanges.

To plan and organize this kind of help will require ingenuity and resourcefulness, qualities that have been notably lacking in recent years, and they may require minor changes in our laws. In one way or another we shall have to give aid by sending wheat and oil and coal, of which we have a surplus and they have a deficit, and we shall have to assist them in funding their external debts.

GRADUALLY, I BEGAN to see what has gone wrong in our relations with Brazil. Inattention and mediocrity and lack of understanding are the causes of the trouble. The rulers and leaders of Brazil feel that since the death of Franklin Roosevelt there has been nobody for them to talk to who had power and who cared about them. Since his death they have had no access to the key people in this country and they have not had contact with the best minds devoted to political and financial international affairs. The deterioration began under President Truman, and the story is generally believed that Secretary Acheson told a leading Latin American diplomat that he was not interested in South America, and that the Latin Americans could talk to one of his subordinates.

Whether the story is true or false, what it signifies is the nub of the matter. It is generally believed in Brazil that when President Kubitchek visited Washington, President Eisenhower went through the ceremonies for him but told him to talk about business to subordinate officials.

When the Brazilians have come in contact with the second and third level, they have found, so they say, that whether under order from above or by their own preconception these officials did not understand or sympathize with the problems of an under-developed country.

WHAT KIND OF understanding have the Brazilians not found in Washington during the past ten years? The point is crucial but it is complex, and I am compelled to simplify, perhaps to oversimplify. In Washington, the Brazilians say, they have been confronted with men in the Treasury, the State Department, and the World Bank who have looked upon the Brazilian inflation through the eyes of the classical economists of a highly developed country like the United States or Great Birtain. That is to say, they have thought that inflation meant that production was at a maximum and that the government and the people were trying to buy more goods than existed. The remedy for inflation in the classical economics of advanced countries is to spend less and to save more.

This may be true for the United States, say the Brazilians, but it is not true for Brazil. There is inflation in Brazil although there is much unemployment and there is no full use of the productive resources. Inflation occurs because the economy is strangled by its own backwardness, by the lack of electric power and of fuel, of roads and transportation, of education, of public health—of those underlying facilities which are essential to the expansion of a free industrial economy. A country in Brazil's stage of development cannot cure inflation by retrenchment alone, however desirable and necessary it is to do away with the marinal waste and corruption. In order to make its economy work, it must build what the Brazilians like to call the infrastructure—that is to say the public facilities without which a free economy cannot exist and expand.

The Brazilians believe that Sen. Kennedy and his economic advisors understand what the conservative Eisenhower economists do not understand—the role of the public sector in a free economy. They expect under the new administration to meet much more sophisticated men when they come to Washington.

I do not think that they think a Kennedy administration can or will or should pay their international deficits. On the contrary, there is a deep moral revulsion against financial dependence on the United States, and the reasons for this arise not from their being anti-American but from their own growing sense of self-respect. They are within sight of economic independence, and more and more they feel and act like an independent nation.

WHAT ABOUT THEIR foreign policy? I must warn the reader that what I have to say here is based not on information but on inference. For what it may be worth, I believe that the Brazilian leaders know that the post-war period has ended, that the kind of action represented by the Marshall Plan is no longer possible. But they need capital from abroad, and to get it they will have to go to the unsentimental capital markets of the world, and they will have to become eligible for loans by playing according to the more orthodox rules of the game.

To do this they will have to take measures at home to eliminate the more obvious forms of unproductive spending—principally the subsidies to keep down the cost of living. These measures will, of course, be unpopular. Unless all the signs fail, the new Quadros administration will be determined to make it perfectly clear that its financial orthodoxy is not directed by the United States. For that reason, and also for other reasons, we should not be surprised to see the government strike out rather boldly and spectacularly away from the established line of United States foreign policy. Almost certainly the Quadros administration will recognize the Soviet Union and probably also Red China. It may well align itself frequently in the United Nations and elsewhere with countries like India, Egypt, and Yugoslavia.

If this happens, it will be no reason for going into hysterics. Brazil will remain our friend, bound to us by long tradition, by economic and strategic ties. The new Quadros administration derives from the state of Sao Paulo which is the greatest industrial complex and the largest monument to free enterprise in South America. Quadros has been elected President because he has done such great things in Sao Paulo and, whether or not he recognizes Peiping or works with the neutralists, he has had and will have the support, not only of large masses of the people but, of the financial and industrial communities of Brazil.

Under him Brazil with its own energy and purpose, and with our understanding and aid, can and should acquire the momentum to achieve the take-off towards economic independence.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Deprived Of Vote Here In Marin?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

. . . I have lived here in Marin County since 1927. I was born in Ohio in 1897. And I have lived in Hilarita for two and a half years.

I voted in the primary on the Democratic ticket.

This last election I went to vote and went to three different polls in Tiiburon and my name was not there so I was out. I called city hall and the excuse was a very slim pretext.

I was cheated out of my American heritage, the right to vote.

And it comes to mind how many more were done out of their vote because they were registered Democrats . . .

RIGHT TO WORK QUESTION

Will JFK And LBJ Honor Platform Or Byrd Pledge?

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An incident on the Potomac!

DID SENS. JOHN F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson offer to bargain away a principal labor plank of the Democratic presidential platform in exchange for the support of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. for their presidential and vice presidential candidacies?

The answer to that astonishing question is: Yes, Sens. Kennedy and Johnson did just that. The sequence of events was like this:

The 1960 Democratic platform contained this pledge:

"We will repeal the authorization for 'right to work' laws'."

Virginia has such a law barring the closed shop, enacted by the state under protection of the Taft-Hartley Act. Byrd denounced this platform promise to repeal the section of the Taft-Hartley Act which enabled Virginia to act. This was the first indication that Byrd would not endorse the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. This indicator proved to be 100 per cent accurate.

CONGRESS CONVENED in renewed session after the national conventions. Kennedy sought a meeting with Byrd at this time and, the Virginia senator being agreeable, Kennedy and Johnson called on him in his Capitol Hill office. The nominees were accompanied by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

These three visitors were painfully aware of Byrd's distrust of numerous provisions of the Democratic platform and, especially, of his public protest on the issue of right-to-work. So, there was a discussion of the platform during which Byrd emphasized his sense of outrage, notably on the closed shop issue.

Kennedy then told Byrd that he had no idea of acting to repeal right-to-work laws. Johnson concurred.

THIS INCIDENT on the Potomac raises, of course, some questions. One of them is: Did Kennedy and Johnson mean it when their endorsement of the Democratic platform covered it wholly from the first word through the last or, did they mean what they said to Byrd?

The answer to that question will come when the new Congress is in session. Organized labor went all out for the election of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. Big labor believes with considerable justice that Kennedy and Johnson could not have been elected without its help. There will be an effort by labor's representatives in Congress to kill off at the source all state right-to-work laws.

That would be by amending the Taft-Hartley Act to withdraw the authority under which the state laws have been enacted. To this amendment there will be great opposition. Big labor will expect Kennedy and Johnson to help them overcome that opposition. And at that point, the showdown will come.

THERE ARE OTHER Democratic platform promises which are in a similar sort of political limbo. One of them is the pledge — if it was a pledge—to repeal the 27 per cent tax advantages enjoyed by the oil, gas and other extractive industries by reason of depletion allowances. There may be quite a ruckus about that.

More Contests Needed In School Trustee Elections

A total of 75 school trustee terms will expire next year. And the election to choose new trustees, or reelect the old ones, will be held next April 18. The election date is the same in all 28 of Marin's school districts.

If history repeats itself — and we fervently but rather forlornly hope it doesn't — there will not be anything very interesting about these elections. In many districts the incumbents will succeed themselves without opposition and with almost no public discussion of school problems.

In other districts, where an incumbent doesn't want to seek office for another term, it will be difficult to find anybody willing to succeed the retiring incumbent. But a person will be found; he'll run without opposition and with little or no public discussion of school problems.

In some districts there will be more than one candidate seeking a given seat, but it will NOT be a contest in the ordinary sense of the word as applied to election campaigns. That is, neither candidate will campaign actively; school problems and varying viewpoints will not be publicly debated.

What does all this add up to?

It adds up to a missed boat. The value of periodic elections in these United States is they place issues before the public for decision. In the discussion and debate of the issues, the public becomes better informed.

If the public isn't very well informed on school problems—and we have heard educators lament this as a fact — one reason is that we ordinarily do not have active campaigns for school trustee jobs.

As we say, we fervently hope that history doesn't repeat again this coming year. We hope that people with a serious concern for education problems become candidates. (All they have to do is fill out a declaration form now at the county school superintendent's office.)

We hope that they are active candidates who state their positions on education questions before us. We hope they face opposing candidates with opposite views who are equally vigorous in speaking out for what they believe.

The result cannot help but be a better informed public and better schools.

A candidate doesn't necessarily have to win an election to perform a valuable public service. Just debating the issues performs a service.

Our hope may prove forlorn, but it is nonetheless fervent.

Snow Doesn't Come To Us Here In Marin; We Must Go After It

MUCH AS WE LOVE California and the wonderful, mild climate of Marin, we sometimes get homesick for the sight of snow, and the brisk, cold air that goes with it.

Back home in New England, where we grew up, we waited all through autumn for that time of the first snowfall. There came a gray, cloudy day and a certain feeling in the air, and you could tell it would be the day.

Year after year, the excitement of that first day never palled, either. It was best when you were still small, though. You'd be out on your sled, even before the snow was thick enough, trying to coast down the hill. Bundled up in a snow suit and boots, you'd pull a mitten off and lick the flakes that fell on your fingers.

The crisp cold would chill your nose and redden your cheeks, but it was a good feeling, knowing that winter was here at last.

Before the soot and smoke and automobiles had time to dirty it, the snow made the whole world a beautiful place, shining and sparkling clean.

WHEN YOU'VE GROWN UP, waiting for the first snow every year, you can't stop looking, even when you live in a climate that never has snow.

And on a gray day that sometimes comes to Marin, you stop and look up at the sky, and the longing and homesickness is too much.

So you dig your boots and warm coat and pile in the car and head for the Sierras—an easy weekend drive from Marin.

You watch for the first snow along the highway as the car climbs higher and higher. When you see it, you're a little girl again, face pressed against a window, happily watching the first flakes float lazily down.

At the summit grumbling drivers have to stop their cars, and struggle wtih the chains for their tires. But you don't really mind. You're home again, in a New England winter — or one very much like it.

It's good to live in Marin, where you can go to the snow, instead of having it come to you.

HAVE YOU NOTICED the lush green lawn on the grounds of Wolfe Grade School? Kentfield School District trustees and Supt. Harold DePue didn't expect it to be financially possible to plant the area for several years.

But H. C. (Josh) Billings of Kentfield donated, and delivered, the topsoil which produced that handsome green—some 2,700 fertile yards of it.

A former big ltague pitcher, Billings is vitally interested in the Little Leagues. And thanks to him, the Wolfe Grade lawn will be in condititon to withstand a battering from leaguers' cleats by next spring.

Historic Drama In Progress In Latin America; Seen In Brazil

IN OUR SHORT visit to Brazil I often found myself having to explain why I had never been to South America before and why it was that I had come now. I had not come before, I said, because during the two World Wars the critical issues had their center in our relations with Europe and Russia, and a man cannot hope to know everything and to go everywhere. I had come now to South America because I was curious, and because we had realized in the United States that with Western Europe recovered, one of the great historic dramas of the future was being prepared in this hemisphere. The theme of the drama was how the Latin American nations would rise out of their colonial past into the modern age.

There is no better place to observe this drama than in Brazil, and having only a limited time to travel we spent it all in four Brazilian cities—in the new capital of Brasilia, and in the ancient Portuguese colonial capital of Bahia, in Rio de Janeiro, and in the great industrial center of Sao Paulo. What happens in Brazil, infinitely more than what happens in Cuba or Guatemala, is likely to be decisive for Latin America. For the territory of Brazil is as big as all the rest of Latin America, and there probably are at least as many, perhaps more, people who speak Portuguese as speak Spanish.

THE MAIN REASON why what happens in Brazil is likely to be decisive is that although Brazil is an "under developed country," it is far from being a primitive and backward country. Though it has great social problems of poverty, disease, illiteracy, it has also an impressive capacity to govern itself, a core of cultivated and confident leaders, and a capacity to learn the modern technologies. I had no feeling in Brazil, as I have had in certain countries in other parts of the world, that the problem was insoluble within the existing order of things. There could be failure and catastrophe in Brazil. But there is no reason why there should be. The essential human and natural resources, the social tradition and the social order are favorable to success.

The revolution of which Castro is a symptom exists under the surface in Brazil as it does everywhere in this hemisphere. But it is far under the surface. It is kept far under the surface because under both President Kubitchek and his successor, Janio Quadros, there exists a very strong sense of national and social purpose. Although Brazil is a very free country with free elections and a high level of human tolerance, the Brazilians are strongly led. They have brought their economic development to the point where, as a leading Brazilian economist put it to me, "we have started down the runway but we have not yet gotten up enough speed to achieve the takeoff."

ON THE QUESTION of our relations with Brazil I talked with many people, members of Congress, high administration officials, reporters, editors and publishers, businessmen, bankers and diplomats. At first I was much troubled. For it seemed to me that in their rejoicing, which was general, over Kennedy's election they were building up false hopes and expecting too much. The fear haunted me that they had not understood the consequences of the changed international position of the United States, and that they were hoping we could do in South America what we had done in Europe in the days of the Marshall Plan and the dollar gap.

But I came to see that this was a superficial first impression. Although I did not have a chance to talk with the President-elect, who was in London, I did see men close to him who had worked with him and knew him well. The truth, I venture to think, is that the Brazilian government is quite well aware of the situation of the dollar, and of the political consequences in the relative power and position of Europe and North America. I believe that they are adjusting themselves to this new international situation, and that the problem of Brazilian-American relations is wrapped up within this adaptation. That is to say, what they will expect of us is help in achieving the take-off but the help they will expect will not involve deeply the international monetary exchanges.

To plan and organize this kind of help will require ingenuity and resourcefulness, qualities that have been notably lacking in recent years, and they may require minor changes in our laws. In one way or another we shall have to give aid by sending wheat and oil and coal, of which we have a surplus and they have a deficit, and we shall have to assist them in funding their external debts.

GRADUALLY, I BEGAN to see what has gone wrong in our relations with Brazil. Inattention and mediocrity and lack of understanding are the causes of the trouble. The rulers and leaders of Brazil feel that since the death of Franklin Roosevelt there has been nobody for them to talk to who had power and who cared about them. Since his death they have had no access to the key people in this country and they have not had contact with the best minds devoted to political and financial international affairs. The deterioration began under President Truman, and the story is generally believed that Secretary Acheson told a leading Latin American diplomat that he was not interested in South America, and that the Latin Americans could talk to one of his subordinates.

Whether the story is true or false, what it signifies is the nub of the matter. It is generally believed in Brazil that when President Kubitchek visited Washington, President Eisenhower went through the ceremonies for him but told him to talk about business to subordinate officials.

When the Brazilians have come in contact with the second and third level, they have found, so they say, that whether under order from above or by their own preconception these officials did not understand or sympathize with the problems of an under-developed country.

WHAT KIND OF understanding have the Brazilians not found in Washington during the past ten years? The point is crucial but it is complex, and I am compelled to simplify, perhaps to oversimplify. In Washington, the Brazilians say, they have been confronted with men in the Treasury, the State Department, and the World Bank who have looked upon the Brazilian inflation through the eyes of the classical economists of a highly developed country like the United States or Great Birtain. That is to say, they have thought that inflation meant that production was at a maximum and that the government and the people were trying to buy more goods than existed. The remedy for inflation in the classical economics of advanced countries is to spend less and to save more.

This may be true for the United States, say the Brazilians, but it is not true for Brazil. There is inflation in Brazil although there is much unemployment and there is no full use of the productive resources. Inflation occurs because the economy is strangled by its own backwardness, by the lack of electric power and of fuel, of roads and transportation, of education, of public health—of those underlying facilities which are essential to the expansion of a free industrial economy. A country in Brazil's stage of development cannot cure inflation by retrenchment alone, however desirable and necessary it is to do away with the marinal waste and corruption. In order to make its economy work, it must build what the Brazilians like to call the infrastructure—that is to say the public facilities without which a free economy cannot exist and expand.

The Brazilians believe that Sen. Kennedy and his economic advisors understand what the conservative Eisenhower economists do not understand—the role of the public sector in a free economy. They expect under the new administration to meet much more sophisticated men when they come to Washington.

I do not think that they think a Kennedy administration can or will or should pay their international deficits. On the contrary, there is a deep moral revulsion against financial dependence on the United States, and the reasons for this arise not from their being anti-American but from their own growing sense of self-respect. They are within sight of economic independence, and more and more they feel and act like an independent nation.

WHAT ABOUT THEIR foreign policy? I must warn the reader that what I have to say here is based not on information but on inference. For what it may be worth, I believe that the Brazilian leaders know that the post-war period has ended, that the kind of action represented by the Marshall Plan is no longer possible. But they need capital from abroad, and to get it they will have to go to the unsentimental capital markets of the world, and they will have to become eligible for loans by playing according to the more orthodox rules of the game.

To do this they will have to take measures at home to eliminate the more obvious forms of unproductive spending—principally the subsidies to keep down the cost of living. These measures will, of course, be unpopular. Unless all the signs fail, the new Quadros administration will be determined to make it perfectly clear that its financial orthodoxy is not directed by the United States. For that reason, and also for other reasons, we should not be surprised to see the government strike out rather boldly and spectacularly away from the established line of United States foreign policy. Almost certainly the Quadros administration will recognize the Soviet Union and probably also Red China. It may well align itself frequently in the United Nations and elsewhere with countries like India, Egypt, and Yugoslavia.

If this happens, it will be no reason for going into hysterics. Brazil will remain our friend, bound to us by long tradition, by economic and strategic ties. The new Quadros administration derives from the state of Sao Paulo which is the greatest industrial complex and the largest monument to free enterprise in South America. Quadros has been elected President because he has done such great things in Sao Paulo and, whether or not he recognizes Peiping or works with the neutralists, he has had and will have the support, not only of large masses of the people but, of the financial and industrial communities of Brazil.

Under him Brazil with its own energy and purpose, and with our understanding and aid, can and should acquire the momentum to achieve the take-off towards economic independence.

Deprived Of Vote Here In Marin?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

. . . I have lived here in Marin County since 1927. I was born in Ohio in 1897. And I have lived in Hilarita for two and a half years.

I voted in the primary on the Democratic ticket.

This last election I went to vote and went to three different polls in Tiiburon and my name was not there so I was out. I called city hall and the excuse was a very slim pretext.

I was cheated out of my American heritage, the right to vote.

And it comes to mind how many more were done out of their vote because they were registered Democrats . . .

RIGHT TO WORK QUESTION

Will JFK And LBJ Honor Platform Or Byrd Pledge?

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An incident on the Potomac!

DID SENS. JOHN F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson offer to bargain away a principal labor plank of the Democratic presidential platform in exchange for the support of Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va. for their presidential and vice presidential candidacies?

The answer to that astonishing question is: Yes, Sens. Kennedy and Johnson did just that. The sequence of events was like this:

The 1960 Democratic platform contained this pledge:

"We will repeal the authorization for 'right to work' laws'."

Virginia has such a law barring the closed shop, enacted by the state under protection of the Taft-Hartley Act. Byrd denounced this platform promise to repeal the section of the Taft-Hartley Act which enabled Virginia to act. This was the first indication that Byrd would not endorse the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. This indicator proved to be 100 per cent accurate.

CONGRESS CONVENED in renewed session after the national conventions. Kennedy sought a meeting with Byrd at this time and, the Virginia senator being agreeable, Kennedy and Johnson called on him in his Capitol Hill office. The nominees were accompanied by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla.

These three visitors were painfully aware of Byrd's distrust of numerous provisions of the Democratic platform and, especially, of his public protest on the issue of right-to-work. So, there was a discussion of the platform during which Byrd emphasized his sense of outrage, notably on the closed shop issue.

Kennedy then told Byrd that he had no idea of acting to repeal right-to-work laws. Johnson concurred.

THIS INCIDENT on the Potomac raises, of course, some questions. One of them is: Did Kennedy and Johnson mean it when their endorsement of the Democratic platform covered it wholly from the first word through the last or, did they mean what they said to Byrd?

The answer to that question will come when the new Congress is in session. Organized labor went all out for the election of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket. Big labor believes with considerable justice that Kennedy and Johnson could not have been elected without its help. There will be an effort by labor's representatives in Congress to kill off at the source all state right-to-work laws.

That would be by amending the Taft-Hartley Act to withdraw the authority under which the state laws have been enacted. To this amendment there will be great opposition. Big labor will expect Kennedy and Johnson to help them overcome that opposition. And at that point, the showdown will come.

THERE ARE OTHER Democratic platform promises which are in a similar sort of political limbo. One of them is the pledge — if it was a pledge—to repeal the 27 per cent tax advantages enjoyed by the oil, gas and other extractive industries by reason of depletion allowances. There may be quite a ruckus about that.

In Buying Gifts For Tots, Be Sure You Select Toys That Are Durable

Toys are fancier than ever this year.

Dolls now walk, talk, wave their arms, roll their eyes, drink water and wet their pants. What more could you ask?

Little cars run to the edge of the table, but don't go over; they're almost like magic.

My hat is off to toy manufacturers.

Have you done your Christmas buying? If you wait until the last minute the choice will be limited.

What toys are best? This depends on your children. You know what will appeal to them. Also, you know your budget.

I do have some suggestions for aunts, uncles, grandparents and others who aren't as close to your kids as you are. Tell them to be sure to get durable gifts, for very few children are gentle in their play. An amazing proportion of all Christmas gifts are broken on Christmas Day.

My second suggestion is that they buy gifts which can be used in several different ways. Most children have active imaginations and enjoy many kinds of play. A 3-year-old can do all sorts of things with big, lightweight wooden blocks. He can make forts, houses, airplanes trucks and stoves. Big squares of colored cloth can become dresses, tents, parachutes and flags.

Multiple-use gifts usually are the best.

Finally, tell them to mail their gifts early. Then they can be sure the children will get them in time.

Bulb Snatcher Wrecks Kentfield Yule Decoration

A mean thief knocked most of the cheer out of William Bremer's Christmas spirit in Kentfield last night.

Bremer, a butcher who lives at 1117 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, spent three days decorating 300 feet of driveway alongside his Kentfield duplex court. The entire length was decorated with lights, trimming, and Santa Claus. The lights went on last Sunday, and Bremer proudly waited for the day when he could enter the decoration contest.

Last night, when Bremer turned on the lights, he found half the decorations blacked out. A thief had stolen two strings of about 30 colorful lights.

"Santa Claus is still there," said Mrs. Bremer. "But at this rate, we don't know when he'll disappear."

New HAFB Chess Club Elects Officers

Trencher Severs Phone Service

A Marin Municipal Water District trencher severed two telephone cables while working near Solana and Divisio Streets in Tiburon yesterday.

The break at 10:37 a.m. turned on the Tiburon fire siren—and left the fire department without phone communication until 6:40 p.m. Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher set up the Northwestern Pacific Railroad emergency siren for any fire calls.

A total of 114 residences were affected by the break. Service was restored to some of them beginning at 3 p.m. said Charles F. Burlenbach, Mill Valley manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

National Park Rangers Learn Their Duties At Special Yosemite School

By MARK KNIGHT

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (AP)—"How in the world," asked a trainee who had just completed a rigorous 12-week course for young national park rangers, "did you know how to handle all the situations which confronted us before there was a school?"

"Sometimes I wonder," says Frank Kowski. He is headmaster of a school that puts first year rangers from everywhere in the United States through all types of simulated emergency, and every category of service demanded by millions of park visitors.

Since the National Parks Service was created 85 years ago it has attracted dedicated young men who are accepted only after thorough exploration of their background in outdoor crafts and ability to get along well with people.

Even so, it became apparent that as the thousands of visitors burgeoned into millions, and the simple demands of early camp life in secluded areas grew more varied and complicated, something more than the right man with the right background was required.

The complexities of ranger duties demanded specialized training in arts, sciences, trades and skills. It no longer was practical to throw the newcomer entirely at the mercy of on-the-job training; nor was it fair to entrust the lives and welfare of visitors to novices.

Trainees emerge from their school in Yosemite National Park as "90 day wonders." They have learned in classrooms and demonstrations how to greet foreign dignitaries; splint broken legs; haul an injured or sick visitor over a rugged back country trail to a hospital and treat him en route; shoot quickly and accurately if the sudden appearance of an outlaw or a wild animal demands; fight fires in forest or structures; entertain and instruct campfire gatherings; govern an isolated settlement.

It is a gruelling period of training, suited only to those already well qualified for their work. Conrad Wirth, director of the National Parks Service, says it already has proved invaluable as a parallel undertaking with the Mission 66 program of physical improvement, development, acquisition, protection and construction.

The 800-million-dollar Mission 66 program and the ranger schooling, hand-in-hand, are expected to establish the national parks as permanent attractions that will not deteriorate with increasing patronage.

"Few park rangers leave the service," says Kowski, "although their selection and training has been such that they often receive offers in private industry that are far more attractive financially. You will not find a higher morale or a greater pride in work anywhere."

In the ranger school two weeks are devoted to public service. The trainee learns the parks belong to the visitor — never called a tourist.

Finding lost persons and treating their injuries takes classmen over the crags and granite gorges of Yosemite. Interpreting the history of the park in lectures and in answers to endless questions is treated as an art.

The flora and fauna of the area must be explained, where desired, and visitors invariably want also to know the geology —what made the country the way it is.

While catering to these endless demands, the ranger does not lose sight of his duty as a conservationist. All that his is showing must be preserved for others in this and in future years. As many as 30,000 visitors may go through an area like Yosemite Valley in a single weekend. To preserve the natural attractions under such pressures of human visitation is not easy.

From running bloodhounds after lost children, explaining the flowers and waterfalls, telling campers where they may and may not pitch tents, the trainee ends his classroom days on a prosaic theme:

He is shown that national parks, like private business, operate on budgets. Successful rangers perform their duties within prescribed economic limits; then, after several years and work in a dozen or more parks they become supervisorial officials. In Kowski's words, "They know the score."

In Buying Gifts For Tots, Be Sure You Select Toys That Are Durable

Toys are fancier than ever this year.

Dolls now walk, talk, wave their arms, roll their eyes, drink water and wet their pants. What more could you ask?

Little cars run to the edge of the table, but don't go over; they're almost like magic.

My hat is off to toy manufacturers.

Have you done your Christmas buying? If you wait until the last minute the choice will be limited.

What toys are best? This depends on your children. You know what will appeal to them. Also, you know your budget.

I do have some suggestions for aunts, uncles, grandparents and others who aren't as close to your kids as you are. Tell them to be sure to get durable gifts, for very few children are gentle in their play. An amazing proportion of all Christmas gifts are broken on Christmas Day.

My second suggestion is that they buy gifts which can be used in several different ways. Most children have active imaginations and enjoy many kinds of play. A 3-year-old can do all sorts of things with big, lightweight wooden blocks. He can make forts, houses, airplanes trucks and stoves. Big squares of colored cloth can become dresses, tents, parachutes and flags.

Multiple-use gifts usually are the best.

Finally, tell them to mail their gifts early. Then they can be sure the children will get them in time.

Bulb Snatcher Wrecks Kentfield Yule Decoration

A mean thief knocked most of the cheer out of William Bremer's Christmas spirit in Kentfield last night.

Bremer, a butcher who lives at 1117 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, spent three days decorating 300 feet of driveway alongside his Kentfield duplex court. The entire length was decorated with lights, trimming, and Santa Claus. The lights went on last Sunday, and Bremer proudly waited for the day when he could enter the decoration contest.

Last night, when Bremer turned on the lights, he found half the decorations blacked out. A thief had stolen two strings of about 30 colorful lights.

"Santa Claus is still there," said Mrs. Bremer. "But at this rate, we don't know when he'll disappear."

New HAFB Chess Club Elects Officers

The newly organized Hamilton Air Force Base Chess Club has elected officers headed by Charles Savery as president, and set weekly meetings for each Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Hamilton Service Club.

Savery announced the club has applied for membership in the U.S. Chess Federation, to become eligible for the federation's national tournament which will be held next August in San Francisco.

Trencher Severs Phone Service

A Marin Municipal Water District trencher severed two telephone cables while working near Solana and Divisio Streets in Tiburon yesterday.

The break at 10:37 a.m. turned on the Tiburon fire siren—and left the fire department without phone communication until 6:40 p.m. Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher set up the Northwestern Pacific Railroad emergency siren for any fire calls.

A total of 114 residences were affected by the break. Service was restored to some of them beginning at 3 p.m. said Charles F. Burlenbach, Mill Valley manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Frosting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Butterscotch chips and chopped nuts make a delicious coffee cake frosting with practically no effort. Sprinkle 3 tablespoons of chips on top of cake as soon as it comes from the oven. When chips soften, spread them over the cake and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of chopped nutmeats. Serve warm or cold to 8.

National Park Rangers Learn Their Duties At Special Yosemite School

By MARK KNIGHT

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (AP)—"How in the world," asked a trainee who had just completed a rigorous 12-week course for young national park rangers, "did you know how to handle all the situations which confronted us before there was a school?"

"Sometimes I wonder," says Frank Kowski. He is headmaster of a school that puts first year rangers from everywhere in the United States through all types of simulated emergency, and every category of service demanded by millions of park visitors.

Since the National Parks Service was created 85 years ago it has attracted dedicated young men who are accepted only after thorough exploration of their background in outdoor crafts and ability to get along well with people.

Even so, it became apparent that as the thousands of visitors burgeoned into millions, and the simple demands of early camp life in secluded areas grew more varied and complicated, something more than the right man with the right background was required.

The complexities of ranger duties demanded specialized training in arts, sciences, trades and skills. It no longer was practical to throw the newcomer entirely at the mercy of on-the-job training; nor was it fair to entrust the lives and welfare of visitors to novices.

Trainees emerge from their school in Yosemite National Park as "90 day wonders." They have learned in classrooms and demonstrations how to greet foreign dignitaries; splint broken legs; haul an injured or sick visitor over a rugged back country trail to a hospital and treat him en route; shoot quickly and accurately if the sudden appearance of an outlaw or a wild animal demands; fight fires in forest or structures; entertain and instruct campfire gatherings; govern an isolated settlement.

It is a gruelling period of training, suited only to those already well qualified for their work. Conrad Wirth, director of the National Parks Service, says it already has proved invaluable as a parallel undertaking with the Mission 66 program of physical improvement, development, acquisition, protection and construction.

The 800-million-dollar Mission 66 program and the ranger schooling, hand-in-hand, are expected to establish the national parks as permanent attractions that will not deteriorate with increasing patronage.

"Few park rangers leave the service," says Kowski, "although their selection and training has been such that they often receive offers in private industry that are far more attractive financially. You will not find a higher morale or a greater pride in work anywhere."

In the ranger school two weeks are devoted to public service. The trainee learns the parks belong to the visitor — never called a tourist.

Finding lost persons and treating their injuries takes classmen over the crags and granite gorges of Yosemite. Interpreting the history of the park in lectures and in answers to endless questions is treated as an art.

The flora and fauna of the area must be explained, where desired, and visitors invariably want also to know the geology —what made the country the way it is.

While catering to these endless demands, the ranger does not lose sight of his duty as a conservationist. All that his is showing must be preserved for others in this and in future years. As many as 30,000 visitors may go through an area like Yosemite Valley in a single weekend. To preserve the natural attractions under such pressures of human visitation is not easy.

From running bloodhounds after lost children, explaining the flowers and waterfalls, telling campers where they may and may not pitch tents, the trainee ends his classroom days on a prosaic theme:

He is shown that national parks, like private business, operate on budgets. Successful rangers perform their duties within prescribed economic limits; then, after several years and work in a dozen or more parks they become supervisorial officials. In Kowski's words, "They know the score."

PREACHES READINESS—Maj. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, shown collapsing his parachute after a practice jump, preaches readiness for the "worst thing that can happen" in the way of nuclear attack. Utah Adjutant General Sees Vital Role For National Guard In A-War

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Maxwell E. Rich, who was a salesman long before he became a major general, is in the midst of one of his hardest merchandising jobs. To his mind, it's the most vital of all.

Rich, adjutant general of Utah, calls his product "total defence."

"When they drop the bomb," he says, "it will be damned hard to tell the difference between civilian defense and any other kind."

The Adjutants General Assn. of the United States has named Rich chairman of a committee to determine how the National Guard can make the most of its abilities as a survival, recovery and fighting force in the event of nuclear war. He hopes to report by next spring.

The association then will try to sell the program to military and congressional leaders.

Rich and his organization disagree sharply with the philosophy that an all-out nuclear attack will destroy both the attacked and the attacker. They feel that a majority of Americans—and thus a majority of National Guardsmen — would survive even the most severe attack.

"Certainly we feel that with units in 2,500 communities, it will be impossible to completely knock out our organization," Rich says.

Dispersal is one of the key selling points for the guard as a total defense force. For 300 years, the militia has grown up in rough proportion to America's population.

Each governor is commander in chief of the National Guard of his state, until it is federalized. Should the chain of command be snapped, a new chain of command would begin in the office of each governor.

Rich has divided big, sparsely populated Utah into seven regions, each the command area of a guard battalion. His committee will recommend that supplies not only be cached in each state, but distributed strategically to commands within each state.

"With things like ammunition and gasoline, we will have to have them on hand already," Rich says, "because when the bomb drops, we won't have a chance to get them here."

The other problems are communications — now being worked out in Utah — and transportation, which also will require federal help.

Ending his second term as president of the Adjutants General Assn. last May, Rich summarized the goal of his committee—to provide a plan so that "in an emergency we will not be waiting for orders from some agency in Washington before we begin to dig ourselves out and rebuild for attack—for orders might never come."

Towne Estate Estimated At Half Million

Gardner B. Towne, 73, of Ross, who died Nov. 8 after suffering a stroke, left an estate estimated to be worth well over a half million dollars, according to a petition for probate of will filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Towne, who retired in 1950 as manager of foreign sales for Pioneer Rubber Mills of San Francisco, left his entire estate to be divided equally between his wife, Gladys McLachlan Towne, and their two daughters, Marjorie T. Baldwin of 3 Circle Drive, Ross and Barbara T. Dickson of 10 Laurel Way, Kentfield.

His will, dated July 30, 1959, names his wife and two daughters as executrices of the estate. If anyone contests the will, he is to get $1, according to the will.

The petition filed today says the estate is estimated to be worth $565,000.

Towne lived on Fernhill Road in Ross for about 40 years. His will leaves nothing to a brother in Piedmont and two sisters, in Carmel and in Palo Alto.

Brown To Press For Vet Bond Sale In Court

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Veterans Finance Committee, headed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, says it will go to court to force State Treasurer Bert Betts to sell 100 million dollars in bonds for the Cal-Vet farm and home loan program.

Betts yesterday refused to sell the bonds to finance state loans to veterans.

He said the measure on the June primary ballot which authorized the sale was not properly presented to the voters. It passed by a better than 2-1 margin.

The governor failed to issue an election proclamation 70 days in advance, Betts said.

The dispute is technical, Betts said, but should be settled before the bonds are sold, because it clouds their legality.

Miller Spent $25,630 In Vote Drive

Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera spent $25,630 in his successful November campaign for re-election to the House of Representatives from the First Congressional District, according to a campaign statement filed with County Clerk George S. Jones today.

Miller, Democratic incumbent, beat out Republican Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon in the race to represent seven counties including Marin. Dupuis has not submitted his expense statement as yet.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Republican, who breezed to an easy win over Democrat Charles M. Geller, reported he spent $5,039 in the November election. Geller's statement shows his expenses totaled $1,801.

Deadline for filing campaign expense statements is next Tuesday.

PREACHES READINESS—Maj. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, shown collapsing his parachute after a practice jump, preaches readiness for the "worst thing that can happen" in the way of nuclear attack. Rich, adjutant general of Utah and a qualified paratrooper, has been named chairman of a committee appointed by the Adjutants General Assn. of the United States to determine how the National Guard can make the most of its abilities in the event of nuclear war. Utah Adjutant General Sees Vital Role For National Guard In A-War

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Maxwell E. Rich, who was a salesman long before he became a major general, is in the midst of one of his hardest merchandising jobs. To his mind, it's the most vital of all.

Rich, adjutant general of Utah, calls his product "total defence."

"When they drop the bomb," he says, "it will be damned hard to tell the difference between civilian defense and any other kind."

The Adjutants General Assn. of the United States has named Rich chairman of a committee to determine how the National Guard can make the most of its abilities as a survival, recovery and fighting force in the event of nuclear war. He hopes to report by next spring.

The association then will try to sell the program to military and congressional leaders.

Rich and his organization disagree sharply with the philosophy that an all-out nuclear attack will destroy both the attacked and the attacker. They feel that a majority of Americans—and thus a majority of National Guardsmen — would survive even the most severe attack.

"Certainly we feel that with units in 2,500 communities, it will be impossible to completely knock out our organization," Rich says.

Dispersal is one of the key selling points for the guard as a total defense force. For 300 years, the militia has grown up in rough proportion to America's population.

Each governor is commander in chief of the National Guard of his state, until it is federalized. Should the chain of command be snapped, a new chain of command would begin in the office of each governor.

Rich has divided big, sparsely populated Utah into seven regions, each the command area of a guard battalion. His committee will recommend that supplies not only be cached in each state, but distributed strategically to commands within each state.

"With things like ammunition and gasoline, we will have to have them on hand already," Rich says, "because when the bomb drops, we won't have a chance to get them here."

The other problems are communications — now being worked out in Utah — and transportation, which also will require federal help.

Ending his second term as president of the Adjutants General Assn. last May, Rich summarized the goal of his committee—to provide a plan so that "in an emergency we will not be waiting for orders from some agency in Washington before we begin to dig ourselves out and rebuild for attack—for orders might never come."

Towne Estate Estimated At Half Million

Gardner B. Towne, 73, of Ross, who died Nov. 8 after suffering a stroke, left an estate estimated to be worth well over a half million dollars, according to a petition for probate of will filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Towne, who retired in 1950 as manager of foreign sales for Pioneer Rubber Mills of San Francisco, left his entire estate to be divided equally between his wife, Gladys McLachlan Towne, and their two daughters, Marjorie T. Baldwin of 3 Circle Drive, Ross and Barbara T. Dickson of 10 Laurel Way, Kentfield.

His will, dated July 30, 1959, names his wife and two daughters as executrices of the estate. If anyone contests the will, he is to get $1, according to the will.

The petition filed today says the estate is estimated to be worth $565,000.

Towne lived on Fernhill Road in Ross for about 40 years. His will leaves nothing to a brother in Piedmont and two sisters, in Carmel and in Palo Alto.

Brown To Press For Vet Bond Sale In Court

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Veterans Finance Committee, headed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, says it will go to court to force State Treasurer Bert Betts to sell 100 million dollars in bonds for the Cal-Vet farm and home loan program.

Betts yesterday refused to sell the bonds to finance state loans to veterans.

He said the measure on the June primary ballot which authorized the sale was not properly presented to the voters. It passed by a better than 2-1 margin.

The governor failed to issue an election proclamation 70 days in advance, Betts said.

The dispute is technical, Betts said, but should be settled before the bonds are sold, because it clouds their legality.

Commission Issued

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a notary public commission to Wilma J. Key, 31 Bay Street, San Rafael.

Miller Spent $25,630 In Vote Drive

Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera spent $25,630 in his successful November campaign for re-election to the House of Representatives from the First Congressional District, according to a campaign statement filed with County Clerk George S. Jones today.

Miller, Democratic incumbent, beat out Republican Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon in the race to represent seven counties including Marin. Dupuis has not submitted his expense statement as yet.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Republican, who breezed to an easy win over Democrat Charles M. Geller, reported he spent $5,039 in the November election. Geller's statement shows his expenses totaled $1,801.

Deadline for filing campaign expense statements is next Tuesday.

SAVINGS—AND NEW CAR, TOO

Mrs. Mandella Moody of Oakland receives 1961 Ford Falcon from Lawrence Weissberg, president of Homestead Savings and Loan Assn. in Sausalito. Mrs. Moody was visiting at the home of Harold and Trude Kling of 37 Buena Vista, Corte Madera, when she decided to enter the contest for a new Falcon at Homestead. Her Marin visit proved a profitable one.

County Objects To Kappas Move

George Kappas recently applied to the Army Engineer District for three-year extension of his permit for dredging and filling on the south side of Richardson Bay, and in keeping with regular practice the engineers asked if anybody objected.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors objected.

Supervisor Vera Schultz appeared with a draft of a letter which the board approved.

"He is encroaching on county property," said Mrs. Schultz of Kappas. Her letter accused Kappas of working contrary to the official master plan of Richardson Bay.

Mrs. Schultz said much of the Kappas fill on Humboldt Avenue is beyond the county's anticipated bulkhead line.

First Yearbook To Be Published

A. E. Kent School's first printed yearbook will be published next spring by the student council, student governing body of fourth through eighth grades, Principal George H. Renworth announced today.

A 40-page book is planned to succeed the mimeographed annual heretofore issued by the students.

To stimulate interest the council is sponsoring an art contest, winning entry to be used as cover for the annual, and a photography contest offering eight prizes.

Student council officers are Tom Soden, president; Mike Russell, vice president; Poppy Eager, secretary; Lynn McFarland, treasurer. Also members are Janet Rigsbee, Diane Weinger, Jan Gray, Joan Kimball, Larry Weiss, Jeff Hardy, Ken Tucker, Chris Owen, John Compton, Joan Brodie, Ann Auerbach, Royce Johnson, Sandy Crabb, Rick Lines, Tom Richards and Carol Griffin.

The deepest well in the world was drilled in 1959 in Texas. It cost $3 million and was five miles deep. But it reaped nothing but geological specimens.

Corte Madera Woman Needs Blood Donations

Mrs. Alice Lehman, 330 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, is in Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco recovering from a hip operation and is in need of blood donations, states Mary K. Brown, president of the San Rafael chapter of Indoor Sports Club.

Mrs. Lehman, a member of the Indoor Sports Club, has used five pints of blood since her operation. Miss Brown said donations may be of any blood type.

Extra Keys

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP)—David Tull parked his car in a downtown lot. When he returned for it several hours later, he found it apparently had been used by joyriders. Two keys, neither of which belonged to Tull, and a note were on the seat. "Could you use these?" read the note. "They fit."

Apartment Zone Plea Approved

Alex Davis' effort to achieve apartment rezoning just off Miller Avenue near the Mill Valley boundary finally succeeded Tuesday in the face of one final flicker of opposition by attorney A. L. Bjorklund, representing nearby property owners.

Marin County Board of Supervisors voted to accept an agreement sealing off all access to the zoned area except from Miller Avenue, an arrangement promoted by the county Planning Commission as a means of allaying criticism that otherwise the apartment dwellers would add to congestion of narrow Homestead Boulevard.

Next the rezoning was passed, both measures being proposed by Supervisor Vera Schultz, who said "the solution seems to meet detrimental aspects" previously cited by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Logical Question

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Members of Central Methodist Church used a movie theater for services while repairs were made to their building. Sarah Jean Hyatt, 6, unaware of the situation, asked her father, C. B. Hyatt, as they got settled for worship: "Can I have some popcorn?"

County Objects To Kappas Move

George Kappas recently applied to the Army Engineer District for three-year extension of his permit for dredging and filling on the south side of Richardson Bay, and in keeping with regular practice the engineers asked if anybody objected.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors objected.

Supervisor Vera Schultz appeared with a draft of a letter which the board approved.

"He is encroaching on county property," said Mrs. Schultz of Kappas. Her letter accused Kappas of working contrary to the official master plan of Richardson Bay.

Mrs. Schultz said much of the Kappas fill on Humboldt Avenue is beyond the county's anticipated bulkhead line.

SAVINGS—AND NEW CAR, TOO
Mrs. Mandella Moody of Oakland receives 1961 Ford Falcon from Lawrence Weissberg, president of Homestead Savings and Loan Assn. in Sausalito. Mrs. Moody was visiting at the home of Harold and Trude Kling of 37 Buena Vista, Corte Madera, when she decided to enter the contest for a new Falcon at Homestead. Her Marin visit proved a profitable one.

First Yearbook To Be Published

A. E. Kent School's first printed yearbook will be published next spring by the student council, student governing body of fourth through eighth grades, Principal George H. Renworth announced today.

A 40-page book is planned to succeed the mimeographed annual heretofore issued by the students.

To stimulate interest the council is sponsoring an art contest, winning entry to be used as cover for the annual, and a photography contest offering eight prizes.

Student council officers are Tom Soden, president; Mike Russell, vice president; Poppy Eager, secretary; Lynn McFarland, treasurer. Also members are Janet Rigsbee, Diane Weinger, Jan Gray, Joan Kimball, Larry Weiss, Jeff Hardy, Ken Tucker, Chris Owen, John Compton, Joan Brodie, Ann Auerbach, Royce Johnson, Sandy Crabb, Rick Lines, Tom Richards and Carol Griffin.

The deepest well in the world was drilled in 1959 in Texas. It cost $3 million and was five miles deep. But it reaped nothing but geological specimens.

Corte Madera Woman Needs Blood Donations

Mrs. Alice Lehman, 330 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, is in Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco recovering from a hip operation and is in need of blood donations, states Mary K. Brown, president of the San Rafael chapter of Indoor Sports Club.

Mrs. Lehman, a member of the Indoor Sports Club, has used five pints of blood since her operation. Miss Brown said donations may be of any blood type.

Extra Keys

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP)—David Tull parked his car in a downtown lot. When he returned for it several hours later, he found it apparently had been used by joyriders. Two keys, neither of which belonged to Tull, and a note were on the seat. "Could you use these?" read the note. "They fit."

Apartment Zone Plea Approved

Alex Davis' effort to achieve apartment rezoning just off Miller Avenue near the Mill Valley boundary finally succeeded Tuesday in the face of one final flicker of opposition by attorney A. L. Bjorklund, representing nearby property owners.

Marin County Board of Supervisors voted to accept an agreement sealing off all access to the zoned area except from Miller Avenue, an arrangement promoted by the county Planning Commission as a means of allaying criticism that otherwise the apartment dwellers would add to congestion of narrow Homestead Boulevard.

Next the rezoning was passed, both measures being proposed by Supervisor Vera Schultz, who said "the solution seems to meet detrimental aspects" previously cited by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Logical Question

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Members of Central Methodist Church used a movie theater for services while repairs were made to their building. Sarah Jean Hyatt, 6, unaware of the situation, asked her father, C. B. Hyatt, as they got settled for worship: "Can I have some popcorn?"
